REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT,

ANDREW JACKSON.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

MARTIN VAN BUREN.

ELECTORS

OF PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT:

First District—JOHN B. PLAUCHE.
Second District—THOMAS W. SCOTT.
Third District—TRAVIS HOND LANDRY.
Fourth District—ALEXANDER MOUTON.
Fifth District—GEN. WM. H. OVERTON.

GOVERNOR.

J. B. DAWSON.

The papers from New York by yesterday's northern mail were of the evening of the 2d instant; Philadelphia of the 3rd; and Washington of the 4th. There had been no later foreign arrivals at any of the northern ports. The packet ship Erie, from Havre, August 22d, which was below at the previous advices, had come up. The political news was anticipated by the arrival of the Elisha Dennison: the market news will be found under its proper head.

We notice the following sales of stock at the New York exchange board, on the 2d instant:

600	shares of the United States bank,			119
114	do	do	do	118¾
520	do	do	do (time & int.)	118¾
850	do	do	do (cash)	119¼
80	do	do	do	118¾
110	New Orleans Canal and banking co			113

In reference to the above advance of two to three cents upon the previous prices of United States bank shares, for so large an amount (full 3000 scares) the New York Evening Post of the 2d remarks, significantly, though—Thomas Biddle, who figured in the investigations of the bank committee, is in town." Or perhaps the secret leaked out that Mr President Biddle's friend "Q" had succeeded in "converting general Jackson." Any thing will do for illustration, nowadays.

We understand, from good authority, that counterfeit twenty dollar bills of the city bank are in circulation. The counterfeiters have used five dollar bills of the same bank and altered them to twenty. They may easily be known by the vignette in the centre, which is exactly like that of the five dollar bills.

It seems that Paddy Scott is still cruising about in our waters. He was overhauled on the 13th instant, on land, between Beloxi and Pass-Christian, by capt. Colly, who took possession of his boat laden with baggage &c. which he restored to the owners, at the bay of St. Louis. There is a promise that the depredations of this notorious free booter will be arrested—when Mr. Clay becomes president! They constitute one of the prominent evils of this administration! What did captain H. do with his Paddy Scott?

Passengers, in the ship Chandler Price, John E. Mathieu, sailed from Philadelphia for this port on the 2d Oct.—Mr. Thomas A. Morgan, lady, two children and servant, Miss Mary Morgan, Miss Rachel Morgan, Mrs. Peuch, Miss Peuch, Miss Oellera, Mr. Plauché and lady and servant, Mr. Heriles and lady, Miss Roche, Dr. U. Clarke, Messrs. Magee, Ducluad, Gallagher, Newkirk, Davrainville, Dubarry, A. Foster, B. Foster, Duckworth, Fernes and Furst, and forty-three in the steerage.

The union once preserved—After the "great Napoleon" had been vanquished at Waterloo, and after his body had been imprisoned for life in a desolate and scorched Island, more than a thousand leagues from his "beloved France," John Bull despatched his Waterloo-victors to the United States to "catch brother Jonathan," and send him to Botany Bay, or to some other secure destination. They paid a visit to Washington, but not finding "brother Johnathan" at home, they burnt the capital and brother Johnathan's house, and set off for our city, saluting Baltimore, en passant, with the intention of dismembering Louisiana from the Union, and to make a British colony of her. With the determination, they approached to the very suburbs of our city, and on the eye of their attack, in order to stimulate in the soldiery the two most diabolical passions of their natures—blood and lust, the countersign, beauty and booty was chosen. But it was resolved by Andrew Jackson, "the brave Louisianians, Tennesseeans and Kentuckians that the union must be preserved." The invaders were vanquished, expelled from our territory, and the union preserved.—Historical.

Mr. Pleasants, of the Richmond Whig, says something like this, or probably the very thing: "that he will never injure, or aid in injuring, the private reputation or character of any person, because he may differ from him in political opinions." Mr. Walsh, of the Philadelphia National Gazette, thinks this so excellent a sentiment that it should be printed in large characters, and should be labelled all around every body. Mr. Gales, of the National Intelligencer, who has published the sentiment, and the commentary, has said nothing; but no doubt thinks the printing should be in golden letters, as nothing is valuable that is not in gold, or has not gold in it, bank bills excepted.—Those three editors may think the sentiment a good one, as it permits them to injure public reputation, or public character, at will. The maxim, when written out fully, will read thus—"I, Pleasants, of the Richmond Whig, will never willingly injure, or aid in injuring, the private character of any individual because I may differ with him in political opinions," "but in such a case, his public character or reputation is fair game, and I will injure, or aid in injuring him in that way in every possible manner." "We the editors of the National Gazette, and of the Intelligencer endorse the above maxim, adopt it in our code of political ethics and pledge ourselves, undeviatingly, to practice it."

LEADERS OF THE OPPOSITION.

JOHN CALHOUN.—In 1816, as a member of congress, he advocated the chartering of a federal bank—the protective system—and internal improvements by the federal government. Neither of these powers have been given to the federal government by the letter of the constitution; but he alledged that they were given in the spirit of it. In 1828, Mr. Calhoun takes protection out of both the spirit and letter of the constitution, and threatens to nullify all laws of congress which recognize and establish that the right of protection is still in its spirit, altho' he still loves the other two powers,—the bank and internal improvements, sticking there.

