SENATORIAL DELEGATES.

At the whig meetings held on Saturday evening, 22d inst., in the several Representative districts, the following gentlemen were appointed Delegates to the Whig Convention for the purpose of nominating four Whig Candidates for Senators:

1st District—Julian Neville, James Ross.
2d do Thomas Parker, J. A. Beard.
3d do Samuel J. Peters, William Christy, James Dick.
4th do A. D. Crossman, E. Munson, J. F. Pepin.
5th do A. Labouroitte, J. L. Fabre, C. Bocquie.
6th do T. W. Collens, Charles Claiborne.
7th do E. Beauregard, R. Gardere.
8th do G. W. Harby.
9th do Louis J. Coiron.

Monday morning, Nov. 24, 1845.

The whig district meetings on Saturday evening, were in general numerously attended. We were gratified at witnessing the zeal and enthusiasm manifested by our party in responding to the calls. The harmony and good feeling which prevailed at these assemblies are an excellent augury of success.

In the Second Municipality, where the locofocos flattered themselves that dissentions and apathy existed, the meetings were absolutely thronged. We were astonished at beholding assemblages so numerous, during weather so exceedingly inclement as that of Saturday night. We had abundant and cheering evidence that the whig spirit is fully awake in that quarter. With respect to the other sections of the city, no doubt existed as to the energy and activity of the party.

The nominations for representatives are now complete, and we venture to say that better and stronger tickets, composed of abler, more faithful and devoted whigs could not have been selected. With such nominations our course must be onward. The whigs have only to remain firm and true, and they will elect a very large majority of the whig candidates, and send De Buys and Sparrow out of the Parish of Orleans with a round thousand to help them on their way.

Georgia U. S. Senator.—We stated some days since that the Hon. John Wm. Berrien had tendered his resignation as U. S. Senator from Georgia. This was a movement on the part of that distinguished statesman, caused by wounded feelings at the selection of Judge Dougherty by the whig members of the Legislature as their candidate for United States Senator from the 4th March, 1847. He viewed this act as an evidence of want of confidence in his ability, or concord in his political views, and considered a prompt resignation due to his outraged dignity. We are happy now to add, that this incipient quarrel has been checked, and a full and cordial reconciliation effected through the sense of justice and honor of the Whig members of the Legislature. On the 14th inst., the Legislature of Georgia assembled in Convention for the purpose of electing a U. States Senator for the unexpired term of Judge Berrien, when that gentleman was re-elected by the following vote:

FOR SENATOR.

J. M. Berrien,	90
J. H. Howard,	84
Blank,	1

In the evening the Whigs had a meeting and were addressed with great power, feeling and eloquence by Mr Berrien. This effort is pronounced a masterly vindication of truth and a triumphant and statesmanlike exposition of the course pursued by the Honorable Senator. The harmony and union of the Whigs of Georgia are now unbroken.

Masonic Celebration.—The various Masonic Lodges of our city perform this evening at the Poydras street Church, funeral rites in honor of the memory of Gen'l Jackson. The ceremonies will doubtless be solemn and imposing.

Steamboat Richmond sunk.—The steamboat Richmond, from Louisville for this port, struck a snag on the 13th instant, near Wilkinsonville Bar, and immediately sunk. It is supposed the boat will prove a total loss. Part of the cargo will be saved, in a damaged condition; also, the furniture and machinery. We understand that the boat is fully insured.

Loss of steamer Little Rock.—We learn by the St. Louis papers that the steamboat Little Rock, while descending the Missouri, from Weston to St. Louis, with a number of passengers and a cargo of hemp and hides, struck a snag about twenty-five miles above Jefferson, was rounded to and filled with water at the shore. The passengers all got off. The boat is a total loss—the engine is saved. The hides are also saved—the hemp is lost.

☞ An instance of the extraordinary changes effected by anti-rentism, in some portions, we will state that the Third Senatorial District which gave Mr Polk last year 1,514 majority, elects the Whig candidate for Senator by the comfortable majority of 6,188—showing a whig gain in one year of no less than 7,702 votes.

