Bank of the United States .- There are in his conmry a class of politicians who affect to iffirehend great danger to the liberties of the cople from the power and influence of the Bank of the United States. Like the Russians who feared the valour of King Richard and saw the ion-hearted hero in every bush, they see in every new branch which is established increased danger. One of our contemporaries, who is inually warning the people to beware of the "mammoth," says that the directors are sending agents through the country in order to ascertain where they can establish branches, and inti mates that the object is not so much to aid the commercial transactions of the country and satisfy the pecuniary wants of the people, as to obtain such an influence as will enlist them in its favour, and thus silence opposition, and procure existing appearances much more was calculated. From Wille's Price Current of this day General Remarks-The Mississippi has rise since our last six inches, and was yesterday forenoon 31 feet below ordinary high water mark. The weather has been warm and generally fa vourable for out door transactions. Our city is considered healthy, and fully as much so as ev er known at this time of the year. Annual vis itors and those of our citizens who are in the habit of leaving the place, have nearly all taken their departure to different places, where amusement or business was their pursuit. Commerce The rage for pulling down old houses, and building up new ones, erecting improvements where market during the past week, are few and unimportant, and will be noticed below.
