Day and Boarding School for Young Ladies.

Founded in 1836, by Madame Lelris, and conducted since 1840, by MADAME DESRAYAUX; Burgundy street, between Customhouse and Bienville streets, New Orleans.

MR. and MRS. DESRAYAUX, formerly in Mount Rampart street, having removed their institution upwards of a year ago, to more eligible accommodations, assure parents and guardians of youth, that their new building in Burgundy st. has met their expectations, and implies a necessary (in effect) almost indispensable requisite—viz: ample accomodations, adapted to the object they laid in view. It is scarcely necessary to state, that the building which they erected, is supplied with all the modern improvements for the comfort and convenience of domestic life, and for educational purposes. The apartments are spacious, airy, well lighted, and properly furnished. The large and well shaded garden in the rear of the building affords a healthy recreation of the pupils, is found to be attended with many advantages, as regards health, exercise and amusement; and, as every improvement has been made, at no small expense, to increase the facilities of education, to guard the health of the pupils, and to secure their comfort and happiness.

The Institution provides thorough and substantial instruction in every stage and department of education. It possesses great facilities for the acquisition of the French and Spanish languages (the medium of Music; and it is sufficient to say, that no efforts will be wanting to sustain the reputation which the School has already acquired in these departments.

DR. MACAULAY, who has taught in the Institution for upwards of five years, and who divides his time equally between it and Mrs. Macaulay's, takes the entire charge of the department of English Literature, including Natural and Moral Philosophy, and teaches not only the outlines, but enough of Mathematics, Chemistry, Geology and Astronomy, as to enable young ladies to understand all the ordinary phenomena which are constantly presenting themselves to their observation.

For further information, the proprietors of the Institution respectfully refer parents to their prospectus, published in pamphlet form, to be found at the book stores and at the Institution.

G. BOYERS INSTITUTION,

No. 148 Conti street, between Dauphine and Burgundy.

MR. G. BOYER, founder of this establishment, the oldest in New Orleans, seizes the opportunity to make a new appeal to the confidence of parents.

The institution is conducted in a large mansion occupying a fine central position, being well ventilated, and the other parts perfectly healthy.

The range of studies which engage the attention of the pupils, extends over all the branches of learning, which are necessary to a useful, polite and finished education, from primary instruction, to the more abstruse subjects which are specially the province of a college course.

The elementary studies are attended to with more than ordinary care, considering the decisive influence they exercise over the other branches of instruction.

Discipline, which must not be separated from assiduous study, is here treated as a science, conducted with solicitude. It is calculated according to the age and character of the students, and intended to give them an accurate idea of duty and good behavior.
