NEW-ORLEANS.
WEDNESDAY (MORNING) JANUARY 5, 1831.

The mail of last evening, brought New-York dates of the 16th, Philadelphia and Baltimore of the 17th, Washington of the 18th, and Charleston of the 20th of December. The papers furnish no news of importance, either foreign or domestic.

CRIMINAL COURT.

The State vs. F. B. Trepagnier.—The defendant being convicted of having fired with a loading piece on a negro girl, 11 years of age, loaded with small shot, and wounding her in the thigh and legs, was sentenced to pay a fine of two hundred dollars and pay the costs of the prosecution.

The State vs. John Stanley.—Assault and battery.—The defendant being convicted of having committed an assault and battery on the person of an old man, was sentenced to an imprisonment of two months and pay the costs of the prosecution.

KENTUCKY CONVENTION.

A convention of the friends of the Union, of the American System, and of Henry Clay, was lately held at Frankfort. It was composed of delegates elected from every county in the State, and was, we are informed, very numerously attended; upwards of two hundred delegates having appeared to take part in its deliberations. On the second day of meeting, a series of resolutions were adopted expressive of the sense of the convention in relation to the unwarrantable measures and policy of the present administration. They set forth in a manner so clear and comprehensive, at the same time so temperate and dignified, the prominent objections to which General Jackson and his ministers have rendered themselves obnoxious, we think it will be an acceptable service to lay them before our readers. We entirely concur in the propriety of holding these conventions in the several States, and also, the proposed National Convention. There can be no doubt of the hostility of the administration to the great interest of manufactures and internal improvement, disguise it as they will; and the sooner measures are adopted to unite the friends of these interests, and bring about a separation between them and their enemies, together with all those who from sinister motives keep aloof and avoid declaring their sentiments, the better. Let these questions be thoroughly agitated, and a division take place on that ground, and we have nothing to fear. We are strong enough if our forces were united; and when they shall be concentrated in support of this most righteous cause, the voice from among them, of the fittest and ablest man to administer the government will give us little embarrassment.

RESOLUTIONS.

1. Resolved, That the preservation of the American System is essential to the prosperity of the people of the United States; and that its destruction would be prejudicial to their best interests.

2. Resolved, That the general government possess the power, under the Constitution of the United States, to encourage, promote, and construct internal improvements; and that the exercise of this power advances the common interests of the Union, and is indispensably necessary to the people of the western States; who, without it, would not obtain a fair portion of the benefits, whilst they sustain an equal share of the burthen of the confederacy.

3. Resolved, That the veto placed upon the Mississippi Road Bill, and the President's withholding from Congress the bill for aiding the completion of the Louisville and Portland Canal, were high-handed measures of power, without example in the practice, and irreconcilable to the nature of free governments; and that the reason assigned for them, are shown to have been insincere, by the wasteful expenditure of public moneys in other instances, recommended by, or proceeding immediately from, the acts of the President, and by his approval of other works of internal improvement.

4. Resolved, That the dismission, by the executive of the United States, of incumbents holding office for no other reason than their preference of one presidential candidate to another, is arbitrary and despotic; utterly hostile to the free exercise of the elective franchise, and is as pernicious and dangerous to the stability of free institutions, as it is adverse to their nature, and wrong and unjust in principle.

5. Resolved, That the appointment to office of such a large number of members of Congress by the present administration, is in direct opposition to the principles of a free government, and that the present chief magistrate, previous to his election; and that, coupled with the appointment also, of a disproportionate number of editors and printers of newspapers distinguished by their zeal in espousing his election; this convention cannot but view the tendency of both as inevitable towards the corruption of Congress and of the press.

6. Resolved, That the south-western Indians are entitled to the peaceable and quiet enjoyment of the lands secured to them by treaties with the United States; and that they are entitled tocede them to the United States, and that they have a natural right, recognised by those treaties, to live under their own laws, free from the disturbance of any state.

7. Resolved, That the duty is enjoined upon the President of the United States by his laws and treaties; to protect the South-western Indians in the enjoyment of their rights of territory and self-government, and that the wilful neglect of the President to execute that duty is a nullification, by his individual authority, of those laws and treaties, dangerous in precedent and practice, and in positive violation of his solemn obligations.

8. Resolved, That the recalling of our foreign ministers and sending others in their stead upon the obvious ground that they had been active and zealous partisans of the President, in the late election, are unjustifiable upon principle, or the former constant usage of the Government, and have been the occasion of a wasteful and extravagant expenditure of the public money, and in some instances of a degradation of the national character.

