Thursday Morning, May 20, 1847.

The anniversary of a large number of societies took place in New York during the past week. Conspicuous among them is the Anti-Slavery Society, of which the notorious WM. LLOYD GARRISON is President, and its doings certainly exhibited a queer spectacle. Anti-Slavery in the north is by no means an unit—its professors and advocates are divided by various opinions, chiefly relating to the propriety and expediency of open and organized warfare upon the institutions of the South. One faction, for instance, which terms itself the "Liberty Party" professes to be opposed to the violent and incendiary designs of the others. It affects to entertain some respect for the constitution of the United States, and to regulate its hatred of slavery and its practical efforts to abolish it, by the restraints of the organic law. The "Liberty Party" seek political power, claiming to use it constitutionally for the furtherance of their purposes. The Anti-Slavery party on the other hand, of which the society in question is principally composed, are a rabid set of incurable fanatics, whose delusion and ignorance render them mere puppets to be moved at the will of a few cunning leaders. This is the party that blaspheme Providence for not exterminating slavery by a miraculous dispensation at a single stroke; that cover the country with the froth of their insane ravings, and denounce the Constitution as an infamous production, framed to protect inhumanity and crime. These are the men who strive to send their miscreant emissaries to sow sedition at the South, whose ferocious fanaticism would exult at seeing every slave holding state a prey to fire and steel. The Anti-Slavery Society is the great field for the development of their opinions.

At the recent celebration we perceive that WENDELL PHILIPS, a prominent member, stigmatised DANIEL WEBSTER as a traitor and backslider, because that great man declared that he would ask for no better epitaph than the inscription on his tomb-stone: "Here lies one who was a friend to the Constitution." As the Abolitionists of the Philips school regard the Constitution with most decided dislike, it is no wonder that they abuse Mr. WEBSTER for standing up in defence of that instrument. The constitution interferes with their charitable intentions, and Mr. WEBSTER, is a champion of the constitution—ergo Mr. WEBSTER, to use their own language is a "dough-face" and a recreant. Of course he being "considered little better than one of the wicked, Gen. TAYLOR is viewed in the light of an incarnate demon, and the entire Whig party, which have presented his name in connection with the office of the Presidency, are treated by PHILLIPS, GARRISON and others as a set of unmitigated villains. These delightful sentiments, so characteristic of a refined and generous philanthropy, were vehemently applauded by the society, but hissed by the assembled multitude.

The first day's meeting was wound up by a rich display. One FREDERICK DOUGLAS—a runaway slave, who had been despatched to England by the Abolitionists to be made much of by the old women of that country—was introduced to the assemblage which he edified by a speech. We learn from a sketch of this production that this woolly headed patriot is of opinion that the constitution of the United States should be shivered into a thousand pieces; and that British aid should be invoked to proclaim a a crusade upon the South. The orator was particularly careful to inform his audience that in England the pigs and the dogs recognized him as a man—the former, we presume, grunted around him from a congenial sense of sympathy—and the latter doubtless howled in amazement at the unaccustomed spectacle. He did not enlighten his listeners upon many other points, but proved, after all, but a poor card, exhausting his powers in a mere tirade of slang and drivel concerning the South and her institutions.

We have given a bird's eye view of these proceedings simply that people in this quarter may understand what they have to apprehend. From such insane malignity and impotent vehemence of denunciation little need be feared. With the exception of stealing our property whenever they can do so with impunity, this particular division of the abolitionists can accomplish nothing. Their violence is innoxious, for it only disgusts and alienates the vast majority of Northern people, who, however hostile to slavery in the abstract, retain a modicum of common sense and common honesty.

Later from the Brazos.

The schooner Alcyona, arrived yesterday from the Brazos, whence she sailed on the 11th. The Matamoros Flag of the 8th, is the latest paper received.

Gen. Cushing met with an accident of a serious character on the evening of the 8th inst. Accompanied by a lady, he was taking a walk through the streets after nightfall, and in going out of the Plaza at the south-east corner, where the street is fortified so as to leave only a footpath not exceeding two feet wide for egress, he placed his foot upon a loose brick which gave way and precipitated him into the ditch, breaking the bone of his left leg, just above the ankle. He was taken to his quarters immediately, and Dr. McPHAIL called to his assistance, from whose surgical skill expectations are created that the broken bones may speedily be healed. At present, says the Flag, he is suffering much pain and the accident distresses him, as it prevents his fulfilling the duties of his recent appointment.

