MESSRS. P. BLANCHARD & ACHILLE LION, Surgeon Dentists of the Faculty of Paris and New Orleans, have the honor to inform their clients, that since the 1st of June, they have united their offices at No. 44 Royal street, between Bienville and Customhouse (residence of Dr. Lion.)

The engagements they are under towards various institutions and the Convent of this city, to which they are attached, compel them to absent themselves many days in the course of the month. They have, therefore, deemed it expedient to form a Copartnership, as well on their own accounts as on account of their numerous Clients, in order that one of the two may be always in town, ready to receive all persons who may honor them with their confidence. The superiority of their work, and the care and promptitude exhibited by them, induce them to hope for a continuance of the patronage of the public. 8

DR. PEARSON, Dentist.

Persons wishing artificial Teeth inserted, can have it done at my establishment with less delay and upon more reasonable terms than any other in the south.

It has ever been my object to place it in the power of the poor as well as the rich to obtain relief and receive the benefits of dental operations. The great increase of my practice for the last year has compelled me to employ several skilful operators, among whom is an experienced French Dentist, whose services I have procured for a term of years at considerable expense. The Creoles may rely upon finding him always ready to attend to them—his operations will always be submitted to my examination and approval.

Institution for young Ladies.
Founded by Madame Arpin, directed by Madame Deron, late Miss Huet, ☞ Nos. 107 & 109 Burgundy st. between Conti and St. Louis streets.

MADAME DERON, late Miss HUET, in assuming the direction of the Institution, conducted for the last seven years by Madame Arpin, solicits a continuance of the kind support which has been justly extended to the instructress whose she succeeds.

A distinguished pupil of the "Maison Royale de St. Denis," possessing the diploma of superior Instructress, and formerly first Mistress in two of the most celebrated Boarding-Schools of Paris, Madame DERON, who has already passed several years in this City, is equally well known for the mild firmness of her character, and the excellence of her method of instruction.

She will be ably seconded by her husband, Mr. DERON, who has similar guarantees to offer to Families. Recently arrived from Paris at New Orleans, he is already known under the most favorable auspices. A Bachelor of Arts, a Licentiate of the Faculty of Paris, formerly a pupil of the "Ecole des Chartes," at the King's Library, and professor of Literature, History and Philosophy at Paris. Mr. DERON is also the author of several works. He will devote his whole time to the French classes in the different branches of instruction.

The English language will be the object of particular attention, governesses of acknowledged capacity, and a distinguished Professor, Mr. Oxton will be especially entrusted with the direction of the English classes.

Ladies of the most remarkable talent and eminent [illegible]

Madame Boyer will continue to give lessons on the Piano, and Madame Lavillebeuvre on the Piano and Harpe.

The other accomplishments will also be taught by the best Professors.

Such in a resumed form is the order of the Establishment, and such are the titles and means by which Mr and Madame DERON are enabled to assure parents that the studies of their children will be conducted in a superior manner.

As those considerations which constitute the order of education should prevail over all others, Madame DERON will principally exert herself to justify the confidence of Families by the physical, moral and religious care that she will bestow on her pupils.

To form in young Ladies, first the heart and the character and the mind; to inspire them with true and pure principles, to prepare them to enter the world with ease, but also with a profound sentiment of duty; to render them not only mild and gentle, but firm and upright, good and above all, to prepare them to become hereafter good mothers of Families, are the ends which Madame DERON proposes to maintain steadily in view.

The practice of such a system of education and instruction, Madame DERON ventures to hope, will secure to her all the esteem and confidence which it has already procured for Madame Arpin.

The terms of payment will remain as at present established by Madame Arpin.

WASHINGTON HIGH SCHOOL
For Young Ladies,
Under the direction of Mrs. de la Gracerie,
Esplanade st., bet. Burgundy and Dauphine sts.

THE method followed in the establishment fatigues neither the attentions nor the memory of the pupils. Books are not multiplied; and learning is rendered easy and attractive by the efforts of the Professor, and disengaged of the thousand futilities of routine.

Two Professors of the English Language and Literature are attached to the Establishment, which, recommended by the name of the Father of the Country, the immortal Washington, will answer the views of the parents.

The course of the studies will comprise the French, English and Italian Languages; Mathematics; History, Geography, Natural History and Rhetoric.

The younger children will be taught the rudiments of elementary education.

Mr. de la Gracerie shall have the special charge of the higher classes, and will, moreover, attend to the second preparatory class.

Music having become a necessary part of the education of a young lady, Mr. Curto, a Professor honorably placed in the esteem of the public, gives all enlightened care to the teaching of this art.—Each scholar will practice, every day, under the direction of an under Professor.

In order that parents and the public may follow the progress of the pupils, two examinations a year will take place, one in February—one in July.

Mrs. de la Gracerie, wishing to give to the children confided to her all the affectionate care of a mother, will receive but a very limited number of boarders.

Religious instruction is the object of a peculiar solicitude. The Catholic pupils are prepared for their first communion.

The Washington High School is situated in the most healthy part of the city. The rooms devoted to the classes are large and well aired and ventilated. The Directress invites the parents to visit her Establishment.
