NEV-ORLEANS. TUESDAY, (MORNING,) JANUARY 18. 1831.

We were under the impression that the new arrangement with regard to the arrival and departure of the mails, was to take effect the present week. No mail however, was received yesterday, and we understand that none is expected before to morrow.

By the ship Pearl, Capt, Dunber, arrived vesterday from Tampico, we learn that in passing the bar at that place, her launch with 22 passenduty assigned him. When Stockton & Stakes P Dubertrand, Plauche & Courselle, 2 cows

He says, "the power to impose duties belonged originally to the States:" true, and they retain it yet, unless they have delegated it. "The States," he says, "have delegated their whole who was a member of the committee, and he authority over imposts to the General Government, without limitation or restriction, saving brought to him the order of removal. Mr. Munthe reservation relating to inspection laws."— roe solicited that his discharge might be entered Now here lies the very difficulty. It is contended that the power to by duties was conferred Barry said he had no agency in the removal, and domestic industry: and this is either a bold aseartion or begging the question.

"Congress have power to lay and collect tax-60, duties, imposts, and excises, to pay the debts, and provide for the common defence and genepay the debts, and provide for the common defence and general welfare. "This authority (says the President) to lay imposts having thus entirely passed from the States, the right to exercise it for the purpose of protection does not exist in them," therefore " if not possessed by the General Government, it must be extinct." But this is a novpolitical system would thus present the anomaly own industry; and he thence concludes "this surely cannot be the case." "This indispensaject expressly delegated to Congress." what authority has Congress expressly delegated to protect donestic industry? Yet in one case he pronounces upon the power of Coagress, although entirely mistaken as to the source from which it is deri ved; and in the other he decides that is necessary to obtain the power by an express grantby an amendment to the Constitution, it being a case of doubt.

The President declares the power to foster our industry indispensable So are internal improvements. He says he is supported by the opinions Brig Ella, Cole, Philadelphia, of Washington, Jefferson, Madison and Monroe. Schr Planter, Laverty, Liverpool, So he has the authority of their opinions for internal improvement and general education. He is confirmed by the uniform practice of Congress: so he is also by their repeated evercise of the right to make appropriations to internal improvements. He is confirmed also by the acquiescence of the States, and the general understand-States and understanding of the People in both & co; H R Lier & co. C Byrne, B West, R cases. After the luminous view of this subject, by Mr. Madison, no one could doubt that the power was derived from the general power to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several States. We may admire the political sagacity which has discovered that the right to protect Domestic Industry is an incident to the power to lay imposts and collect taxes to pay the public debt, and provide for the common de fence and general welfare. We may congratulate the friends of the Tariff upon this new version and original exposition of the Constitution and we hand him over to his friends in the South.