Upwards of fourteen hundred troops are now collected at the Camp of instruction, near Palo-Alto.

An express for General Taylor from Gen. Scott passed through Matamoros on the 6th. No hint of its purport has escaped.

The Flag learns from Zacatecas papers, that that department goes heart and soul with the Government in its projects to repel the Americans. An extract from one of these journals, shows conclusively that the loss of the Mexicans at Buena Vista was enormous. The surgeon of the Hospital San Luis, writes that he will soon receive 817 wounded, which, added to the 587 already there, will make the extraordinary number of 1484. In connection with this statement take the number of dead and wounded left upon and in the vicinity of the battle ground, and some idea may be formed of the carnage upon the bloody field of Buena Vista, and with what desperation the battle was waged.

☞ The only item of information brought by the steamer Mary Kingsland, is the statement that a small party of Dragoons were surprised at Santa Fe, a small village about fourteen miles from Vera Cruz, by a band of Mexican robbers or guerrillas. There were eleven dragoons in the party, and all but the sentinel asleep. The Mexicans rushed upon him, and his gun having missed fire, he was unable to give the alarm.—A scuffle ensued, in which the sentinel was killed, and the Mexicans rushed upon the rest of the party. Of these, ten in number, but one escaped unharmed. Six of the others were killed and three wounded. As soon as the news was brought to Vera Cruz by the dragoon who escaped, Capt. Walker, of the Rifles, was ordered out with his command in pursuit of the marauding party. It is not supposed that it was anything more than a band of Mexican ladrones.

VIRGINIA.—There is yet a plentiful lack of certainty about the Virginia elections. The Richmond papers state that a letter has been received from Mecklenburg, written by a gentleman who may be regarded as reliable authority—which states that Bolling has a majority of eight over Dromgoule—the sheriffs upon examining the polls having ascertained that there was a mistake in the former addition of one of the polls. We give the statement—counting ourselves upon nothing as certain until the return has been decided upon by the sheriffs.

In the Fourth District Bocock's, [l. f.] unofficial majority is 2. The sheriff's have adjourned to the 17th inst., on account of informality in some of the polls, and to ascertain facts in relation to double voting.

In the third District, Flournoy's [w] majority has been cut down to 2 by the rejection of a heavy whig precinct in Patrick County, in consequence of some informality.

☞ The Albany Evening Journal says that Gen. Scott gave Santa Anna a "hasty plate of soup" at Cerro Gordo, and if he had not been served with fleet horses he would also have honored with him a "fire in the rear."

COLD WIND & FROST.—The Charleston Courier says:—We regret to learn, by a planter from the middle section of St. John's, Berkeley, that a cold wind prevailed there on Thursday night last, followed by a slight white frost, on Friday morning; and that the former has done considerable injury to the cotton crops.

THE CASE OF LIEUT. HUNTER is calling forth much comment. With one or two exceptions, the punishment is very generally deemed fearfully disproportioned to the offence. We believe, says the Baltimore American, that the facts of the case show the sentence to be undeserved. The duty of obeying orders is of course an essential principle in military and naval officers; but then it is to be remembered that orders are to be obeyed according to their spirit, and in view of the objects contemplated by them. Upon the very face of it the matter vindicates itself. Lieut. HUNTER is sent to blockade a town; he finds on arriving there that he can take it, and he does so. Now, the purpose of blockading the town was that it might be taken eventually; and is it not strange that an officer should be punished for accomplishing fully the object he was sent to further? "My orders were," says the Lieutenant in his defence, "to report to Captain BREESE, and to assist in blockading Alvarado. I did not consider them (can they be fairly considered?) as forbidding me to annoy the enemy in every way in my power, as modifying in the slightest degree the general duty of every officer having a military command in time of war, "to molest and cripple the enemy in every possible way."

