NEW-ORLEANS.

MONDAY, (MORNING,) JUNUARY 24, 1831. The mails for the whole previous week, were received on saturday evening, and so inundated the Post () fice, that no papers could be obtained till yesterday morning; when a few were received, and the remainder were delivered by the half-dozen at a time during the ty. Among these is a grandeeship; bestowed day. Though we were thus prevented from reading them in the orderly and methodical manner we could have desired, and obliged to commence almost at random in making our selections, will we impute no fault to the Post Master; he doubtless had his full share of trouble, by having the business of eight days thrown upon his bands to be performed in a single day.

In the first paper we laid our hands upon, the New-York Standard, we found the announcement of an arrival from Liverpool of one of the packets, a week later than the last intelligence. Our extracts are from that journal; and though the news is less complete than that furnished by the Commercial Advertiser of the same date, still it fills our space. The latter was received too late to avail ourselves of its contents. We will make up the deficiency to-morrow.

LONDON, Tuesday, Dec. 7, 1830. We publish to day the elamination of the ex-Ministers of France. The report of the Charman on the Peers' Commission on the examinations and depositions submitted to them by the other chamber, or taken by themselves, is prefixed to this body of evidence. It seems to be a comind abstract of the evidence, but it is scarcely o, sufficient interest to be read on this side of tal water. In the report of the Chamber of Deputies many uniounded imputations, were countenanced which we have since been abandoned by the other mamber. Among these charges was t of knowing the fires in Normandy, with which Prince co.ignac had probably as little to do as the Duke of Wellington with the fires in Kent. The amission of the Peers examine this subreat lenta, and conclude by the following
