PEACE OR WAR.

Our impression for some time has been that the incoming Administration will pursue a temperate and pacific policy towards the States composing the Southern Confederacy. This impression has almost deepened into conviction. There is an absorbing interest felt in the subject which induces us, perhaps at the expense of some repetition, to assign our reasons for the belief we entertain—although the period is near at hand which will confirm or disprove them.

The Black Republican Administration will be loth to attempt coercion, because such a course would precipitate the secession of the border States. The adherence of those commonwealths to the existing Union will not be worth the tenure of a month, if the blood of Southern citizens is shed by any portion of the army or navy of the United States. The border States have taken a trenchant position on this point. They are indisposed to quit the Union, but they will not tamely behold an attempt to coerce their brethren of the South. The importance of these States to the Administration is too obvious to need elaborate argument, and we may be tolerably sure that if Mr. LINCOLN thinks he can keep them simply by temporizing with us, he will do every thing in his power to avert civil war.

Again, the President elect is in a great measure the slave of public opinion. Now the views of those who elevated him to high station have undergone an extraordinary mutation since the organization of a provisional government in the South. We do not say they have become more just, more charitable, or more generous, but assuredly they are growing wiser. They perceive the ineffable folly and the excessive danger of engaging in sanguinary strife with the South. They see that such a war might injure us, but would ruin them. They begin to respect a movement which has assumed such importance. Some of the most prominent Republican journals, which but a short time ago breathed fire and vengeance against the South, are now proposing compromises and concessions, and advocating the treatment of the issues between them and us in a kindly and moderate spirit. Others are inclined to recognize the fact of a revolution without inquiring too curiously into the question of right, and are proposing that if all efforts to settle the quarrel and reconcile the disputants should prove unavailing, a National Convention should be called for the purpose of adjusting the terms of a peaceful separation. These influences on the preservation of peace must needs be felt by the incoming Administration. Prominent Black Republican prints are daily arguing against a resort to force, and several of the most trusted leaders of that party are well understood to favor almost any plan that promises to defeat the possibility of a collision.

There is, moreover, a powerful element in the North which cannot be safely overlooked in the determination of the question. We allude to the imposing minority which last fall sustained the candidates opposed to LINCOLN, and which, during the present crisis, has, while deploring the dissolution of the Union and endeavoring to reconstruct it, resolutely and unchangeably combatted the idea of making war on the South. We believe that the fanatical crew who desire, at any cost, to plunge the country into the horrors of civil feud, would have nearly as much to apprehend, in the event of their success, from the waked wrath of the conservative citizens of the North as from the courage and devotion of the South. The mutterings of the storm are already heard. New York, Boston and Philadelphia have literally driven from their midst the itinerant howlers against slavery, and exhibit an uncompromising disposition no longer to tolerate them. This reaction manifests itself in other modes. Influential Northern sheets speak boldly of a possible political union between the Middle States, the West and the South. In case of war there can be no doubt what ever that intense antagonisms, and even violent collisions would be provoked in the leading Northern cities between the two conflicting elements; and the Black Republicans would, while undertaking to conquer the South, be compelled to provide against domestic disaffection of the gravest character.

Finally, Governments can hardly wage war without money or credit. Mr. LINCOLN will commence his administration with an enormous debt and an empty exchequer. The abortive efforts of the present Cabinet to obtain loans at less than frightfully usurious rates, in order simply to meet current expenditures, will admonish him of the impossibility of raising ten times larger sums in the prosecution of the pleasant and popular delusion of treating secession as rebellion, and punishing its champions as traitors. This consideration will probably cool his bellicose ardor. All things considered, we fancy Mr. LINCOLN will roar as gently as a sucking dove.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.—The twenty fourth anniversary of this most gallant, zealous and efficient association will be celebrated on Monday, the 4th instant, and from the arrangements indicated in the programme, we are persuaded the commemoration will be marked with more than usual éclat. The procession will be composed of all the fire companies of New Orleans, Algiers, Jefferson City, Milneburg, Gretna and Carrollton, and will pursue the line of march laid down in the programme. I. N. Marks, Esq., President of the Department, will officiate as Grand Marshal, assisted by Messrs. Hornor, Beggs and Folger, the Vice-President, Treasurer and Secretary of the Association. We trust the weather will prove propitious for the occasion.