The following passages are quoted from Lieut. HUNTER's defence:—

"On the evening of the 30th March, being sufficiently near, I opened upon the fort at Alvarado with shot and shells. Apprehensive of a norther, I stood off and on during the night, with a strong breeze and rough sea. Towards morning, it having moderated, I stood close in to the bar, and again opened upon the forts.—Shortly afterwards I discovered two horsemen upon the beach, holding a white flag, and a boat crossing the bar at the same time. This boat brought me an offer on the part of the authorities to surrender the city. Permit me here to observe, Mr. President, that as there are two sides to every question, so there may be two results to every affair of this kind. Alvarado is now in our possession: but let us suppose that it was not, that we had been foiled a third time in our efforts to take it. What would have been my position, I say, if I, having refused the offer of the town when the authorities were ready to yield it—the American forces had been a third time baffled in their efforts to capture it? Mr. President, the worst that can now befal me, is a trifle to the infamy and disgrace which would have remained attached to my name, perhaps, long after I was in the grave.

"If you, Mr. President, (or any member of this honorable Court,) will fancy yourself in my place when the offer of capitulation reached me, I think you must perceive that it placed me in a difficult, a most embarrassing position—one that might have got a much more experienced officer than myself into trouble. I had to decide upon the disobeying of my orders on one hand, and the possible consequences which my refusal to take such a responsibility might lead to on the other. I had to decide between two courses—the one leading to present personal safety, and the possibility of future infamy; the other to some personal risk, perhaps, but by which the honor of the navy, and my honor, at least, were safe. I have stated thus the view which I took of my position, and the motives on which my actions were founded. I will not say, Mr. President, that under similar circumstances you would have a similar view of your position; but I think I may say without the danger of dissent here or elsewhere, that taking the same view I did—that you, or any other member of this honorable court would have done just what I did.

"I regret my error, apart from the trouble it has brought upon me. I regret it because it has given offence to the commander-in-chief—I speak from rumor only—I have no certain knowledge of the fact, as I have heard there was an understanding between the commander-in-chief and the commanding general ashore, that there was to be a combined attack made by the squadron and army, on these places; it might thus seem that I had sought to rob of its just participation in this affair that arm of the service which in the progress of this war, has acquired for our country so much honor and glory. Nothing could be farther from my intentions—I knew nothing of any such understanding.

"One or two matters remain to be touched upon. I am charged in the two first spec of the 1st charge, with arrogating to myself the powers of commander-in-chief, in signing articles of capitulation, &c., although aware of the immediate approach of the commander-in-chief. In regard to the first, my error was one of simple ignorance. I knew that I had obtained possession of these places, and meant of course to hand them over to the first senior officer that might approach; but I had not the remotest intention of exercising any of the powers of commander-in-chief. I knew, or perhaps I should rather say had reason to believe, that the commander-in-chief would arrive in a short time: but I did not know precisely when, still less did I know that he was nearer than Vera Cruz."

☞ We clip the following passages from some interesting speculations in relation to the war, contained in the last letter of the Washington correspondent of the Charleston Courier:

Senors RIJON and GOMEZ FARIAS have always, it is said, been of the opinion that Mexico can only be regenerated by a total destruction of the army and of the hierarchy, and that this object could alone be effected by a war with the United States.

The hopes and the predictions of these eminent men are probably to be fulfilled. The war which we went into for the purpose of settling a boundary question, and to procure indemnities long justly due, will not terminate with its object. It has given to the people of the United States an increased thirst for extended dominion, and a large portion of Mexican territory—half of it, at least, will be taken and occupied by the United States. Even this acquisition will not longer than twenty years satisfy us, as I hear many men say.

We are to go down to the isthmus. In fact, the whole territory of the North American Continent must, after a few years—few in the history of a nation—be overrun by our people. A war with England, for Canada and Northern Oregon, is not more than twenty years off. The dependencies upon the Continent—Cuba—the key of the Gulf of Mexico—must, of course, come under our dominion. It was long ago made known to the British Government by this Government, that the United States would never permit Cuba to become a British Colony.

How long will our own hemisphere contain our people? This was a question with the great champion for monarchy, Dr. SAMUEL JOHNSON. Dr. J., alluding to FRANKLIN's rule of progression, says that according to it, "in a century and a quarter, the population of America will be more than equal to the inhabitants of Europe." "When the whigs of America," he said, "are thus multiplied, let the Princes of the earth tremble in their palaces." "If they should continue to double and double, their own hemisphere will not contain them." This was prophetically written in 1779.

