

THE BEE.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 24, 1857.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

FIRST MONDAY IN NOVEMBER. ADMINISTRATION TICKET.

From the Boston Gazette of the 27th Aug. The French company commenced their performances on Monday evening.

The boxes, especially the lower row, were well filled; but the pit, owing to the extravagant price of admission to that part of the house, contained comparatively but few persons.

The performances were frequently interrupted during the evening by individuals in the third row and gallery, who initiated the singing and otherwise annoyed the actors.

A violent pugilistic battle was carried on for twenty-five or thirty minutes, and the clouds of spittle and blood from the nasal organs of some of the young and promising citizens.

An Irish gentleman, a stranger in the city, is said to have displayed uncommon courage and intrepidity.

Another gentleman, a sort of "half-breed" and half-gentleman, from the western states, is said to have displayed uncommon courage and intrepidity.

The lawkeepers officiated as little holders on the occasion, and the disturbance continued till the close of the afterpiece, when some of the party we believe were escorted to the watch-house.

It was a subject of general complaint among the reflecting part of the spectators, that there were no police officers present to quell the riot—it was emphatically a riot, and of so boisterous a character that many of the ladies retired from the boxes, and the actors and actresses on the stage were literally frightened out of their parts.

The scene was the most disgraceful one that has occurred in our theatres.

Observance of the Sabbath.—We noticed a few days ago the proceedings of a meeting at New Orleans, in which some of its most respectable and promising inhabitants took part, having for its object to resist, or rather to show the impotency and weakness of, any combination of individuals, to deprive, of their accustomed means of livelihood, such proprietors of stages and canal boats, as should not take the same views of the obligations of the Sabbath, as the members of such combination.

We have since received, in a pamphlet form, and published entire, the proceedings of that meeting, together with a few prefatory remarks in explanation of the circumstances that led to it.

The uncompromising and intolerant spirit evinced on the occasion referred to, by the Reverend Mr. Wisner, is not, we fear, so remarkable and peculiar, as at first sight might appear.

In this instance, however, it has been productive of good, in having given rise to the very frank, proper, and manly proceedings, of the meeting in question.

Whom it is to check the impudencies, though doubtless conscientious, zeal, that seems to have some portions of the community on the subject of the Sabbath.

The American brig Leontine, 3 days from New Orleans, bound to Buenos Ayres, was spoken by the French squadron, now in this port, the Captain of which desired to be reported.

Accounts from Gibraltar state, that on the 4th inst. a man, supposed to be one of the principal gang, was taken by the Topaz, was arrested, and after examination, committed for trial.

Several articles were found in his trunk supposed to have been plundered from the Morning Star, and Topaz. On the 6th another of the gang, as was supposed, was arrested.

[From the Boston Patriot.] Some admiration was probably swept an account of a dinner in Dexter, Me. to the State-mill office, which was published on the 2d Aug. Twelve hundred persons celebrated the 4th of July, said the account, they were for Adams, and all the rest for Jackson.

The New England Society have discovered that two or three slight cases of infringement of their rules have been made in some of their first sales, by buying in goods.

Another French frigate has been launched at Cherbourg, called La Belle Gabrielle.

FOREIGN ELECTIONS.

In looking, however, to the probable events of the Russian conquest, we cannot conclude these observations without one remark. We sincerely wish to see Egypt, the great and most important member of the Ottoman Power, not only completely emancipated from the Turkish yoke.

As such inimical to the Americans. This is especially the case in the Lower Province, and whatever difference exists in the Upper Province, it has arisen from the excess of settlers from the states.

The people thus circumstanced, had we a smaller interest in those colonies than we have, merit full protection against sudden invasion; and provided the forefathers projected by under able direction, and no job is made of them, a case which ought to be particularly guarded against, they will render our fellow subjects there, in conjunction with their own country, amenable to any invasion of the Americans.

The speech of Mr. Huskisson on this subject, was full of sound and enlightened views.