OPERA HOUSE.—To night the "Huguenots," for the second time, with M'lle Patti as Valentine. The opera is admirably performed, and will doubtless attract another brilliant audience.

On Monday evening we are positively assured that Meyerbeer's latest production, the "Pardon of Ploermel," will be represented. Mad. Faure, who was to perform one of the principal characters, still suffers from indisposition, and has obtained from the director temporary leave of absence; but M'lle Patti has, at short notice, volunteered to take her place, and will assume the part of Dinorah. Of course the theatre will be crowded on Monday evening from pit to dome.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.—We are indebted to W. C. Morrill for L. Scott & Co.'s reprint of the February number of this excellent periodical. Its contents are varied and interesting.

Our North Louisiana exchanges are filled with accounts of disastrous floods of rain during the past fortnight. In Bienville parish so sudden and great was the rise in a large creek, that a family consisting of a mother and eight children, together with their all were swept off and lost.

WILL NOT HOLD OFFICE UNDER LINCOLN.—The Jackson (Tenn.) Whig publishes the following letter:

OFFICE U. S. ATTORNEY, DISTRICT W. TENNESSEE, Jackson, Tuesday, Feb. 12.

His Excellency James Buchanan, Washington City, D. C.:

Sir—Feeling that no Southern man can, with honor or a proper respect for himself, consent to hold office under the incoming Administration, I hereby tender my resignation of the office of District Attorney for the Western District of Tennessee, to take effect on the 4th day of March next.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
ALEXANDER W. CAMPBELL.

A HARD ONE.—Here is a hit at mean people employed in Dr. Holmes's new work, "Elsie Venner," to illustrate the character of a certain Silas Peckham, Principal of a rural seminary (the Apollinean Institute) in a New England village:

"A mean man never agrees to any thing without deliberately turning it over, so that he may see its dirty side, and, if he can, sweating the coin he pays for it. If an archangel should offer to save his soul for a sixpence, he would try to find a sixpence with a hole in it.

MELANCHOLY OCCURRENCE—From the Altar to the Grave.—We clip the following from the Lexington (Miss.) Advocate of a late date: "Dr. Middleton was married on last Thursday, and himself and lady immediately took passage on the Charm at Tchula, and at Vicksburg took the steamer Charmer for New Orleans. Intelligence has been received that on Sunday night, about twelve o'clock, the steamer, when near Donaldsonville, took fire, and Dr. Middleton and his lady were both lost. The boat was rounded to and ran into shore, and the only other persons supposed to have been lost were a gentleman and his lady, from Tennessee, and three servant women. Mr. Middleton was one of the wealthiest citizens of the county, and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. His wife leaves an aged father and a large number of other relatives to mourn her loss."

Important from Texas.

At the last accounts there was imminent danger of a collision between the troops of Texas and those of the United States at Point Isabel. The following account is from the Galveston Civilian of Wednesday:

The steamship Gen. Rusk, which carried the volunteers from this city on the expedition to seize the forts on the Rio Grande, returned yesterday.

Gen. Nichols, Commissioner on the part of Texas, returned on the Rusk for the purpose of procuring reinforcements.

The Texas forces, under Col. Ford, had taken the small military post on Brazos Island, a detachment of eighteen United States troops under Lieut. Thompson, without resistance, but, we believe, not without remonstrance.

Col. Ford, Gen. Nichols and Hon W. Waller went to Brownsville and demanded the surrender of Fort Brown and the United States military stores and other property embraced in the capitulation signed by Gen. Twiggs. The order of Gen. Twiggs for the delivery of this property had not been received, and Capt. Hill, who has command of Fort Brown, peremptorily refused to evacuate his position or surrender the public property. Some of the United States officers asserted that even an order from Gen. Twiggs for the surrender of the fort would not be obeyed.