In short, destiny is at work. SANTA ANNA sees this, and forcibly depicts it, in his last despairing proclamation.

The Union states that the health of the Secretary of the Treasury is not permanently impaired, and that, in the opinion of his medical advisers, a temporary relief from his laborious duties will restore him.

DEPARTURE OF THE NEW ORLEANS.—The Steamship New Orleans left yesterday for Vera Cruz. She takes out 350 men, under Maj. Lee, of the U. S. Army, together with 155 horses, and their complement of teamsters. Majors Bosworth and Crutchfield of the Pay Master's Department, likewise go out in the New Orleans, with $100,000 in specie; Col. McIntosh accompanies them. Among the passengers is Judge Carrigan, of the Legislature, who bears with him the complimentary resolutions to Scott, Taylor and Worth, passed by the Louisiana Legislature, and also the elegant charger purchased by subscription of our citizens, to be presented to Col. Harney.

BUST OF GEN. TAYLOR.—Our paper, a few days ago, contained a suggestion that GARBEILLE, the sculptor, should be sent to General Taylor's camp to obtain a bust of the people's cherished Hero. The hint, we are glad to learn, is being carried into execution. A subscription entitling each subscriber of the sum of $10 to a copy of the bust, has already obtained a fourth of the requisite number of signatures, and is left at the office of the St. Charles Exchange; where those who wish to show their patriotism, without distinction of party, and give encouragement to a young and talented artist, can call and complete the list. It is desirable that the signatures should be obtained as early as possible. Bis dat qui cito dat

FIRE IN THE OHIO STATE PRISON.—A fire broke out in the shops of Messrs. P. Hayden & Co., in the Ohio State Prison at Columbus, on the 7th inst., which consumed the entire eastern wing of shops, about 150 feet in length, and two stories high. The shops consumed were occupied for manufacturing saddle trees, hames, and the different branches of hardware. All the machinery and tools were entirely destroyed.—The convicts labored hard, and did much to extinguish the flames. Messrs. H. & Co.'s loss is estimated at from $30,000 to $35,000; partially insured.

☞ A most violent hurricane passed and repassed over Madison, Ia., on Saturday the 8th inst. It passed first from the southwest and returned from the northwest. A number of houses were unroofed and otherwise injured, and one or two were blown down. A Mrs. McKee was instantly killed, and one of her daughters had both her legs broken. The steeple of the First Presbyterian Church was so much injured that it will probably have to be re-constructed.

☞ Our thanks are due the officers of the steamer Bonnie [illegible], for very late river papers.

City Intelligence.

FIRST DISTRICT COURT.—The District Attorney filed yesterday a number of bills of information against several individuals charged with assault and battery, and against John McDonald, William Gifford and James Plime, charged with larceny.

The indictment against Elizabeth Parsons, f. w. c., accused of insulting a white woman, was, on motion of her counsel, Mr. Randall Hunt, quashed by the Court.

John Flummer and Marguerite Butterwitt, were next put upon their trial, on a joint charge of assault and battery, and acquitted.

INFANTICIDE.—Lieutenant Ferrari of the First Municipality Police, arrested on Tuesday a woman named Mary Marthe, who is supposed to be the mother of the child found dead some days ago on Johnson street, near Esplanade. A German living in the latter street, stated to Lieut. Ferrari, that he had seen Marthe come out of her house with a basket enclosing a child, and that she came back without either. The woman was arrested, but being unwell, was sent to the Charity Hospital. She will be examined when the state of her health will permit.

☞ We stated yesterday, that Mr. TABARY had been held to bail by Recorder Seuzeneau, for insulting Mr. VIEN and wife. Mr Tabary wishes to be understood that the difficulty exists only between himself and Mr VIEN.

INQUEST.—Coroner Speddon held yesterday an inquest on the body of a white man supposed to be called J. C. Wright, that name being marked upon his clothes. The deceased was found drowned in the Mississippi, opposite Girod street, Second Municipality. Verdict accordingly.

THIRD MUNICIPALITY.—The committing magistrate of this part of the City, was prevented yesterday by sickness from transacting any business. The cases which were fixed for investigation, were postponed.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—John Enms, charged with highway robbery on the person of Mr Thomas Delaney, was yesterday brought up before Recorder Genois, who committed him for trial before the First District Court.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.—Patrick Donohue, the cab driver who is accused of having stolen, three or four days ago, from Mr Brown, about $1,500 or $1,600, was yesterday brought up before Recorder Baldwin. His Honor, after a careful investigation of the case, committed the prisoner for trial before the First District Court, and forced the amount of bail at $1,500.

