

THE BEE.

PUBLISHED DAILY BY JEROME BAYON.
FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 11, 1832.

GOVERNOR.
J. HAWSON.

Yesterday's sporting will furnish no news.
By the ship Henry Lee, which arrived here yesterday from Havre, we have received our regular files of Havre papers to the 23d, and Paris to the 23d of March, both inclusive. The intelligence they afford, is anticipated by the recent arrival of the ship Hibernia, at New York.

The mail is now conveyed from Washington City to Cincinnati in four days.
Mr. Van Buren has been elected a member of the Royal Asiatic Society of London.

The legislature of Maryland, at its late session, has incorporated a company, with a capital of $200,000, for the purpose of forming a line of wagons to travel night and day, from Baltimore to Wheeling, by which means goods may be conveyed in six days instead of eighteen or twenty-five, as is now the case.

Cholera in the West Indies.—The following extract from the correspondence of the New York Journal of Commerce merits attention:
St. Thomas, April 7th.

Letters received here yesterday from St. Kitts, state that an English ship of war had arrived there from Barbadoes, with the colors on board. Twenty-five cases occurred in three days, but none of them as yet proved fatal.

Conservation of Chatham street Church.—On the 28th ultimo, Chatham street theatre, in the city of New York, was consecrated as a place of public worship.

Chief Justice Marshall.—A new steambot of this name was lately launched at Wheeling, Va., which is said to be one of the most splendid that has ever floated on the western waters. The Wheeling Gazette says, that "the main cabin contains thirty-two large berths, so constructed with alder venetian doors, as to form a tight and secure bed room. The ladies' cabin is more spacious than any other of the kind, containing double berths, each communicating by a door, with the main cabin. The fore part of the main cabin is a 'Social Hall,' about twenty feet in length, on each side of which are the officers' rooms, bar, &c. The casing around the berths in the main cabin, wainscoting, &c. are of mahogany and satin wood, &c. a fully blended. The curtains are of green silk and orange satin damask; and all the furniture is of the most costly and magnificent kind. We noticed as an appropriate decoration at the upper end of the cabin, an admirable portrait of the venerable Chief Justice Marshall, taken last winter at Washington, by Mr. J. R. Lambdin. Her eye-head is a bust of the same individual, from the chisel of the celebrated Knap, of Philadelphia.

"The Chief Justice Marshall measures about 200 tons, and is expected to carry down stream, 300. Her upper part, &c. is of tin plate, laid down on an improved plan. Her engine is very powerful, and is believed to possess some valuable improvements, not hitherto adopted, with reference to speed and safety."

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Matamoros, to his friend in this city, dated
"MATAMOROS, 29th April, 1832.

A courier arrived here yesterday morning, bringing the treaty made with Gen. Teran by the commissioners sent by the congress of the state. The governor had himself at the head of 700 men, and accompanied by the vice-governor, had directed his course towards Tampico. Col. Parades, who was at Victoria, had ordered out, so soon as he heard the intelligence, a company of infantry, which were to be joined with a company of cavalry, who were to be ordered to the direct line of march, and had intercepted the flight of the retreating army from that place. Gov. Vidal Fernandez had succeeded in capturing all the rest of the delinquents, however, had been made prisoners.

ITALY.
Letters from Rome state that the Pope has convoked a congregation of Cardinals, to take their advice on the conduct he is to pursue in regard to the diplomatic conference which is about to be opened. The congregation, it is said, has answered, that the Pope could not recede in any manner in the affairs of the states of the church.

The Anglo-French Gazette of the 20th inst., contains the following extract from a commercial letter from Bologna, dated March 13:—"The Austrians have not more than 6000 men in the legations. The public opinion of the provinces already evacuated by the papal troops, boldly declares itself against the government of Rome. It is in vain for the papal authorities to have recourse to violence, none of the pope's edicts have as yet been executed. While the gain of the government, the Roman cardinals preferred the direct opposition course, without considering the insufficiency of its resources; and in order to raise the discontent of the people to the highest pitch, has prohibited the circulation of all foreign papers, and broken all communication with Italy."

It also contains the following:—"We learn by letters from Trieste of the 11th inst., that intelligence was received on that day of the arrival of a small English squadron, consisting of a frigate, two cutters, and a brig in the port of Ancona."

