MESSRS DOLBEAR will keep their Writing Academy, No 15 Camp street, open during the entire year, so that parents may have their children receive lessons at 4 or 5 P M without losing time in other schools. Gentlemen engaged in business can receive lessons during the day or at night. Persons from 6 to 50 years of age are taught, in a short time, to write with ease and rapidity, and have the privilege of continuing their lessons until their improvement is satisfactory.

Although this is no branch of education more important to the transaction of business than a free and rapid style of writing, yet from its being so much neglected in schools and seminaries, how large a share of clerks, lawyers, merchants, &c., continue for the time necessary by writing such a slow cramped hand. There are thousands of such in this city, who would be glad to acquire a free, bold and rapid style if they knew the ease with which they can learn. ja27