The notorious character Thomas Henrietta alias John Baker, charged with picking the pocket of a police officer, made his appearance yesterday, before Recorder Baldwin. Upon his own request, his honor sent him to the Parish prison to await his trial before the First District Court.

NEW WORKS.—Our aknowledgments are due J. C. Morgan, of the Literary Depot, for the following new publications.

MARTIN THE FOUNDLING, or the adventures of a Valet de Chambre, from the French of Eugene Sue, parts 11 and 12. The present numbers bring this powerful romance nearly to a conclusion.

PICTORIAL HISTORY OF ENGLAND, No. 21.—Praise of this admirable production is superfluous. The number before us treats of the government, laws and literature of the people, during the Elizabethan age.

FLIRTATION, A STORY OF THE HEART, by Lady Charlotte Bury. This is a novel belonging to a class that invariably commands the attention of Misses in their teens. It is full of sentiment, soul, and that sort of thing.

THE AMERICAN IN ENGLAND, by A. Sidell Mackenzie—two volumes. This is a reprint of a most excellent and impartial review of men and matters in Great Britain. The proof of its popularity and value is, that it has reached a fourth edition. McKenzie is an observant traveller, who relates with vivacity and amusement his adventures and impressions.

THE ROSE OF PERSIA, Giafar al Barmeki, by Samuel Spring—two volumes. This is a tale of the East, and as such we presume is redolent of oriental imagery, frequently striking, sometimes extravagant. The incidents and conduct of the story have elicited much commendation from Northern critics.

MEDICAL CONVENTION.—The most important act of the Medical Convention which recently sat at Philadelphia, was that of organizing themselves and their successors into an "American Medical Association," to meet annually at different points in the country, thus providing for a perpetual union and supervision over the honor and interests of the fraternity. The next meeting was fixed for the first Tuesday in May, 1848, at the city of Baltimore.

THE FIGHT.—The Baltimore Sun, of the 12th inst., says:—

The fight, appointed to take place yesterday, between a couple of fellows, bearing the form of men, we believe, one called Sullivan, of New York, and the other Caunt, of England, came off at Harpers' Ferry, the blackguards in attendance outnumbering all civil authority in that vicinity. Caunt, we understand, after six or seven rounds, was so much beaten that he was unable to meet his adversary again, and accordingly a victory was claimed for Sullivan, and the whole party returned to Baltimore last night.—It is to be regretted that such an exhibition as this could not have been prevented by the "strong arm of the law," or that so glaring an insult to the decencies of society must pass unavenged: The "strong arm of the law," however, is too often powerless, when it is most desirable to prove its efficiency.

☞ The Union has an article on the war, in which, after noticing the statement that the Mexican clergy had offered to supply funds for the prosecution of hostilities, and were constantly engaged in inflaming the minds of the people against the Americans, it remarks:

It is not as a religious body, but as an engine of State, that the Catholics of Mexico look upon us with a hostile eye. It is for their own special political purposes—to retain their vast possessions, which impoverish the nation,—to sustain their own hierarchy, which lords it over the people—to preserve their power, which weighs down the rest of the community into the slough of ignorance and slavery—that they are thus solicitous and active. It is a zeal for the mammon of unrighteousness—not for the welfare of souls—which inspires and animates the Catholics of Mexico.

In this aspect of the case, it may become a matter of grave consideration, if the church continues to oppose a peace and furnish the fuel of war, whether the immense revenues of the church in Mexico shall be left untouched—whether they shall be suffered to remain at the disposal of the enemy, and to be applied to sustain the war against us—whether justice and policy do not equally dictate that they should at least be sequestered during the continuance of the war as a legitimate means of cutting off the enemy's supplies.

CALAMITIES BY LIGHTNING.—The Charleston Courier of the 14th inst., has the following:—

During the prevalence of a thunder storm on Wednesday evening last, a fishing smack, having on board three white men, viz: Capt. Chase, Arthur Lynch and George Beckman, on its way to the city, was struck by lightning when in the vicinity of the North Channel buoy. The fluid passed down one of the masts of the smack, and in its descent, Arthur Lynch, one of the party, was instantly killed. The other men, were stunned, but soon recovered from the effects of the shock.