It is asserted that the French expedition has been undertaken in conjunction with England, and that the united force are to continue in possession of Ancona, until the Pope shall have consented to the concessions proposed for the reception of a strong corps of troops, in Tyrol for the legations. Preparations are making in Tyrol for the reception of a strong corps of troops. Several regiments now stationed in Galicia, Moravia, and Bohemia, have received orders to march for the Tyrol. As immediately after the landing of the French at Ancona, several divisions of the Austrian troops in the Tyrol, Volberg, and Stiria, made a movement towards Italy, and, as since that time there is great activity and movement among the artillery train, many reports of war are naturally current here. It is certain that the political relations here have become much more complicated by the occupation of Ancona, and their solution will be a difficult task. For the last eight days no letters have been received from Rome or the southern parts of Italy."

The following is an extract of a letter from the eastern frontiers of France, dated March 10th.—M. Wisch, editor of the German Tribune, has just been arrested, and committed to prison at Dux Pons. A great effervescence was manifested in the place bordering upon Hamburg, and a considerable number of people, armed with bludgeons and pick-axes, went to Dux Pons to demand his release. On their arrival they were joined by the students of the Gymnasium. The two squadrons of Lancers were ordered to remain in their barracks, and did not show any hostile disposition; but the members of the Patriotic Association, or Vaterland National Guard, interfered between the troops and the insurgents, and undertook to keep M. Wisch from being delivered up to Prussia. The arrival of a segment of infantry at Dux Pons, from Lauenburg, was expected. Every thing shows that the middle class, which, although very liberal, is greatly alarmed at these disorders should bring the peasantry into the principal towns in order to support them, will rally round the government to secure the maintenance of order."

Affairs of Ancona.—(Extract from the Auxiliary Brevet of Wednesday, March 21st, received in Paris this morning, March 24.)
These three or four days past alarming reports have been circulating at Rome, on the subject of an enterprise of the Chouans against Ancona. These rumors, augmented by the interested exaggerations of the Chouans, have been received by us, and our readers will judge, by the following intelligence, that this affair is far from presenting that character of gravity which is given by interested motives.

Ancona, March 15.—Two guns of Ancona, which were sent to Ancona, were stopped near San Sotero. The Mars-la-Jaille (limits of the departments of Maine et Loire and Loire Inferieure,) by a band of from 20 to 25

Carlist riflemen, who were lying in ambush on their passage. They seized the guns, and took away the powder. The Mars-la-Jaille, who had no powder, had no other means to defend themselves.

March 17.—As soon as Lieut. Bevard, commander of the gendarmerie of Ancona, was informed of the guns having been carried off, he immediately set off in pursuit of the Chouans, and came up with them at four leagues from the city. There were thirty of them. An engagement took place between the few soldiers commanded by the lieutenant of the gendarmerie and the Chouans. It is affirmed that three of the Chouans were killed. Two of ours, B. Henaff, and a sergeant of the line were wounded. The former received a wound in the right part of the arm; the latter was wounded by a shot passing through his hand. It appears that the young officer led his troops, by far less in number than those against which he had to make head, with courage and sang-froid worthy of the highest eulogium. The Chouans supported the attack for some time, keeping up a brisk fire, and apparently commanded by an experienced officer.

Food St. James.—By the brig Jules, Capt. Crowell, says the New York Journal of Commerce, we have St. John, N. B., papers to the 17th inst. A law has been passed by the colonial legislature, imposing a duty of 10 per cent. upon all articles imported into the province, "not the growth, produce, or manufacture of the United Kingdom." The St. John's Observer remarks that this law had created a general excitement among the merchants of that place, and that a petition had proceeded to Fredericton, for the purpose of waiting upon the governor, and soliciting the adoption of a measure to counteract its effects. His excellency's consequence of their representations, a unanimous meeting of the council, to be held on the 18th, & it was hoped that the wishes of the merchants would be complied with. In the meantime a notice had been issued from the Treasury Department warning masters of vessels from Nova Scotia and elsewhere, against landing goods in New Brunswick, without the requisite permits from that department. At St. John, on the 21st of April, the steamer St. John, of 1400 tons, was wrecked. The vessel struck the Keulebecque river on the reef, was perfectly safe. On the 23rd and 24th there was a violent snow storm.

