5. In all cases there is to be a forfeiture of the pay of the trip when the contractor fails, in all of more than three times the pay of the trip when the trip is not run, and no sufficient excuse for the failure is furnished, a deduction of one fourth of the part of it when the running of arrival is so far behind time as to inconvenience the country, depending mail, and a forfeiture of all and proportionate when a grade of service is rendered inferior to that in the contract. These forfeitures may be followed up into penalties of higher amount according to the nature or frequency of the failure and the importance of the mail.

6. Fines will be imposed unless the delinquency be satisfactorily explained in due time, for failing to give from, or deliver at, a post office, a mail, or any part of it; for suffering it to be wet, injured, lost, or destroyed; or conveying it in a place or manner that exposes it to depredation, loss, or injury. Particular attention will be given to the putting up of plantation and family stores, and all goods sold by the undersigned will be warranted to be such as represented.

OFFICIAL.

guarantee the faithful performance, which will be necessary to provide for the safety of the company, security, and regularity of the service. Bids for horse-back service, will be accepted in the proposals for the mail service, security, and regularity of the service, and will be considered as offering only for horse-back conveyance.

31. Bids will be received under the act of March 3, 1845, a new description of bid has been received.—It specifies no mode of conveyance, but engages to carry the mail with certainty, celerity, and security, using the terms of the law. These bids are called, from the manner in which they are designated on the books of the Department, "star bids." It has been decided, after mature consideration, that a bid proposing a specific mode of conveyance at a single price, when such mode of transportation is to be preferred to the star bid. The experience of the Department enables it to lay down the following rules:—

When the mail on the route is not as large as to require two horse coaches or a stage, the star bid, if lowest, will be preferred to the specific bid.

32. When the mails are of such size and weight as to render it necessary to provide two horse coach conveyance, the specific bid, though the highest, will be preferred to the star bid, to the extent of a mode of conveyance, specified in the advertisement, in case the difference is not such as to interfere with the policy of the new law, which looks to a reduction in the cost of the transportation. Exceptions, however, may be allowed, where the star bid is made by the present owner, of stock on the route, and it is manifest that the reason for preferring the specific bid do not exist in his case.

33. On the route where the highest class, where four horse coach or steamboat transportation is required by the size and importance of the mails, the preference should be given to the star bid, if it be lowest, and the contract for a greater extent of difference than on the inferior coach routes, subject, however, to the exceptions above stated.

34. A modification of a bid, in any of its essential terms, is tantamount to a new bid, and cannot be received, as it would place it out of competition, after the last hour set for receiving bids.

35. Postmasters are required to be careful and not to certify that sufficient guarantors are in existence without knowing that they are persons of sufficient responsibility, and all sufficient guarantors, and sureties are distinctly notified that in a failure to enter into or perform the contracts for the service proposed for in the accepted bids, their legal liability will be enforced against them.

36. The contracts will be substantially in the forms heretofore used in this Department, except in the respect of conveyance, and in other instructions and conditions; and on all railroad and steamboat routes the contractor will be required to deliver the mails to the post offices at the ends of the routes and into all the post offices not more than eighty rods from the railroad or landing.