It was stated that Capt. Hill had ordered a reinforcement of some 200 United States troops from Ringgold barracks, and threatened to attack the volunteers and retake the post on Brazos Island. The Texans were actively engaged in fortifying their position, and kept a sharp look-out for an attack.

No volunteers had arrived from the interior counties by land when the Rusk left.

It is expected that the Rusk will leave Galveston to-night with a company from this city, one from Houston, one from Liberty, and one from Fort Bend county.

With these reinforcements it is thought the demands of Texas may be enforced, even without the arrival of volunteers from other counties, should the order of the United States commander of this military department be disregarded by Capt. Hill.

It is sincerely hoped that the first bloodshed will not occur in Texas.

The New Postal Act.

The following is the text of the postal act passed by the Southern Congress. It is expected to make the Department self-sustaining:

SEC. 1. The Congress of the Confederate States of America do enact, That from and after such period as the Postmaster-General may by proclamation announce, there shall be charged the following rates of postage, to wit: For every single letter sealed and for every letter in manuscript or paper of any kind upon which information shall be asked for, or communicate in writing, or by marks or signs, conveyed in the mail for any distance between places within the Confederate States of America, not exceeding 500 miles, 5 cents; and for any distance exceeding 500 miles, double that rate; and every letter or parcel not exceeding half an ounce in weight shall be deemed a single letter, and every additional weight of half an ounce or additional weight less than half an ounce shall be charged with an additional single postage; and all packages containing other than printed or written matter, and money packages and included in this class, shall be rated by weight as letters are rated, and shall be charged double the rates of postage on letters; and all drop letters or letters placed in any post-office not for transmission but for delivery only, shall be charged with postage at the rate of two cents each, and in all the foregoing cases the postage must be prepaid by stamps; and all letters which shall hereafter be advertised as remaining over or uncalled for in any post-office shall be charged with two cents each in addition to the regular postage, both to be accounted for as other postages of this Confederacy.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the Postmaster General to provide and furnish to all Deputy Postmasters and to all other persons applying and paying therefor suitable postage stamps and stamped envelopes of the denomination of two cents, five cents and twenty cents, to facilitate the prepayment of postages provided for in this act, and any person who shall forge or counterfeit any postage stamp provided or furnished under the provisions of this or any former act, whether the same are impressed or printed on or attached to envelopes or not, or any die, plate or engraving therefor, or shall make, or print, or knowingly use, or sell or have in his possession, with intent to use or sell, any such false, forged or counterfeited dies, plate, engraving or postage stamp, or who shall make, or print, or authorize, or procure to be made or printed any postage stamps of the kind provided and furnished by the Postmaster General as aforesaid, without the special authority and direction of the Post Office Department, or who, after such postage stamps have been printed, shall, with intent to defraud the revenues of the Post Office Department, deliver any postage stamps to any person or persons other than such as shall be authorized to receive the same by any instrument of writing, duly executed under the hand of the Postmaster General and the seal of the Post Office Department, shall, on conviction thereof, be deemed guilty of felony, and be punished by a fine not exceeding $500, or by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and the expenses of procuring and providing all such postage stamps and letter envelopes as are provided for or authorized by this act, shall be paid after being adjusted by the Auditor of the Post Office Department, on the certificate of the Postmaster General, out of any money in the Treasury arising from the revenues of the Post Office Department.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of every Postmaster to cause to be defaced, in such manner as the Postmaster General shall direct, all postage stamps of this Confederacy to letters deposited in his office for delivery, or to be sent by mail, and if any Postmaster, sending letters in the mail with such postage stamps attached, shall omit to deface the same, it shall be the duty of the Postmaster to whose office such letters shall be sent for delivery, to deface the stamps and report the delinquent Postmaster to the Postmaster General. And if any person shall use, or attempt to use, in prepayment of postage, any postage stamps which shall have been before used for like purposes, such person shall be subject to a penalty of fifty dollars for every such offense, to be recovered in the name of the Confederate States of America in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That from and after the day when this act goes into effect, the franking privilege shall be abolished: Provided that the Postmaster General and his chief clerks, and the Auditor of the Treasury for the Post Office Department shall be and they are hereby authorized to transmit through the mails, free of postage, any letters, packages or other matters relating exclusively to their official duties, or to the business of the Post Office Department; but they shall in every such case endorse on the back of the letter or package to be sent free of postage over their own signatures, the words "Official business," and for any such endorsement falsely made, the person so offending shall forfeit and pay $300; And provided further, The several Deputy Postmasters throughout the Confederate States shall be and hereby are authorized to send through the mail free of postage all letters and packages which it may be their duty, or they may have occasion to transmit to any person or place, and which shall relate exclusively to the business of their respective offices, or to the business of the Post Office Department; but in every such case the Deputy Postmaster sending any such letter or package shall endorse thereon, over his own signature, the words "Post-Office business," and for any and every such endorsement falsely made the person making the same shall forfeit and pay $300.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That the third section of an act entitled an act further to amend "an act entitled an act to reduce and modify the rates of postage in the United States, and for other purposes, passed March 3, 1851," approved March 3, 1855, whereby the letter registration system was established, be and is hereby repealed from and after the day when this act goes into effect.