ENGLISH FREE TRADE.
Extract from Earl Grey's speech in the House of Lords, March 21st, 1832.
"It was true, as the noble Duke had stated, that it had been the practice of the country (England,) to protect its manufactures; and, with regard to the principle of protecting them, to a certain extent, he thought, with the noble Duke, it would be inexpedient to depart from it. The amount of that protection must, however, depend on the way in which it operated on trade itself, and the principle of free trade, was only to see how far, without injuring the manufactures of the country, those principles might be introduced for the general good, improvement and benefit of the country."

Dover-stories, April 24.—Jeremiah Myers was arraigned for the murder of Tomie Cook. He pleaded not guilty; and on motion of Mr. McDowell, counsel for the prisoner, the trial was postponed until Saturday, in consequence of the absence of witnesses.

The court then proceeded to the trial of McAra. On the part of the prisoner all the charges were preemptorily challenged, and two were refused ground being conscientious scruples against the punishment of death.

Each juror, as he was called, was asked whether he had conscientious scruples against giving a verdict where the punishment of death must follow. Those who answered in the affirmative were excused from sitting.

Mr. Head opened the case for the prosecution, and if he is able to prove all the circumstances which he has advanced in his opening, the jury must avoid returning a verdict of guilty. The testimony commencing to arrive.—Laquerie.

The witness Champlain, whose premature death cannot be too deeply deplored, had just completed his composition of the language and writings of the ancient Egyptians; but he had not yet arranged and digested the vast body of materials which he had collected during his late visit to Egypt under the auspices of the government.

The marble bust of the late chief Justice Jay, which, by a vote of congress, was ordered to be executed at the public expense for the hall of the supreme court, has been completed by Mr. Frazer, of New York, and placed temporarily in the library of congress. It strikes us as a very superior production of its kind. The marble is extremely beautiful, and we are confident that the work will be adjudged by the public to be of a high credit on the skill of the artist.—Not

Dr. Howe.—The following account of Dr. Howe's mission to Prussia is given by Mr. Willis, in a letter to the editor of the New York Mirror:
You have seen in the papers, I presume, that a body of several thousand Poles fled from the Prussian army, and took refuge in the northern provinces of Prussia. They gave up their arms under an assurance from the king that they should have all the rights of Prussian subjects. He found it politic afterwards to recall his protection, and ordered them back to Poland. They refused to go, and were surrounded by a detachment of his army, and the orders were given to fire upon them. They refused to fire, and the Poles taking advantage of the sympathy of the Prussian ranks, they were armed with clubs, determined to defend themselves to the last. The consequence of a return to Poland would be an immediate exile to Siberia. The Polish committee, American and French, with Gen. Lafayette at their head, have appropriated a great part of their funds to the relief of this body, and on our countrymen's part, Mr. Howe, has undertaken left Paris for Brussels, with letters from the Polish generals, and advice from Lafayette in all Polish confidences upon his hands. He is a gallant fellow, and will succeed if any one can; but certainly runs great hazard. God prosper him!

FROM POEMS BY C. SWAIN.
LAST WORDS OF LORD BYRON.
I must sleep now.—Byron.

The splendor of the poet's lyre—
The eloquence of his tone—
The spirit that pervades his verse—
The glory and the name—
The eagle wing that leaves behind,
The proud stars in its flight—
The power—the energy—the mind
Unutterably bright:

The heart that sheds its own bright hues,
And sings its own sweet strain;
Imagination's gorgeous views—
(That rainbow of the brain!)
Are all but transcripts of one truth—
Reflections of one ray—
And speak to man, and hint to youth,
Of future days—decay!

Sleep!—with thy glory round thy head—
Far from the grasp of wrong;
Sleep!—mightiest of the mighty dead—
Thou idolized of song.
Sleep!—thou hast won a living tomb,
Within the heart's warm core;
Nor grief, nor care, nor night, nor gloom,
Shall ever reach thee more!

I find my young eagle like a leaf,
On Time's dissolving stream;
To find existence frail and brief,
The record of a dream;
But earth shall be a thing forgot—
Existence but a name—
When British hearts remember not
Thy genius and thy fame!

Sleep!—with thy glory round thy head—
Far from the grasp of wrong;
Sleep!—mightiest of the mighty dead—
Thou idolized of song.
Sleep!—thou hast won a living tomb,
Within the heart's warm core;
Nor grief, nor care, nor night, nor gloom,
Shall ever reach thee more!
