INSECT TENT.

A NEWLY invented article called an insect tent is now offered at the public sale No 46 St. Charles street, opposite the Exchange Hotel, of such a pleasant and novel form and construction, and so light portable and comfortable, that it must meet with universal approbation.

As a complete protection against all annoyance from all winged insects, without causing the least incumbrance in a room, this tent is all that the most fastidious could possibly desire. It would give to the inhabitants of warm climates a comfort and luxury never before approached by any other mosquito fixings. The tent is suspended from the ceiling of the room, limb of a tree, or any other thing to which it may be desirable to attach it, and may be tastefully adorned at pleasure. It is so constructed that it may be instantly folded up into a bulk not larger than an umbrella, and run up to the ceiling and be as much out of the way as a suspended lamp or chandelier would be, and at may be as quickly unfolded and put up for use. The time required to form the tent or to fold it up out of the way will not require more than the minute. It will be an ornament to a room instead of an unsightly incumbrance, and so simple in its construction that it can not get out of order. It is intended to be used for sitting, reading, writing, dining and sleeping under, and, to be used in bowling, counting losses and calculations, and may be used by travellers—pleasure or parties of pleasure, when in the woods. People will never know the comforts that they may be laid in sleeping in this warm mosquito country until they try one of these newly invented tents. The tent is of the following dimensions and of any desired richness in ornament.—Those now made are 8 feet square, and 6 feet 6 inches in diameter, 10 feet 3 inches high, and when folded up will make a bulk of 4 feet 6 inches long and 9 or 10 inches in diameter. The cost of one is only $12.

The public should examine this new tent, especially as it will effect them many comforts which they little dreamed of. The cost of the present enjoyment of the ordinary mode of protection against insects. This new insect tent is really one of the most useful and comfortable contrivances of the day and must soon be used by every family either in the cities or in the country.

The above description of the insect tent may appear extravagant and calculated to give a false estimate and coloring to the matter as it too often is the case with authors and advertisers of new things, but the public may be assured that no puffing or flattery has been made in this article, of which people will be convinced by calling at 46 St. Charles street.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS, New-Orleans, May 11th 1841.

THE undersigned is authorized and prepared to contract for the cutting of a channel through the Bayou of Bay River, above the town of Alexandria, provided the same can be done in accordance with a plan and estimate made by the late T. Dunbar, Esq. Civil Engineer, of the State of Louisiana, and also with an appropriation made for that purpose by the Legislature of the State—all of which can be seen at the office of the Board in the city of New Orleans, on application to E. Koussan, Secretary, No. 25 Old Levee street.

The person or persons contracting to do this work will be required to give bond with good and sufficient security in a sum of at least the full amount of the contract, or to stipulate that one third of the value of the work or progress is retained by the Board, to secure a faithful execution of the contract. It is confidently believed that highly advantageous terms can be obtained by persons as may be disposed to enter into a contract for work of the character here proposed to be done.

THOS. W. CHINN,