SEC. 7. Be it further enacted, &c., That no letters shall be carried by the express or other chartered companies, unless the same shall be prepared by being enclosed in a stamped envelope of this Confederacy, and any company violating the provisions of this act shall forfeit and pay the sum of $500 for each offense, to be recovered by action of debt in any court of this Confederacy having cognizance thereof, in the name and for the use of this Confederacy.

SEC. 8. Be it further enacted, That the Postmaster-General of the Confederate States be and is hereby authorized to make all necessary arrangements for the transportation of mails between the territories of this and other Governments, subject to the approval of the President, until postal treaties can be effected.

Passed February 21, 1861.

WASHINGTON, February 24.—Senator Crittenden and the Hon. C. F. Adams called on Mr. Lincoln to-day. The interview between Crittenden and Lincoln was a very agreeable one. Mr. Crittenden expressed himself afterwards as much pleased with him, and has strong hopes that he will bring the country safe through the present difficulties.

Indefinite rumors are afloat concerning the warlike dispatches said to have been received by the Government from the South. These cause much excitement and many inquiries, but they cannot be traced to any reliable source. There certainly has been no Cabinet meeting to-day to consider such dispatches as are related. Lincoln's rapid passage through Baltimore has been condemned here by some who do not know the facts, which are these: A set of unscrupulous political knaves in Baltimore, who had determined to turn Lincoln's visit there to their own account, arranged for a procession from the depot to his hotel. Protection was asked by these rowdies of Marshal Kane, who protested against such a proceeding. He said that Mr. Lincoln would be treated with all the respect due him, personally and officially; but so obnoxious were the parties proposing the demonstration that he could not insure the same. It might result in some indignity being offered which would be mortifying to the President elect, and disgraceful to the city of Baltimore. Finding that these men were fixed in their purposes, the latter was advised by telegraph to pass on to Washington without stopping, which he did.

This advice came from gentlemen who had the good name of Baltimore at heart. The advices from Baltimore had been anticipated by a special messenger sent thence to meet Lincoln at Philadelphia with dispatches from Scott and the War Department, urging him to come through Baltimore unexpectedly, as they had specific information of hostile purposes against him there, in relation to which they could not be mistaken. This information is obtained through official secret agents of Gen. Scott.

A BEQUEST REDUCED BY A CHANCERY SWEAT.—A Mr. Hartley, of Southampton, England, recently deceased, bequeathed $500,000 for the building and endowment of a literary institution in that city. The will was disputed, the matter at length reached chancery, and in that circumlocution court the $500,000 was sweated down to $200,000, which is to be applied to carrying out the testator's design.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S APPEARANCE IN PARLIAMENT.—Queen Victoria, on the opening of Parliament, entered the chamber preceded by heralds emblazoned with gold, and followed by lords. "As usual, (says the account) Her Majesty is perfectly at her ease, quietly looking round the splendid chamber as if she sat alone in it, and the surrounding six hundred pairs of eyes were bent on any one but her. As always on these great occasions, Her Majesty wore robes of state, her dress being composed of silver tissue, striped with gold, and a superb train of crimson velvet, lined with ermine and embroidered with gold, which was carried by the ladies in waiting and two pages. On her head was a demi-crown of brilliants, and with it were worn en suite a necklace, earrings, stomacher and bracelets of diamonds."