Hon. John C. Calhoun.—The country will be gratified at learning that this distinguished statesman, will in all probability resume his seat in the U. States Senate, at the ensuing session. The Charleston Courier is informed from a source that may be relied on, that he is to return to the Senatorial station, Judge Huger, the present Senator from South Carolina, having finally determined to carry out his long desired wish of retiring from office.

An immense horse.—Carter, the Lion King," has purchased the largest horse in England. He has named him 'General Washington.'" He is twenty hands high, and looks as large as an elephant. He is a black gelding, beautifully dappled—his mane is nearly four feet long; his tail sweeps the ground; he is perfectly formed, and is regarded as one of the finest specimens of the horse ever seen in Great Britain. He is only six years old—he will be exhibited shortly in London, and then sent to the United States.

To Raccourci.—We are authorized to state to the correspondent of the Courier, who signs his communication "Raccourci," that the wagers offered by him on a hundred majority for Mr. Porche as Senator, and on a majority for Mr. Morgan as Representative, are ready to be taken as soon as the writer pleases.

Singular animal.—There is, says the Mobile Tribune, an animal now in this city, at the barber-shop of Mr. Soto, on Royal street, which is worthy the study of wonder-lovers. It is a hybrid seemingly of the monkey and sloth, having many peculiarities of both. It is the size of a large cat; is perfectly domestic and docile. It was brought from South America to New Orleans, and thence to this city, where it has been for some month or two past.

Arrest for mutiny.—The U. S. marshal arrested yesterday on board a vessel off Sandy Hook, three men, part of the crew of the whale ship Ocean, from Sag Harbor, Captain Ludlow, and lodged them in jail at Brooklyn for the present. There was a mutiny on board the vessel in the Pacific, and the Captain in self defence shot one of the mutineers, and at the next port at which the vessel touched, the Consul sent the captain and crew home for trial. The captain has not yet arrived.—N. Y. Courier.

☞ We copy the following from the last Spirit of the Times. The proposed match excites great interest among the amateurs of chess in this quarter:

The North against the South.—A match at Chess is about to be played at New Orleans between Messrs. Stanley and Rousseau. Mr. Stanley left this city on Monday last for New Orleans. The result of the match will be looked for with much interest, as the contending parties are, without doubt, the finest Chess players on the Continent.

Buried alive.—The Apalachicola Advertiser says, that a family, with whom the editor is intimate, desired his attendance at the removal of the remains of one of its deceased members. Prompted by curiosity, the lid of the coffin was removed, when, to the utter astonishment of all present, the corpse was found with its face downwards, and in the manner indicating a complete change in the position of the body. Added to this, as far as the hands could have reached, the lining of the coffin was torn, and wound into a knot; and a considerable quantity of hair was strewed at the feet. All these circumstances, together with the sudden and singular manner of his (supposed) demise, left scarcely a shadow of doubt that here was another instance of a too precipitate haste in consigning to the grave the body of those supposed to be dead.

☞ Our thanks are due the officers of the steamer George Washington for late St. Louis papers.

The American Review.

We have received the eleventh number of this sterling periodical, for November. Its contents are replete with most valuable and highly interesting articles, and the talent it evinces, cannot fail to sustain the deservedly elevated reputation, which the American Review enjoys. It is a whig journal, devoted to politics, literature, art and science—conducted By G. H. Colton, Esq., of New York. The importance of this Review to the whig party, and the whig cause, is immense, not only as an organ through which we may utter our sentiments, but as a work upon whose pages we shall find imprinted a faithful record of the great political measures of the day, as advocated or deprecated by the whig party; while at the same time, its influence is made to be felt in putting down factious demagogues, and sustaining the true interests of our country. We bespeak then, for this Review, the patronage and support of every true whig; and a stronger reason for urging their support, is that because of our late unforeseen and disastrous defeat, we should renew our energies to sustain the cause, which it is cheering for us to know and feel, is the true one of republicanism and rational liberty—and that whenever the weal of the Union is involved, the whigs, aside from party politics, can likewise feel for and respond to, the interests of our country, as well as the democratic party.

