The ship Jubilee had arrived at New York from Liverpool, with dates to the 5th of May. Although the intelligauce is very little later than that received by the Edward one from the N. Y. Commercial Advertiser, having nothing else with which to supply our columns.

We have jutelligence from Vera Cruz of the 11th inst. inclusive. The contest between Santa Anna and the miniscrialists was rapidly approaching its crisis. Ere now that patriot chief is in command at Mexico.

By the schooner Carmen, Torre, which arrived yesterday morning, from Havana, we have our files of the journals of that city to the 8th inst. inclusive. A tremendous hurricano commsuced there on the 5th, which lasted two ligs, during which the schooner Dolores was sunk off the Mole, a revenue vessel was driven ashore, and some other damage was done to the shipping.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM ENGLAND From the N. Y. Commercial Advertiser of June 5. At a late hour this morning the ship Jubilee, Lewis, acrived from Liverpool, whence she sailed on the 6th of May. Capt. La brought papers of the 5th; our files not having reached us, we have been favored by the edit ex of the Dady Advertiser, with a proof slip, from which we copy the following:

The New York Congier and Enquirer of the 4th instant contains some further translations from the French papers received by the Edward Queencl. The following are all the particulars relative to the disturbance at Maraeillas which had reached Havre up to the 5th of May, confirma tory of the extract from the Moniteur, which was published on Monday.

On the 29th, the public authorities received infoma-tion that the steamboat Carlo Albento, having M. de Bourmont on board, had sailed from Leghorn on the 24th ult. They also knew that the Carlis t party were making preparations for a movement at Marseilles, in the hope that M, de Bourmont, according to some, and the Duchess de Borri, according to others, would make By the mail of yesteday we have New York papers of the cessary to defeat these projects were taken. On the 30th, at 8 o'clock in the morning, a white flag was hoisted on the steeple of the Sant Laurent Church, situated in the old town. At the same time, a considerable assemblage of people collected on the cabesnel, and of very little importance, we copy it en- planade of la Tourette, to look out for the approach from sea of the steamboat-which was to bring M. de Bourmont, and numerous groups apread themselves throughout this part of Marseilles. One of these groups made there appearance before the building in which the Courts of Justice are held. M. Chezal, second Lieutenant of the 13th regiment of the line, who commanded the post there, summoned this assemblage of people to disperse. This having no effect, that officer seized by the collar the individual who appeared to be the chief of the band, and three him into the guard house. This arrest was followed by other imposing measures. The vigour exhibited by Lieut. Chazel produced a good effect on the seditions mob, and deprived of their leaders, they soon dispersed Mr. Menard Saint Martin, Ltu. Colonel on the Gen eral Staff commanding at Marseilles, marched at the same time at the head of 40 men of the 18th regiment of the line, on the S . Laurent Church, and re-hoisted there the tri-colored flag,

The National Guard spontaneously flew to arms.

The troops of the line marched promptly to the posts previously designated. The prefect seconded these measures by all the means in his power. At 6 o'clock in the morning, General Count de Dammeront commanding the division had inapected all the troops who received him with repeated cries of Vive le Roi, Vive, the tri-colored flag. A great part of the population collected in the public squares, partook of the continuiasm and epeated the same cries. At one o'clock or ler was completely restored, Torica.-We should pity a man for being a tory in these times. He is a poor creature that the march of events has left behind; he is like a short legged drummer boy who cannot keep up with the movement of the regiment; he is a being of a bygone age, singing an old oog, telling a forgotten tale; his mind is hung with ob webs; he is the preter-pluperfect tense of politics, he is an extract from the lumber room where we have brown our ghosts, witches and alchymists. We may augh at tories, there is no harm in that, inasmuch as The general opinion at Madeira, was that the island a man is not morally culpable for doing what he cannot But I would not p rsecute the poor creatures. I would let them live, if it were only for at tiquity's wake. -Edinburg Mag.

On how inconsiderable a thing the fate of a natio s sometimes made to depend! The fall of Robes-pierre was instened by the following circumstance, as clated in the life of the Empress Josephine :-

Tallien was the life and soul of the conspiracy oranized by the Mountain party, against the despotism of Robespierre. But the utmost circumspection wa necessary; and the conspirators were waiting for the pening of events, before striking the important blow. The former made a sign to and leaning on or all others imperceptible, soliciting Tallien's attention. It may easily be imagined with what anxiety both watched his motions, as they beheld him lift a cabbage ste from the window by Madame de Fontenay, and in which shehad concealed the following note:

'My trial is decreed-the result is certain. If you love me as you say, urge every means to save France

"Similar methods of communication were by no means unfrequent in these times of trouble disparted friends contrived to maintain a correspondence, frefriends contrived to maintain a correspondence, fre-quently by the most ingenious arts, and letters were transmitted to their destination concealed in fruits and flowers. Tallien, having secured his billet, conveyed n less poetical disguise, resolved on immediate ac ion. From agitation in the committees, he proceeded to the Convention, where, un-upon an arena, Robes pierre had prepared to meet his opponents.