[From the New York Express.]

"The Constitution and Nothing Else."

"We are in favor of the Constitution as it is," say the Republican Senators and Representatives of the Irrepressible Conflict school. "No Crittenden amendments for us." "No compromise of any kind—nothing but the Constitution as it is. We stick to that. We have always, however, adhered to the Constitution faithfully and honestly."

That is very good rhetoric, but it is not the truth.

Mr. Charles Sumner is one of the supporters of the Constitution, and is now, all of a sudden, very anxious to have that instrument "preserved intact," (see his reply to Mr. Crittenden, February 12) We trust the Massachusetts Senator is sincere in this confession. Hitherto he has distinguished himself chiefly in counselling active resistance to, and contempt for, the Constitution—one of the provisions of which, the reader need scarcely be informed, reads thus:

"No person held to service or labor in one State, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due."

That is the language of the Constitution. Now, let us see what is the language of Mr. Sumner. In a speech, advising resistance to the fugitive slave law, (Boston, 1850) we find him reported as saying:

"The good citizen, as he reads the requirements of this (fugitive slave) act, is filled with horror. Here the path of duty is clear. I AM BOUND TO DISOBEY THAT ACT. * * Sir, I will not dishonor the home of the Pilgrims, and of the Revolution, by admitting—nay, I cannot believe—that this bill will be executed here."

Yet this is the same Senator—the same Mr. Chas. Sumner who now rises in his place and declares his immediate devotion to the Constitution.

Again, in the Senate of the United States, upon a subsequent occasion, we find him reiterating his determination not to obey the law. Mr. Butler, of South Carolina, asked:

"If we repeal the fugitive slave law, will Massachusetts execute the provision of the Constitution without any law of Congress? Will this honorable Senator (Mr Sumner) tell me that he will do it?"

To which Mr. Sumner replied:

"Is thy servant a dog, that he should do this thing?"

Mr. Butler continued:

"Then you would not obey the Constitution. Sir, standing here before this tribunal, where you swore to support it, you rise and tell me that you regard it the office of a dog to enforce it. You stand in my presence as a coequal Senator, and tell me that it is a dog's office to execute the Constitution of the United States!"

To which Mr. Sumner said:

"I recognize no such obligation."

Mr. Senator Wade, of Ohio, is likewise, all of a sudden, become an admirer and supporter of the Constitution, or, in the cant phrase of the Tribune, "the Constitution and nothing else." This Mr. Wade has a past record, too, and this record says, in a speech in the House of Representatives, August 23, 1856, he expressed his sentiments as follows:

"Thus, sir, the thrice execrable fugitive slave law, with its catch-pole bevy of slave hunting commissioners and deputy marshals, becomes a nullity and nuisance—the villainous concoction of slaveholding usurpation and dough-faced subserviency—and dissolves like stubble before the devouring fire."

With such a record as this staring these men in the face, it seems to us the very essence of effrontery for them to tell us, now, that they are as they have ever been, for the Constitution—the Constitution and nothing else.

Presidential Pastimes.

"Mr. Lincoln in the Metropolis" was a harvest of items for the reporters and newsdroppers. That our readers may see what sort of a ruler our Northern neighbors have chosen for themselves, we give some extracts referring to the Presidential reception "in the Metropolis," as our New York friends are fond of calling that overgrown village:

THE PRESIDENT ELECT IS JOCOSE.—A gentleman was here introduced to Mr. Lincoln, who stared at him, and then remarked, "you look like a friend of mine I cannot think of just now, but you're a handsome man."

A country looking individual, on seeing the President elect, said: "I am glad to see the man I voted for, anyhow. Mr. Lincoln replied: "I can't tell, my friend, whether I am the man or not."