We can only afford a brief notice of the articles contained in the present number of the review. "Essay on Human Rights and their Political Guaranties," by E. P. Hulburt, Esq., attorney at Law, New York: Continued from the last number. We have before read several extracts from this author, on the constitutions of governments, and have thought them very clever, but the ground he has taken in regard to Human Rights, is certainly untenable, and the criticism of the American Review, cannot [illegible] fail just, when Counsellor H. says that, "Whatever Nature has ordained desire, she has spread before it the means of gratification. From this we infer the right to its indulgence, and hence, the rights of man." And again, he says, that "the consummation of man's rights, is the right to gratify his natural desires." This philosophy is pulled to the ground by the Review, which says, that "all the phrenological faculties, as they are most unmeaningly styled, are in truth propensities and nothing more." Speaking of the philosophy on the "Rights of Man"—a metaphysical and psychological subject, which men waste words in never agreeing upon, or coming to jarring and incongruous conclusions, the Review remarks: "It is the direct result of using words, without any definite meaning, and we hazard nothing in saying that, more than half the high-sounding assertions of this book, might be reduced to truisms, or identical propositions in the same way." It is the production of a mind of the largest liberty, and the author, in speaking of rights, has confounded the subject with the will, inclination, and desire, all of which may be very wrong. It is a work based upon the lowest democratic principles—claiming and maintaining rights for the people in a substantive sense, when upon reflection they are but comparative, according to the reason and justice of things.

"Annexation." The writer attempts to show in this article, that the people of the United States have, by settling and annexing Texas only carried out a part of the designs of Col. Aaron Burr. He then speaks of the annexation of territory by colonization, and enters into a discussion of the constitutionality of the subject, and deduces conclusions from which we altogether dissent.

"The Rejected Treasure," from the Swedish of Nicander. A catholic story of Rome, in the time of Pope Leo 12th. It is a well written tale, and is made to exhibit the hypocrisy of the Jesuits.

"Pan and Lais," by Cuma—a mythological poem in 15 stanzas. It is the production of a warm imaginative mind; and is well conceived and strikingly delineated. The description of Lais,

—— on a rose-ensanguined ivory car,
Of swan like shape, and lovelier than the wain
Of dawn ——

displays decided poetical talent. From whose pen is it?

"The New York Convention—Reorganization of the Judiciary." This is a very able article, and bears the marks of infinite labor and industry.

It is the best and least objectionable plan of a Judiciary that we have as yet seen,—and we regret that such minds did not come forth to the rescue in the formation of our new Judiciary. The Court of Chancery, appears to be the "monster of abuse" which is mostly complained of, and upon which, the able writer says, a pamphlet was published in 1839, by Theodore Sedgwick, giving it a thorough "overhauling." We regret that we have not space to notice this article, we could wish.

"The True Death"—By William Wallace. "This poem," says the author, "is an attempt to work out the mere ideal conception of the utter loss of the life of a soul which from intense and chronic (if we may be permitted to use the phrase) wickedness, had forfeited its right to a future existence—or in other words, which had absolutely destroyed, by its own action, its power of being." The writer protests against a theological aspect.—Although we cannot but admire the poem, we still think it too highly wrought.

"The French Moralists,—La Bruyere, Montaigne, Nicole. The critique and extracts from these writers, especially those from Bruyere, are highly entertaining, and instructed as well as gratified us.

"Adventures on the Frontiers of Texas and Mexico"—No III. By Charles Winterfield.—The title gives one the best idea of what the work contains. The style is dashing and witty, and the narrative interesting.

