Abuses

We have had frequent occasion to advert to and comment upon the flagrant abuses that characterize the Banking system of our city, and to show how fatal it has been to the interests of the community, in numerous instances we have pointed out their glaring inefficiency and wanton neglect, and we have appealed to the proper authorities to put an end to such a state of things. Our appeals have been in vain, such a state of things continues to exist, and we have to complain of the same evils, and to point out the same abuses, which we have so often before exposed. We have shewn how our public officers can be insulted with impunity by the lowest and yet suffer street scenes of a character to be enacted in broad daylight, which are a disgrace to our city, and a public nuisance. There cannot be a more notorious fact than that we have had frequent complaints, and that for the last year or two, not a single month has not elapsed, but the occurrence of some prominent case has been published in the press. We might show that the result of our miserable system of public administration, is the result of our miserable system of public administration, is the result of our miserable system of public administration, is