A CHARLESTONIAN INTRODUCED.—A Mr. Cohen, of Charleston, South Carolina, was introduced. The Mayor remarked that he (Cohen) was outside of Mr. Lincoln's bailiwick. Mr. Lincoln replied: "Oh, I will shake hands with all of them, if they will only be united." This man, on being introduced, asked Mr. Lincoln to take care of the Collector of George town.

A young man introduced himself as the "man with the ax" who saluted the President elect at the corner of Twenty-eighth and Eighth avenue. Mr. Lincoln said he was glad to see him, as when he saw him with the ax he thought he would fall down.

A very tall man was here presented. The President elect looked at him from head to toe, which attention was returned by a hearty stare. Mr. Lincoln remarked, "I guess I top you an inch or two."

AN AMUSING EPISODE.—Quite a tall man came up somewhat close, as if to measure height with Mr. Lincoln, who quickly said:

"He's making a question with me, to the man, "stand up."

Mr. Lincoln and the stranger quickly put themselves back to back, when a roar of laughter followed on it being perceived that the former was the tallest of the two by about an inch. The stranger went off laughing.

Mr. Lincoln—"I saw he was stretching himself and making a question."

SIX FEET SIX.—On seeing an extraordinary tall man approaching, the Mayor created considerable mirth on saying: "Here's a tall fellow, he'll take you down."

Mr. Lincoln shook hands with the big stranger, and said: "I give it up now." (Laughter.)

The Mayor—"You ought to get his name." Mr. Lincoln answered by a repetition of his former remark. The stranger was six feet six inches in hight. Mr. Lincoln said that he himself was a little less than six feet four inches tall, without his boots.

ANOTHER TALL MAN.—Shortly afterwards, on seeing another tall man coming, the Mayor said: "Here's another." "I'd make it a question with him." He had just amused the bystanders by stretching himself up alongside of the stranger.

On shaking hands with a lady, he said: "I shake hands with all the ladies."

Speaking of Mr. Lincoln's hight to the bystanders, the Mayor remarked: "There's a good deal of stretch in him."

Mr. Lincoln—"Outcome, I call it."

Enough, however—and some may say too much—of this stuff.

Will the reader stretch his fancy so far as to conceive how George Washington, or any gentleman who has occupied the Presidential chair, would have exhibited himself in this way.

THE SARCOPHAGUS.—On Wednesday we noted the arrival in this city, en route to Lexington, Ky., of the beautiful marble sarcophagus intended for the remains of Henry Clay, manufactured by Mr. Struthers, of Philadelphia, and designed by Mr. Frederick Graeff, of that city. The material used, which is pure white marble, is from a quarry in Montgomery county. On the raised lid, encircled in the laurel wreath, is the name—Henry Clay—in black marble letters, on the end, in front of the base, the following, "Presented by William Struthers, Marble Mason, Philadelphia." The inscriptions on the side of the base are from Clay's speeches. One, "I had rather be right than President." "Truth is mighty and Public Justice certain." Again: "I can, with unshaken confidence, appeal to the Divine Arbiter for the truth of the declaration that I have been influenced by no impure purpose, no personal motive, have sought no personal aggrandizement, but in all my public acts I have had a sole and single eye, and a warm and devoted heart, directed and dedicated to what, in my best judgment, I believed to be the true interests of my country."

Adams's Express took charge of the sarcophagus at this point, and will convey it hence to its destination gratis.—Pittsburg Journal, Friday.

On the Treatment of Ruptures.

