LONDON 13 March.

A pamphlet on Colonial intercourse has just made its appearance here, in which you will see how little decorum it is thought necessary for an English gentleman to preserve in canvassing the conduct and character of the American government and people.

There is nothing yet positively known of the nature of the Chancellor of the Exchequer's plans. The Wellington cabinet is characterized by its reserve and impenetrable secrecy...

New York, April 15.

The political state of France has not for many years appeared so critical as at the present moment. The sudden prorogation of the Chamber by the King, though an event not altogether unexpected...

But the Administration will suffer some inconvenience, as well as the people. The regular expenses of government, we believe, are always voted a year in advance...

If the Government should undertake to levy taxes for this or any other object, without the sanction of the Deputies, they would meet with obstacles of the most serious kind.

ed an armed force which had laid in ambush, announced that the Generals were his prisoners, and as the price of their liberation, that they should order within his ranks all that portion of their force which was composed of deserters from the insurgent army.

Will you allow me, sir, to enter into some short details on the practical part of the engagement of the subscribers to the non-payment association...

The perceptor des Contributions would demand the amount of the tax he was entitled to receive. On the refusal of the federalist to pay it, a legal sanction must be obtained from the Tribunal du Commerce...

In the mean time the tax gatherer is obliged to send the article seized to the public place for sale; not one alone, but five thousand; for the first day there would be five thousand of those who signed, of all classes, acting in the same manner.

The Tribunal itself would revolt at the wearisome unpopularity of affixing its signature. Ten thousand more condemnations on the second day, merchants, bankers, men of all classes including perhaps the relations, the friends or patrons of the very authorities called upon for their signature.

It is inferred, that the army might be depended on in the common routine of service; but the party spirit presumes to argue that it might hesitate, if called on by the present Minister of War, to act against its fellow citizens on any political emergency.

The same writer says, (and we mention it to show the accuracy of his anticipations.) "It appears clear to demonstration, that in answer to the King's speech, a phrase will be inserted in the Address of the Commons, declaring that His Majesty's Ministers do not possess the confidence of that House or of the country."

What will be the result of the prediction. Persons well acquainted with French politics imagine that the King will finally yield to the public voice, and dismiss his Ministers. At all events they are of opinion that the French people have had too much experience in the horrors of a Revolution to rush heedlessly into another.

From Chili.—The ship Lafayette, at Baltimore, has brought advices from Valparaíso to Jan. 10th. On the 14th of December the Constitutional army under Gen's Lastra and Viel attacked that of Prieto, and obtained a considerable advantage over it.

The paper of the 9th of January, gives a most gloomy picture of the instability of the government. "We believe," exclaims the editor "that the day is not far distant when the enquiry of every morning will be, who is governor to-day?"

Extract of a letter, dated Valparaiso, Jan. 1. During the warfare, we had an attack on Valparaiso by a body of Prieto's troops. The government here foolishly attempted to defend the place with militia. The consequence was, that during the attacks, in which the only lives lost was occasioned by the fellows accidentally shooting their friends, in the Mole, 1 or 2 stores were plundered.

The first native merchants in the country have suspended payments for the present, and no money consequently can be scraped together. The crops will be good, and mifing this season is successful in the province of Coquimbo; these will help us to get over the year without public bank rupture.

A great number of voters will support Mr. A. BEAUGAIS as a candidate for Governor at the election in July. Ship News. PORT OF NEW-ORLEANS. CLEARED. Ship Frances, Riler, New York, H W Barstow...
