TO DR. MAGNIN, inventor of the "Lucina cordial, or Elixir of Love"

"Respected and honoured sir.—We have all, in a variety of cases, tested the remarkable effect of your great discovery, and have assembled for the purpose of bearing evidence to the facts, and tendering you the honor which is your due. The "Lucina cordial" is, in our opinion, an infallible remedy for the prostration of the important functions, and artificial barrenness, and therefore must prove a blessing to the human race. We can also bear evidence that there is nothing in it of a mercurial or deleterious nature; and, in short, that it is one of the noblest medicinal discoveries of any age.

"With feelings of admiration and respect, we remain, dear sir, your obedient servants,
JOSSELIN ROSSUIT,
SIGISMOND DE LA MARTINE,

"LE CORDIAL LUCINE," or, in English, "the Lucina cordial," is a general invigorator of the human frame! In all the various cases of languor, lassitude, and debilitation, it is an unfailing remedy; as it is equally its province to impart cheerfulness and decision to the mind, as health and vigor to the body. But to the ladies it is invaluable, which its celebrity is based, in the facility and certainty with which it restores the virile powers, when they have been destroyed by disease, time, recklessness, or any of the numerous causes which terminate in the prostration of those functions.

In common with the generality of really good medicines, this cordial contains nothing of a mercurial or deleterious nature, among the many ingredients which compose it; but is, at the same time, so simple, yet so efficacious, that while it can renovate the prostrated energies of a giant, an infant may use it, not only with impunity, but with advantage.

The usages of society are unfortunately such, that, notwithstanding the benefits which would be sure to result from it, we cannot enter into an analysis of this invaluable cordial here, or publish many of the documents which have been received as vouchers of the blessings it has conferred on numbers of despairing individuals. But this we cannot forbear remarking—that it has been demonstrated that there is scarcely ever, if any such thing at all, as natural barrenness or as natural imbecility of the procreant functions, in either sex; and therefore, that those evils are the effects of artificial causes, which can be easily subdued and removed by the use of "Le Cordial de Lucine."

The Lucina cordial is also an indubitable cure for the gleet, and for the flour albus, obstructed, difficult, or painful menstruation; also for the incontinence of urine, or involuntary discharge thereof. It is likewise an invaluable cure for all the various cutaneous or chronic eruptions of the skin, and in the dropical affections of the aged.

COUNTERFEIT.—The public is respectfully informed that one of the bracazed and most dangerous counterfeits ever attempted has lately been brought to light in the city of New York; we mean an imitation of that most deservedly popular medicine known "Rowand's Tonic Mixture," for fever and ague.

We have but just put down an imitation called "Rowand's Tonic Mixture," by L. S. Comstock & Co., when another, still more dangerous, makes its appearance from the store of "Seaman & Brothers," No. 105 Water street, N. Y., in which the fac simile of the proprietor has been counterfeited—his copy right infringed, and forged certificates of cures, which are imitated in such a manner, that from its outward appearance, it can scarcely be detected. We would also say, that we have commenced a suit, in the United States court, for damages for this "piracy," upon our rights, and request dealers to be very careful of whom they purchase, unless it is some one they can be directly traced to the proprietor, or some one of his general agents, whom he has endeavored to select, as men enjoying the utmost respect and confidence of the communities in which they reside, and who, we trust, would disdain to lend their aid to the sale of any original "Rowand's Tonic Mixture," for the paltry gain of a few dollars, thereby endangering the lives of their fellow citizens.

Successor to the late John R. Rowand, No. 349 Market street, Philadelphia.

HUMAN HAIR.—It is certainly true although not generally understood, that the roots of the hair always remain in the most abundant profusion, and that there not only exist more roots in the skin of every individual than hairs growing from them, but in the worst cases of baldness, that they remain perfect, nor are destroyed, and unless by accident or disease there should be complete derangement, or destruction of the parts which nourish and sustain them, we maintain that they (the roots) continue vigorous, and are capable of producing hair, if required, when the hair has fallen, from fevers or from constitutional causes, either in the old or young."—[Extract from S. I. Beale & co's treatise accompanying Beals' hair restorative.

MESSRS. L. I. BEALS & Co invite those who are bald (in any degree) or who are losing their hair, to call at their office, 194 Broadway, opp. Howard, and have their Hair Restorative applied without charge until the hair is restored.

They further offer to enter into a contract with any party to restore the hair under the penalty of a forfeit of from two to five hundred dollars, said party being bound in a like sum, to be paid when the hair shall have been restored.

The original certificates of gentlemen of the highest standing in the city, may be seen at the office 194 Broadway, showing once tearibly that Beals' Hair Restorative has proved a perfect success, and that it is now not sufficient to satisfy the incredulous (of whom there are a great many on account of the numerous humbugs that have so impudently palmed upon the community) secular demonstration will be given to the public every fair day.

The ladies are respectfully recommended to the use of Beals' Hair Restorative, as it is certainly infallible in producing an abundance of new hair when it has become thin, and in preserving and beautifying that which remains.

Beals' Hair Restorative will keep it in excellent condition, and preserve a full head of hair in health and beauty to the latest period of life. Price $3 per jar. A liberal discount to those who buy to sell.