We are glad to learn that since the inauguration of Wright & Co.'s (21 Chartres street) Truss, Supporter and Bandage Institute the public are fast awakening to the conviction that, now they have an establishment where Hernia or Rupture is treated in a scientific manner, and where, if a cure is practicable, success is sure to crown the patient's hope. At any rate, should age or physical debility prevent such a happy result, the fact is told them beforehand. Such a class of patients can only expect to be made safe and comfortable the balance of their days, as it would be dishonest on the part of Wright & Co. to hold out illusive hopes when a cure they know can never take place. The frankness always displayed by this old and well known firm ought to induce all who labor under this disease to consult them at once, and procure one of their non-corrosive Trusses. Planters who yearly are spending money on ill-fitting steel Trusses, will find a great saving in having their hands fitted with the non-corrosive Truss, inasmuch as it is composed of materials, on which the peculiar negro acridness of perspiration has no effect. Get one of their circulars. mh2

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.—The stomach is the fountain head of scores of diseases which infest the human system. Indigestion, bad enough per se, generates diarrhea, dysentery, faintness, vertigo, palpitation of the heart, general debility, &c. Get rid of it, then, at once, by going through a course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, a palatable and refreshing preparation, which as surely relieves all complaints of the stomach and its dependencies, as the sunshine melts the snow. A course of the medicine may not perhaps be necessary. One bottle frequently accomplishes a complete cure.

Hung Himself.—Last night, about half past seven o'clock, a woman who lived in a tenement house fronting on an alley that runs into Lafayette street, near Circus, heard the groans of a man in another room. Giving the alarm to a couple of men, they broke into the apartment, and found a man hanging by the neck. They cut him down, and called officer Jachne, who at once got a cab and sent him to the hospital, although he was insensible. When received there the physicians pronounced him past recovery. He was strangled, and must have been hanging some time before his groans were heard. His name is not known, but his body may be recognized to-day.

Shocking Accident.—The list of casualties to little children on the Carrollton Railroad is truly horrible to recall. Yesterday evening, about half past four o'clock, another fatal accident occurred on St. Charles street to be added to this record. A little boy named Charley West was run over by the steam train, and had both his legs fearfully mangled. He was carried to his home at No. 333 Erato street, between Camp and Magazine, and one of the limbs was amputated, but no human skill was of avail to save his life, as he expired at seven o'clock, after suffering inconceivable agony for three and a half hours.

Queer Crime.—Casimir Galvitch, employed at Astredo's saloon, on Royal street, while going home on Bourbon street, at ten o'clock last night, was arrested by officer F. B. Carrico for refusing to show him an accordeon he was carrying. At the police office the clerk advised Carrico not to insist upon such a charge, but the officer was determined to have Galvitch locked up, and the clerk had then to comply, the charge going down upon the book: "for having an accordeon in his possession, and refusing to let him examine it." On a copy of the charge being taken by a friend to Recorder Blache, he of course sent an order for the unconditional discharge of Galvitch, who went on his way rejoicing.

Stolen Property.—Thos. R. Allen, corner of Erato and Front streets, made an affidavit to the following effect this morning before Recorder Emerson: That yesterday morning a barrel of pork, the property of McLelland & Allen, was feloniously removed from the sidewalk in front of complainant's place, and that said barrel of pork was found in possession of Laurence and Mary Finneran, at their house on Tchoupitoulas street, and who, he verily believes, knew that it was stolen property. The affair is to be investigated on the 19th. Bail $250.

Badly Beaten.—Corporal Kennedy found a man named James Daley, about eleven o'clock last night, on Delord street, very badly beaten about the head, Daley having been engaged in a drunken fight with some persons unknown. The Corporal sent him to the Charity Hospital in a cab.

Serious Charge.—Mr. John T. Marshall, one of the officers of the ship Mary Hammond, lying at post 25, First District, was arrested last evening by Lieutenant Boylan and his special officer Miller, at the request of Mr. Adam Neuber, who alleges that Marshall received seventeen bales of cotton which he refused to receipt for or to return. As Marshall declares he can prove a state of facts entirely exonerating himself from blame, we do not desire giving any thing further than the bare allegations until the case is fully investigated in Court.

Grand Jury Findings.—In the First District Court yesterday Judge Hunt recused himself, giving the bench to Judge P. H. Morgan. The Grand Jury ignored the charge of manslaughter against Eugene H. Levy, who shot and killed Thomas Hunt Choborn, at the corner of Cubon and Carondelet streets, whereupon Levy was ordered to be discharged from his bond. The Grand Jury found a true bill of murder against Juan Ferris, who stabbed and killed Joseph Connor on the 27th of January last, in Nuo's oyster saloon, on the levee, between Common and Gravier streets.