9. Resolved, That after the rejection in a full Senate, of persons nominated to office by the President, to nominate the same persons in the absence of some of the members, who had voted against them, and thus to procure the confirmation of their appointments, is derogatory to the character and fair conduct both of the President and Senate.

10. Resolved, That the claim of the South Carolina of a right to nullify, by her individual will, the laws of the United States, is an absurd pretension, destitute of reason or principle, and that this convention cannot but regret that the State of South Carolina has received countenance in that pretension by the support which the President has given to a similar pretension of the State of Georgia, to nullify the laws and treaties of the U. S. which relate to the South-western Indians; by the disregard which he treats of the obligations of those laws and treaties, and by the confidence and friendship which he extends to some of the advocates and propagators of the South Carolina heresy.

11. Resolved, That considering the alarming tendency of the principles and practice of the present administration, the mischief which it has done, and those which are threatened, this convention concurs cordially and unanimously with the people who constituted it, in the necessity of a change of the chief magistracy of the United States, and of the election of another citizen, who would administer the government upon principles more conformable to our free institutions, to the safety of the Union and to the preservation of those great measures of policy indispensably to the national prosperity.

12. Resolved, therefore, That Henry Clay be recommended to the people of the United States as a suitable person for their support, at the next election of a President of the United States.

13. Resolved, That it be recommended to the people of this State who concur in sentiments as to the propriety of this change, to elect delegates, during the next autumn or autumn, to meet in convention at Frankfort on the day of —1831, to nominate electors of President and Vice President, who will support the above nominations of Henry Clay; that it be recommended to them to enlarge the powers of the said convention, so as to enable the electors of nominating at that time, a candidate for Vice President of the U. S. States, and also, to nominate candidates for the office of Governor and Lt. Governor of this State.

14. Resolved, That in the event, that a national convention shall be held in the city of Washington or elsewhere, by the friends of our principles, previous to the next presidential election, that twelve delegates be, and they are hereby appointed, to meet in said convention, and represent Kentucky therein. The delegates hereby appointed, are authorized to fill any vacancies that may occur in their body.

15. Resolved, That five persons, to be nominated by the Chairman of this convention, be, and they are hereby appointed a central committee for Kentucky, to correspond with similar committees in other states, and with the various county committees which may be appointed in our own state, and that said committee be authorized to fill any vacancies which may happen in their own body.

16. Resolved, That this convention recommend to the friends of the American System, of the Union and of Henry Clay, in the several counties of this state, to appoint corresponding committees to communicate with the central committee, and also to appoint large committees of vigilance for the purpose of promoting the success of our cause in their respective counties.

17. Resolved, further, That our friends throughout the state, individually and collectively, be earnestly solicited to take measures in their several counties and districts, to insure harmony and energy in our elections, and to prevent a contest between the advocates of our cause, which is calculated to produce dissension and defeat.

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, December 14.

In the Senate yesterday several petitions and memorials were presented by different Senators, and none of any particular importance. The Senate, then, with considerable form and solemnity, resolved itself into a High Court of Impeachment in the case of Judge Peck, of Missouri. Three of the witnesses summoned on the part of Judge Peck, from their being elected members of the Legislature of Missouri, at present in session, refusing to attend, and their depositions having been taken in writing, to allow time to the managers on behalf of the House of Representatives to examine those depositions, and to consider their admissibility as evidence, the Senate adjourned its sitting as a Court of Impeachment at 12 o'clock on Monday.

In the House of Representatives yesterday, the replication of the Committee of Managers in the answer of Judge Peck was adopted, and the Managers then went up to the Senate. Various resolutions were adopted. A resolution was offered by Mr. Haynes of Georgia, to repeal the duty on foreign sugar, but the question of consideration being demanded, and the yeas and nays ordered, the House refused to consider the resolution. Yeas, 83, nays 99. There were four yeas for Clappin, and on the last ballot the Rev. H. R. Gurley was elected.

December 15.

Yesterday in the Senate, various petitions and memorials were presented and referred to the different Committees, and some notices of the introduction of future bills were given. Among the latter was a notice from Mr. Robbins of R. Island, of a bill to provide a mode of commencing, prosecuting, and deciding controversies between States, which is likely to create considerable attention. The Senate then went into executive business, after which it adjourned till this day.

In the House of Representatives, a number of petitions and resolutions were presented. Among the resolutions was one offered by Mr. Barringer of North Carolina, referring to the Committee of Ways and Means the expediency of reducing the duties on Iron, Cotton Bagging, coarse Wool, Sugar &c. on which the question of consideration was demanded, and the House refused to consider the resolution by a vote of 114 to 68. The other resolutions are not of sufficient importance to require distinct notices.

