Extract of a letter received in Charleston, via Liverpool, dated

"HAVRE, Nov. 21.

"Small sales of Cotton have been made lately, at a decline of 5 centimes (one cent) upon the prices of last week. To-day the market is perfectly at a stand.

"The new Cotton landed is valued by brokers at 135f. to 145f. No offer has yet been made; and from all appearances no business will be done until prices come down to 135f. for good Orleans.

"Small quantities are supplied, buying only for their daily wants. The large establishments are supplied for two months.

"The pressure for money continues, and fears are entertained for the end of the year."—Courier.

The vibrations of the money market since the beginning of the year, have been remarkable. In the following list we have affixed the rates of certain leading stocks, on the last day of 1836, and yesterday—

	Dec 31.	Jan 13.	rise	fall
U S Bank	119	115		4
Bk of Hudson	86½ to 90	87 to 90
State Bank	106½	109	2½
Merrit	95	98½	3½
Trust	119	114		4½
Harlem	52½	57	4½
Reeve	118	125	7
Mohawk	78	88	10
Farmers Loan	104	106	2

In this table, it will be discovered, however, that the United States Bank has not fallen at all, although the fall of figures indicates such a fact. In the question of October, it must be understood, we will the direct reason. That dividend was 4 per cent—of course, the price of United States Bank has not varied. The other stocks show a slight alteration to rise. But the extraordinary rise in the Harlem of 23½ per cent in a fortnight, causes reflection and surmise. What is the cause? There is no application to be made for an increase of capital stock at this session of the Legislature.

What is to be done? They go to work buy and sell among themselves a few shares, and thus in regular stean power, they will run a short time, raise the stock to par—apply for an increase of capital—puff a great deal in the newspapers—the stock will go up—they will sell out, and another tremendous cornering operation be exemplified in Harlem as we had in 1835—6.

The state, condition and fluctuations of the stock market are supposed to indicate the situation of the money market. It is not always so. There are very many influences besides stocks, on the money market to change operations. Yet so far these indications are reasonable, are favorable to the return of health and vigor. The only difficulty is the pendency before Legislature and Congress of the various propositions which have more or less a great effect on all financial operations of commerce. The tariff and the land question are the principal measures at Washington—repeal of the Restraining and Usury laws here. The land system has been the principal elements in the recent disturbances in the money market.

The Specie Circular which they talk so much about, and so have been so for eighteen months ago. It is the great and overflowing amount of public lands over whole country, that the derangement of payments have been owing. A reduction of the revenue will be sufficiently affected by a reduction of the imports. There must be a radical modification of the system, so as to prevent all speculative sales of public domain hereafter.

Yet, as it is proposed, what prospect is there that the tariff will be diminished. We dare not say the prospect of the administration be sincere. The present tariff is per law not nefar. United with the administration the measure could easily be carried.

The weather is now very delightful for the season. The spring Dry Goods business is fairly beginning to shape itself with a tolerable fair current. The recent sales have brought to us large supplies of foreign goods, and our jobbers are beginning to prepare for the approaching season. We had several large arrivals of Extras to be sent over the South and West, and to supply the country merchants to this great mart. We do not expect such a quantity of business as last—but what is done will be better done—there certainly is no waste.

We find that all the brandy in the city is monopolized by one French house, and that its price will be good. Flour in Baltimore is up to 10,35—foreign 6,65 to 7,10. Exchange on England 108½ to 109 was on the 12th inst.

There is a great deal of indignation felt at Mobile at the exaggerated statements of failures published in the American Advertiser, and other local papers of this city. They have a right to be quite angry at those who believed the stories.

There has been broached in the Legislature, to the effect that the country banks redeem their paper at par in New York. This aya em has been tried in Boston; and has been highly useful. The effect of such a law would be to maintain a permanent amount of country funds in the city of two or three millions of capital—a pretty fair item for some of the banks to have in Wall street. Does the project originate with Mr. Delafield or Mr. Gallatin?
