CONGRESS. Dec. 18.

In the SENATE, The following resolutions, offered on Thursday, by Mr. Woodbury, were read a second time, and agreed to:

"Resolved, That the Committee on Finance be instructed to enquire into the expediency of reducing the duties imposed on imported coffee and teas.

"Resolved, That the same committee be instructed to inquire into the expediency of allowing a drawback on the exportation of rum, spirits and cordage, when manufactured here, from foreign materials."

On Tuesday, Mr. Barnard presented the memorial of the American Convention for the abolition of Slavery within the United States, recommending to Congress the abolition of Slavery in the District of Columbia, which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

A resolution offered on Monday, by Mr. White, instructing the Committee on the Judiciary to inquire into the propriety and necessity of so amending the Judicial System of the United States as to place all the States in a similar situation; and furnish to the citizens of each an equal opportunity of having a true administration of justice—was agreed to.

Mr. Dickerson signified his intention of introducing a bill for distributing a portion of the revenue among the several states.

In the HOUSE, on Monday, Mr. Cambreleng presented a petition from New York, with seven thousand six hundred signatures, against the present auction system.

The President sent a message to the House, with copies of a correspondence with the representive of the British government, relative to the surrender of fugitive slaves, as called for by a resolution of the House on the 8th inst.

December 20.

The following bill was twice read and referred:

"A bill extending the time within which merchandise may be imported, for the benefit of drawback."

Memorials were presented from citizens of Baltimore and Philadelphia, against the auction system, which were ordered to be printed.

The bill for a drawback on sugar, was read a first time.

Drawback on Sugar refined.—The bill granting an extension of drawback on sugars refined within the United States, was read a third time, and the question being, shall this bill pass, the debate was renewed, and the bill warmly opposed by Messrs. Gurley, and Brent, of Louisiana; Mr. Stevenson, of Pennsylvania; and Mr. Wilde, of Georgia; and advocated by Messrs. Cambreleng, of New-York; and Southerland, of Pennsylvania; and Mallary, of Vermont; when the question being taken, it was decided in the affirmative, and the bill passed and sent to the Senate.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

The packet ship William Byrnes arrived on Saturday from Liverpool. She sailed in company with the Alexander of Philadelphia, and the contents of our papers received by her have therefore been mostly anticipated. Our London papers, however, are to the 7th inclusive—one day later than our dates by the Alexander. We make a few extracts:

The Morning Herald of the 7th, observes that "the frequent conferences which have lately taken place between the French Ambassador and Lord A—— have induced many persons to suppose that the Courts of France and England are arranging some important measure relative to the affairs of the East. That these conferences are of an important and pressing nature may be inferred from the fact of Prince Polignac delaying a visit to France, which we have heard he was on the point of making several days ago. The Austrian Ambassador has, too, received frequent despatches from his Court within the last week or two—a circumstance calculated to strengthen the opinion that something is on the tapis respecting the Turkish and Russian war." After mentioning the arrangements of Austria to increase her army, the Herald expresses its belief that France, England, and Austria, will make a strenuous effort to induce Russia to conclude a peace.

Letters from Seres are quoted to show that the Russians have extended the principle of their maritime blockade, and submitted Salonichi, as well as the Dardanelles, to its operation.

Florence, Oct. 16.—The disputes between Naples and Tripoli have assumed a very serious character. The Government of Naples will have some difficulty in getting out of them with honour. It is making great armaments, but it must have a new loan, and a negotiation with the cosmopolite Bankers is already spoken of.

Spaign.—On the 21st October, the first division of the French troops passed under the walls of Madrid on their way back to France. On the two succeeding days, the second and third divisions took the same route.

We have received news from Catalonia of an alarming nature. The friends of the old government of the Cortes, who are suspected of conspiring against the dignitaries of the province, continue each day to be led to the convict prisons and dungeons. Eight or nine French and Italians, who were seized on suspicion of being Freemasons, are designated by public rumour as being the cause or pretext for these arrests. The gaoler of the great prison of St. Peter has lately been thrown into the dungeons of Cantavieja. The strong prisons of Spain are filled with unhappy wretches whose political opinions have been the cause of their confinement. The Count de Mirasol left Perpignan on the 5th of October, for Reycula; he has been occupied for the last three months in endeavouring to extirpate some bands of robbers which have shown themselves in the mountains of Catalonia.—French Pap.

The Nuremburg Correspondent, of the 1st instant, informs us that the Lithuanian Corps of the Polish army has passed into Poland Proper, the whole military force of which now amounts to between 70 and 80,000 men. The price of corn remained as high in that Kingdom, and in the most fertile provinces of Russia, as before the exportation of grain to Turkey had been prohibited. Speculators bought up corn in every direction to send to Odessa, where it was supposed it would be wanted for the support of the Russian army in Bulgaria and the Principalities.

Jassy, Oct. 18.—The taking of Varna has caused the greatest joy here, and confirmed the opinion of all those who know the valour and perseverance of the Russian armies, that nothing can shake their firmness. Varna was never before taken, or a Turkish High Admiral made a prisoner; this first instence will not fail to have a moral influence on the Turks, which must be heightened by the generosity of the Emperor, who, according to letters from Odessa, gave the Capitan Pacha his liberty, who, with 300 men, took the way of Idos.

Letters from Malta announce that the Tripolitan Corsairs have taken seven Neapolitan prizes; they have been put under seal by the English Consul, and for the present confided to his care. The crews of four of the prizes have been brought to Malta on board a Dutch ship.

Shopping.—An American in England went to hear the celebrated Rowland Hill preach, and heard him tell the following story in the pulpit:

Speaking of patience, he said he would tell us a story—"I once went into a shop where there was a clerk, a very pious young man, and while I was there, he was obliged to haul down goods in piles from the shelves, and spread them out, and then lay them away again, and pull down more; and all for nothing in the world, but to gratify the curiosity and caprice of a parcel of idle gossipping customers, who didn't want to buy any thing. But I must tell you by the way, that this practice is very rude and uncivil. Some people don't care how much trouble they give. They'll go into a shop, and have piece after piece taken down and unrolled—when they don't want to buy a farthing's worth. I'll tell you what, it's very rude and vexatious—I'd have you learn good manners. Well, seeing how much unnecessary trouble the young man was put to, I said to him, these people make you a great deal of labor—you must find it very vexatious to wait on such unreasonable folks. O no, he said, it does me good; it teaches me the grace of patience."

Ladies who are fond of going a shopping, may as well, perhaps, send over the good preacher's sermon on patience a second time.