First District Court—Judge T. G. Hunt.—The following parties, convicted or who pleaded guilty of the offense after their names, were sentenced yesterday morning:

John Branton, assault and battery, four months in the Parish Prison. He struck his wife with a bottle, on Roman street, and has been in prison since the 9th of December.

Roger Murphy, assault and battery, $15 fine or ten days' imprisonment.

John Scott, larceny, four weeks' imprisonment. He stole $20 from Mrs. Agnes Hiller. He is a boy, and was specially recommended to mercy.

James Duffy, assault and battery, $10 fine or four days' imprisonment.

Committed for Trial.—Charles Miller, a couple of evenings ago, yearned for a pair of boots that he saw at F. M. Dunn's on Rampart street, and was unable to resist a temptation that offered to gratify his yearning feloniously. It was proved, and Miller was sent for trial to the Criminal Court by Recorder Emerson.

Recorder Emerson's Court.—John Horan, who dwelleth at No. 70 Baronne street, got treed by a Coon some time since on board the steamboat Autocrat, receiving a severe application upon the shoulder with a billet of wood. Coon was arrested yesterday and held to bail to appear for examination on the 19th.

Mary Curran's inordinate love of dress has gotten her into serious trouble. She feloniously possessed herself of a piece of barege worth $20, on Thursday, from the store of Marcon Freres & Co., at the corner of Baronne and Poydras streets, was arrested, taken into custody, arraigned yesterday before Recorder Emerson, and sent to prison in default of giving bail to await an enquiry on the 19th.

John Renford, alias Savage, alias Lynch, whose arrest as a fugitive from justice from Illinois we have already reported, was arraigned on the affidavit of special officer Miller and remanded until the 21st instant.

Martin Higgins, a brute of a husband, who lives on Delord street, was fined $25 for assault and battery on his wife, and in default of paying, to be imprisoned thirty days.

The following cases were dismissed: Denis Cherri, accused by officer Tardy of selling liquor to slaves, acquitted by a jury of slaveholders. John McDead, accused of horse stealing by John Majors—no prosecutor. Thos Meen, accused of larceny by Jake Landlow—no prosecutor. Peter Brady, accused of the same offense by Jas. Gibson—no prosecutor.

James Cavanagh and Mike Murray, charged with attempting to break into Maria Robinson's house at St. Mary's Market were required to give bond of $.50 for their good behavior.

SALE WITHOUT RESERVE—Boots, Shoes and Brogans.—The particular attention of buyers is called to the large sale, without reserve, of boots, shoes and brogans to take place this day, at 10 o'clock, at the salesrooms of E. Roger & Co., Nos. 45 and 47 Old Levee street. Terms at sale.

The attention of the trade is called to the sale at auction of 350 packages and lots of dry goods, laces, shawls, &c., by Vincent & Co., at their auction rooms, No. 29 Customhouse street, this day, at 10 o'clock; also, of 50 cases boots and shoes—all without reserve.

Preservation of the Sight.

MR. C. DUHAMEL, optician, No. 46 Chartres street, begs leave to inform all those whose sight is defective that he has just received a fresh invoice of patent Cylindrical Glasses, approved by the most renowned oculists in Paris, and Drs. Beard, Pemiliston, Crawcour, Nee and others in New Orleans. The cure is such that these glasses can be used without the least danger to the weakest eyes.

The most skillful opticians have made a report declaring that the above articles are unequaled by the best for the preservation and improvement of the sight. Their superiority over all others consists in the focus being equally divided over the whole surface, instead of being in the center only, as is the case with spherical glasses generally. The interposition of the two cylindrical curbs makes them besides achromatic, and, consequently, much clearer than the others.

Near-sighted persons will find a great improvement in these glasses.

A pattern showing the advantages of these new glasses will be exhibited and explained, on application to Mr. Duhamel, to all those who may be desirous of being further informed on the subject. feb11