A small wooden house situate at the corner of Nassau and Mary streets, Charleston neck, was also struck yesterday forenoon during a heavy rain. The lightning entered the house immediately above the chimney place, in the second story, tearing off in its progress a portion of the wall, and the wood work about the fire place, from thence it descended into the kitchen attached to the premises, and killed a negro girl named Rose, the property of James H. Magwood, Esq. The inmates of the house were sensibly affected by the shock.

We heard a gentleman, fresh from the theatre of war, relate an anecdote of Gen. Taylor. One of the Illinois regiments was thrown into rather close proximity with a Mexican battery, and the balls were flying tolerably thick and rather close—so close at least, as to induce the b'hoys to dodge occasionally. Old Rough was sitting astride of his old grey, and being in a position to see the dodging, cried out, "gentlemen, no dodging—it ill becomes a soldier to dodge." Old Rough's grey horse presented a fair mark, and as the enemy had learned his whereabouts because of his old charger, a very brisk fire was opened upon the grey horse. It is said the balls passed around old Rough promiscuously, and the thing was becoming quite too hot even for him. At last a ball passed so near the old man's cheek as to cause him to throw his head in an opposite direction with a celerity not at all characteristic of old Rough's plodding habits; it was thought the old fellow was dodging—the movement of his head was noticed by some of the Illinoians, and a hearty laugh broke out from the b'hoys. Old Rough straightened himself up in his stirrups and said, "dodge the balls, gentlemen, but no running."—Miss. Adv.

SPECIE.—The New York Tribune of the 10th inst., says:—About a million and a half of the Caledonia's specie has already been received here. Our banks must hold nearly two millions more in their vaults than on the 1st instant, as nearly $400,000 have been received from abroad direct at this port in addition to the above. The amount of specie entered at the Boston Custom House by the Caledonia, to 2 o'clock Saturday, was $1,500,000—a larger amount than ever before entered by one vessel.

Prenticiana.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger plainly intimates that Gen. Taylor has been guilty of "disobedience of orders." When and where did the Old Thunderer disobey the Administration's orders? Did he stay at Buena Vista when he was ordered to retreat to Monterey? Did he whip the Mexicans when he was ordered to let the Mexicans whip him? Or did he refuse to recognize the validity of some pass signed by President Polk, authorizing Santa Anna to go wherever he pleased?

If Gen. Taylor has really been guilty of any such atrocious acts of disobedience, why is not a court-martial ordered at once?

☞ All the locofoco papers are shouting the praises of Gen. Scott, the victor of Vera Cruz and Cerro Gordo. Well, if Scott is the great and glorious commander they now represent him, what sort of policy was it on the part of the Administration to keep him shut up at Washington city, like a caged eagle, for nearly a year after the commencement of the war, an exile from his country's battle-fields, merely because he had thoughtlessly written a letter to the Secretary of War, complaining of "attacks from high quarters?"

☞ Mr Polk should now, by all means, send his friend Santa Anna a wooden leg to replace the one he lost at Cerro Gordo. We hope that the artist employed for that purpose, will turn out just such a piece of work as the celebrated cork leg of the Rotterdam merchant, which, when once set to going, could never be stopped.

Let such a leg as that be buckled to Santa Anna's body, and then let him be started in the direction of Gen. Scott or Old Rough and Ready.

SAMUEL G. WOOD, an officer of the U. S. Army, attached to Gen. Wool's command, came passenger on the Rail Road yesterday afternoon, having left Buena Vista on the 6th, and Camp Walnut, three miles from Monterey, on the 8th ultimo. He is the bearer of some communications for Washington, connected with the Army, and is on a short furlough, having been severely wounded in the battle of Buena Vista. This gentleman states that the army under the command of Gen. Taylor was perfectly healthy when he left; and also informs us that Urrea was occasionally troublesome to their baggage trains, but always fled to the mountains when pursued. They obtained all their news from Vera Cruz via New-Orleans.—Charleston Courier.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.—We regret to notice a sad accident which occurred on board the ship Euphrasia, Buntin, of and from Boston, for this port, on Sunday afternoon, about 7 o'clock, whilst lying at anchor in Washington's Reach, in the Potomac river. Captain B. had left his ship, and proceeded to town for the purpose of procuring a steamer to tow up his vessel. During his absence, the Pilot, desirous of getting a better anchorage, ordered a boat to carry out a small anchor, with a view of warping off. The second mate and eight men were in the boat. By some unfortunate turn, the boat swamped, and five men were drowned. The rest of the boat's crew were rescued by a yawl from a small vessel at anchor near by.—Alex. Gazette

NEW YORK, May 11, 7 P. M.