"Marshall Lannes," by J. T. Headley. This is a beautifully written and fascinating article.—The terrible passage of the Bridge of Lodi, and that of the Battle of Montibello, were among the most celebrated victories achieved by Lannes, and which no one can read without emotions of the greatest admiration for the courage and chivalric daring of Napoleon's favorite Marshall. In speaking of the battle of Montibello afterwards, Lannes said, "I could hear the bones crash in my division, like hailstones against the windows."

"Big Abel and Little Manhattan."—"This Book," says the Review, "if we may make use of the expression, is New York Idealized." It is a very interesting novel and an original work of its kind, by Cornelius Matthews, yet he is charged by the Review with having affected a little of B[illegible] affectation.

"Tear down and build over again," by Walter Whitman: This is a most admirable article, written, in favor of old revolutionary relics and reminiscences and the hallowed preservation of those places which have become consecrated by time, and by associations with the Father of our country and other Revolutionary Heroes. It is principally against the sacrilegious idea of tearing down that holy sanctuary and temple, St. Paul's Church, of New York, that the article is written. The hands should wither that attempt it.

"Eighteenth Annual Fair of the American Institute." This article is filled with important facts and contains extracts from the addresses of Professor Mapes, and Mr. Westervelt. The ingenuity, and ability of Mr. Polman's scale" to apportion Taxes," will be easily perceived. Rule—Place the whole tax to be raised, found on the circular, opposite the whole valuation; then opposite each man's valuation is his tax.

Example.—A tax of $1,500, is levied on a valuation of $300,000,00; what is a man's tax whose valuation is $700,00? Place 1,500 opposite 300,000; then opposite 700, is $5,35.

The invention is recommended to Sir Robert Peel.

Oregon.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce, after stating his belief that the Oregon bill will pass the House of Representatives at the ensuing session of Congress, thus speculates as to its fate in the Senate:

"In the South Carolina and Alabama Senators vote against the bill, and also all the whigs, the bill will be defeated. I suppose that Texas and Iowa may not be represented in the Senate, when the vote is taken.—There will then be thirty democrats and twenty-four whigs in the Senate. The four votes above named, added to the whig vote, will make 28 votes against the bill to 26 for it. The opinion has been expressed that the Western whig Senators, although committed fully to the support of our title & whole title to Oregon, will unite with the whig party generally in staving off the question. But suppose that Iowa and Texas should be represented in the Senate, before the final action of that body on the bill, will it not be certain that the bill will pass? As to Iowa, there is no doubt. All the interests of Texas will be opposed to a war with Great Britain; but will not she feel that she owes her annexation, in a great measure, to a sort of compromise between her friends and those who are "for the whole of Oregon?" It appears to me that the Texian Senators will be compelled by circumstance to vote for the bill; yet there are some shrewd and well-advised persons who think not. The chances, after all, that the bill will pass the Senate, unless, as has been hinted in some quarters, the democratic party should be guilty of a gross legislative deception—amusing the West with the idea that Oregon should be claimed and protected, and providing that the Act for this purpose should be accidentally lost, by casual absence.

☞ His Honor Judge Evans, on Saturday passed sentence of death on Robert Layton alias S. J. Warren, convicted of forgery; said sentence to be executed on the 19th prox. The Jury having recommended the prisoner to mercy, it is probable the authority of the Governor will be interposed and the sentence not carried out.—Charleston Mercury.

Until the above paragraph met our eye, we were under the impression that this relic of worse than feudal barbarism had been expunged from the statute book of South Carolina. Hang a man for forgery in the nineteenth century! The idea is absolutely shocking to humanity, and disgraceful to civilization.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the Charleston Courier, states positively that diplomatic relations with Mexico are about to be re-established.

City Intelligence.

Police items.—James McGraw, alias George Potter, arrested in the act of picking the pocket of a gentleman at the Concert of Mad. Piro, on Friday night, was brought before Recorder Genois on Saturday for examination. Upon being identified as a fugitive from justice from the State of New York, he was committed to the Parish Prison to await a requisition from the Governor of that State. William Braman, alias Smeathers, arrested in the act of breaking into the Clerk's office of the steamer Harkaway, was examined yesterday before Recorder Baldwin and committed for thirty days to the Workhouse.