December 17.

In the Senate yesterday little business of interest occurred. The President pro tem. presented the report of the Secretary of the Treasury on the state of the Finances, of which 1500 copies were ordered to be printed. A communication was received from the President of the U. S. States, informing the Senate that owing to unforeseen circumstances, the Marshalls had been unable to complete the returns for the Fifth Census on the first of December, as was provided for by the Bill, and recommending a new Bill to be passed, extending the time for the outstanding returns to be received. Several Bills underwent a second reading, and some were referred to various Committees for revision.

The House was yesterday occupied on the Bill to establish certain Post Offices, and to alter and discontinue others, to which many amendments were made. Sundry resolutions were offered and adopted. A message was received from the President, stating that the Marshalls employed in taking the Census had in some instances failed to perfect their returns, and suggests the propriety of a law to extend the time allowed for this duty. Some other communications were received, and among them, one from Duff Green, proposing to stereotype the Laws and Treaties of the United States, and asking a subscription from Congress. The annual report of the secretary of the Treasury was received, and 8000 were ordered to be printed.

December 18.

Yesterday in the Senate, some bills were passed through various stages, and some resolutions of minor importance were adopted. The Senate then adjourned till Monday 11 o'clock.

The House was occupied in the consideration of petitions and resolutions. One or two private bills were reported by the standing Committee, and also a bill to amend the several acts respecting copy rights, which were forwarded. The Post Office Bill, as amended in Committee of the Whole, was then taken up, and considered; but before any question was taken, the House adjourned, till Monday.

NATIONAL INTL.

New-York, Dec. 17.

FROM SOUTH AMERICA.
We have been favoured with the following extract of a letter, dated
"St. MARTHA, 10th Nov. 1830.—The state of the country cannot be worse. We cannot tell when a civil war may break out here. It has commenced at Rio de Hacha, and probably it will soon be in the South, the greater part of the population (that is, the people of property) are against Bolivar, he relies upon the aid of the army. The lower classes, and the soldiers have no mind, no feelings at all on political subjects, and they are any one who will take the trouble to command them, so that the army of a few individuals by a few orders is sufficient to cause any insurrection or a revolution of a considerable extent."

"The news from the South is alarming. No communication between Bogota and Papeyapay. The real cause is not known."
"We are I assure you, in a horrible state; beggary, civil war, and starvation stare us in the face."
SANTA MARTHA, 10th Nov.—Owing to the wretched state of the country, business of all kinds is at a stand. No sales making, and no collections. Confidence is entirely destroyed.

GRANT JACKSON TRINIDAD IN BOSTON.—On Monday last the Hon. Mr. G. was received at the residence of Mr. B. having received about 2800 votes. "Gen. Lyman received about 700. Henry Oliver, (Gen. Lyman's S. T. Armstrong, J. B. McCleary, John Binney, Adam Bent, H. Farham, and R. D. Harris, have been elected Aldermen.

"The Jackson candidate.
From the Bath (Me.) Enquirer.

OUTRAGE.—The brig Elizabeth, Captain Sautorn, arrived here on Saturday last from Matanzas, and reports the particulars of a wanton and cruel outrage committed on his vessel and crew, while sailing out of that harbor. It appears by the protest of Capt. Sautorn, (a copy of which has been shown us by Col. Williams, a part owner of the vessel,) that having regularly cleared at the Custom-House, obtained his pass, and deposited the same, as usual in the Fort, he made ready for sea, and on the night following, while making down the Fort, returned the hail, which was made out by the vessel, by answering—"American brig Elizabeth, for Bath"—that the hail was several times repeated, and answered by Capt. Sautorn, as above; that a blank shot was then fired from the Fort, when Capt. S. ordered the crew to get the chain cable and anchor as soon as possible, which was done accordingly, and the sails all lowered to the masts; this proceeding never had been heard, as well as observed in the Fort; still the hauling was continued, and to the usual anchor, Capt. S. added "I will not let you go until you are afloat." Notwithstanding all this, a 24 pound round shot was aimed immediately after fired into the vessel, and passing through the bulwarks, struck and killed a poor considerable damage, and wounding the mate (Joseph Holbrook) and two seamen. On receiving the shot Capt. S. called the crew, saying—"for God's sake fire no more, or you will sink me," which he also repeated a fisherman near the vessel, to communicate to the fort. After which Capt. S. procured a Surgeon from the shore, had the wounds of his mate and seamen dressed, and the former removed; and on the following day made an authenticated complaint, to the proper authorities, of the outrage committed on his vessel, leaving the prosecution to the management of our government agent at that place.