The flour market has been quite firm to-day, tho' operations have been quite light. There were sales of 300 bbls. Genesee brands on the spot at $7 87 1-2. For delivery in June, sales of 3000 bbls were made at $7 1-2a$7. There is but little Southern in market, and that is held at $7 50a$7 62 1-2.

There is a brisk business doing in corn, both for present and future delivery. The sales on the spot reach 40,000 bushels yellow at 95 a 96 cents per bushel, and 4000 bushels of white and mixed at 91 cents. Sales are making for delivery in June, at 8a90.

There is no change in cotton—sales of small lots were made at the decline of Monday.

A BEAUTIFUL AND BRIEF SERMON.—We read the following, years ago, and in our muchthumbed copy of Old Herbert and it has been buried long enough in our memory to come up again.

Sundays observe: think when the bells do chime
'Tis angel's music, therefore come not late.
God there deals blessings of a king did so,
Who would not have, stay, give, to see the show.

In time of service, seal up both thine eyes,
And send them to thy heart, that spying sin,
They may weep out the stains by them did rise.
Those doors being shut, all by the ears comes in.

Let vain and busy thoughts have there no part;
Christ purged His temple, so must thou thy heart.
He that loves God's abode, and to combine
With saints on earth shall one day with them shine.

MARRIED.

On Monday, 17th May inst. by the Rev. Mr. [illegible], Mr. A. E. PERRINS to Miss HELENA GLASSON [illegible]

SALE BY THE SHERIFF.—The [illegible] capitalists is called to the sale, on FRIDAY, 21st May inst., of that handsome store, No. 4, Old Levee street, [illegible] fronting both on Old Levee and Decatur streets, on very advantageous terms. (See, for particulars, judicial advertisements in another column.) m19 2t

Notice.

The Committee appointed on the part of the General and Municipal Council to make arrangements for the reception of the Hon. Dan'l Webster will meet at 12 o'clock M. this day, in the council chamber of Municipality No. 1.

By ORDER OF THE COMMITTEE

OLDRIDGE'S BALM OF COLUMBIA—Not only a restorative of the human hair but also a cure for dandruff and scurf, and gives the hair a beautiful glossy appearance.

EAST INDIAN HAIR DYE.—This is beyond a doubt one of the most remarkable chemical discoveries of modern times. It colors the hair, and yet the skin is perfectly free from its influence. Red or grey hair will become a permanent brown or jet black after one application. Moreover, a great advantage possessed by the East Indian Hair Dye is this—it may be applied over night, while the head rests on the pillow of repose.

☞ The above named articles are sold by COMSTOCK, 30 Poydras street, at the Southern Magical Pain Extractor Depot. m19—3

Jones Coral Hair Restorative.

NOTICE.—Among the educated, there are few who will doubt but that by forcing the roots and scalp of the head to a healthy action, we can cause growth—aye dark, luxuriant growth. The roots being healthy, a sediment called dandruff or scurff is discharged from the scalp the hair now becomes soft and silky. Thus the roots strongly fastened in their native soil, proudly and splendidly display their beauty, as a specimen of diseased nature raised from death by the powerful aid of science.

Having stated as above the actual, true, and real qualities of Jone's Coral Restorative, I leave the intelligent portion of the public to judge of the truth of its possessing these qualities by the testimony of the following highly respectable editor.

[From the New York Sun, December, 1841.]

"A young gentleman, a friend of ours, living in Blecker street, and well known in Wall street, was attacked with fever; the hair on the top of his head was dried off, the sides were covered with red, rusty, dry, hair, filled with dandruff. He has now a beautiful head of hair, from the use of Jone's Coral Hair Restorative."

MOORISH HAIR DYE.