Criminal court.—On Saturday, James Dougherty, found guilty of stealing a cow in the Parish of Jefferson, was sentenced by Judge Canonge to two months imprisonment at the Parish Prison.

Mary Healy, found guilty of stealing some articles of clothing from the dwelling of Mr. John Freret, was tried, found guilty and sentenced to forty-eight hours imprisonment.

William A. Fisk, charged with retailing spirituous liquors at his Family Grocery in Julia street, without a license, was put upon trial. The Jury not being able to agree upon a verdict, were discharged from any further consideration of the case.

The Orleans ball-room and the appartments in connexion with it, were let by auction for the season, on Saturday, to Mr. Charles Tullarie, for the sum of $5,000.

☞ The health of Lord Metcalfe, Governor General of Canada, is rapidly improving.

From Honduras and Central America.—By an arrival at New York, papers from Belize (Honduras) to the 18th ult., were received. The only news they contain relates to Central America, as follows:

We have received Central American papers up to the 17th September. Among these are the proceedings of a Convention of friendship and alliance held between the States of Guatemala and Honduras, and also a pamphlet containing an exposition by the representatives of Honduras in Guatemala, of the causes which led to the war with San Salvador, and a defence thereof, apparently written with a good deal of cool ratiocination.

It appears by a correspondence between General Nicholas Angulo, Commander-in-Chief of the Army of San Salvador, and General Santos Guardiola of the Honduras army, that after an armistice had been declared between those States, General Angulo complained that General Guardiola had broken it, by attacking the San Salvador forces; the latter admits that he went to the port of the Union, and defeated (and it is said killed) General A. Carbollo with great loss; but this he did because the latter was on his way to invade his State, and on the very day that he went to meet Carbollo, he asserts, that Angulo also invaded a place called Olensgo; that he is peaceably inclined, and so long as Angulo will refrain from committing a breach of the armistice, and act in good faith, he will also abstain from molesting the territory of San Salvador. There is, therefore, every hope that peace will be restored, at least for a time, between these two States; and we may account for the breach of the armistice by that spirit which generally actuates combatants and disputants—each party being determined to have the last blow or the last word.

Pennsylvania State Debt.—The Philadelphia American, of the 14th, says:—

"We have been informed to-day, on what we deem good authority, that there is every probability that the State Interest will be paid in February. There are doubts expressed about the ensuing August Instalment.

☞ It appears from an official letter from Com. Smith, of the United States frigate Cumberland, that Thomas N. Carr, Esq., has been duly and formally received at Tangier, as Consul-General of the United States, for the empire of Morocco.

Distressing accident.—Yesterday afternoon four workmen fell from the scaffolding erected in the Episcopal church on Second street, which is undergoing repairs, and were seriously hurt. Their names are, Joseph Laws, Peter Kendall, Wm Kendall, and a man from Bullit county, whose name we did not learn. Louisville Journal, 11th.

Another.—Mrs Smith, an aged lady, while crossing Main street, near Fifth, yesterday afternoon, had her bonnet knocked off by a horse in a dray, and, in attempting to pick it up, was thrown down, and the dray passed over her. She died a few hours afterwards. The horses were walking slow, and the driver of the dray was close behind it, but it was impossible for him to prevent the accident. Ib.

Messrs. Comstock & Co.—Gentlemen—In duty to you, as well as ourselves, we take this opportunity to express to you our heartfelt gratitude for your kind attention to Mr. Robert White, the young man who was so badly burnt in our employ a few days since, from shellac and alcohol taking fire, (the worst article he could have been burnt with) and also feel it our duty to make this case known to the public. You will remember that the skin was mostly off his hands and arms when you dressed them, but still he has lost but little sleep since. The fire was all out in a short time, and the wounds are healing fast. We are satisfied that your Connell's Pain Extractor is one of the best remedies for burns of any nature that was ever introduced to mankind. Yours, respectfully,