Mr. WIRT. He, like Mr. Calhoun, in 1816, believed that the constitution has a spirit which embraces much more than its letter, and that its spirit includes those three great powers, and as many more as interest may inspire it with. He is the candidate of a faction of fanatics who, declare their sole object to be, the extermination of masonry; and the means to be employed, is the exclusion of masons; and retreats from all offices of honor, trust, or profit. Should this Quixotic party get into power, they may employ, as a second means to distinguish their opponents, branding!

CHIEF JUSTICE WEBSTER—Mr. Webster is not yet chief justice, but will be, if Mr. Clay or Mr. Wirt, shall be president. This gentleman spiritualizes the constitution still more, until the letter of it is a mere immaterial circumstance—that by implication, the supreme federal court has the sole power and right of interpreting it, and that the president, and the members of the congress, although sworn to support that instrument, have been sworn with a mental reservation, (which is in the spirit of the constitution,) to support it in the way and manner that the said supreme court shall dictate to them. That said supreme court has in keeping the conciences of all the officers of the federal governmeat—legislative—judicial—executive and ministerial; and that it has the right of inspiring the constitution with all powers which it may think it should be there. That it has not a "general," but a king-sete upon the execution, and upon congress, in all things involving a construction of the constitution. That is a king, upon Mr. Jefferson's own maxim, which he says. "It should be remembered as an axiom of eternal truth in politics that what ever power in any government is independent, is absolute also,—as it is independent of the people of congress, and of the president, and were supervisory and dictatorial over them.

MR. CLAY—He, too, advocates a spirit in the constitution; and as this spirit was the handy work of men, men can make it any thing. That it is as elastic as India rubber, and expansible to any extent.—That it not only holds in its spirit, the whole American system, the United States bank, and the absolute supremacy of the supreme court, but is capable of holding all power—In fine, that it is a whole hog constitution in its spirit, excepting, when general Jackson vetoes one of those powers. This gentleman is as elastic in his principles as he makes the constitution in its spirit. He was born in "ignorance, indigence and independence;" and a Virginian thought the alliteration should have been kept up by adding, "impudence:" until 1816 he was considered to be a democratic republican In 1816, he assumed to its full extent the federal doctrine, that the constitution has a spirit, and within that spirit there lies many reserved federal powers. In 1828, after taking up the pretensions of Mr. Adams in one hand (his right,) and weighing, and laying them down, and then taking up the pretentions of General Jackson, in his other hand, and weighing them, and laying them down, he was mortally puzzled which should kick the beam—but he made Mr Adams president, and Mr. Adams made him secretary of state. This was done as a safe "precedent." When he and Mr. Adams went out, that cursed military chieftainism of general Jackson, which he did not discover four years before, when weighing pretentions, was for the first time discovered, fully, to him; and he cursed it with a curse as long and as bitter as the oath of excommunication. Since that time he has has been at no particular place, and with no particular associates: In the United States senate, he was with Mr. Calhoun in nullifying Mr. Van Buren—with Mr. Webster in establishing the supremacy of the federal court—with all who wished to nullify the letter of the constitution, and make its spirit every thing.—with the ultra tariffits in abusing that "heartless foreigner who never had an American feeling," Albert Gallatin—had great affection for the gay and philosophic Frenchman, the sober industrious Dutchman, and the kind hearted, open hearted, generous hearted Irishman, a true and bonafide descendant of "old Kentuc," before Ireland was convulsed from Kentucky and drifted over the Atlantic, and most unfortunate ly lodged by the side of England when she has been kept chained ever since—which said affection will continue until the approaching presidential election is over.—But should the French, Dutch and Irish vote for the military chieftain, woe woe! be unto them. All the chastisements, such as war, famine, pestilence, cholera, yellow fever, and such like, which his pious prayers can call down from Heaven, will be invoked and inflicted upon them!

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4

ALL HAIL HONEST PENNSYLVANIA —FALSEHOOD REFUTED!

The last New York Commercial Advertiser contains the following:

"PENNSYLVANIA!!!

A slip from the office of the United States Gazette informs us that Lancaster City gave a majority at the election on Friday, of 840, for the anti-Jackson ticket:—that there was no opposition to the anti-Jackson ticket in Bucks County; that Harrisburg and Reading have both given anti-Jackson majorities, and that no township in Lebanon County had given a Jackson majority. So far as had been heard the opposition tickets to "Jackson and misrule had been sustained throughout the State as soundly and effectually as in Philadelphia."

Now, the plain truth was, that while the old Tory Gazette was circulating such false "slips" for political effect, the democratic Jackson ticket in Lancaster had succeeded by several hundred—and that the ticket of the same character had succeeded in two Wards in Harrisburg by nearly 100 majority. Our extracts below from the Sentinel, will show the great re actions for the coalition in other quarters.

Our friends must expect, from this time, until the election is over, a series of these false "slips" from the opposition. It seems another "slip" was sent at the same time, to the New York Courier & Enquirer, a newspaper on their side now, which they used to say held, that "the end sanctified the means"—and they seem to have got the principle with the paper—but in fact this principle is no new acquisition to the Nationals.—Globe.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3

THE PROSPECTS.

Our accounts from every section of the State as to the result of the approaching election, continue to be of the most cheering character. We have received, since our last, many letters from our friends in several of the counties, and are sorry that a crowd of matter prevents us from laying them, this week, before the public. As an evidence however, of the spirit of democracy awake in the land, we give the following extract of a letter from one of the most respectable and influential democrats of the western country, from which our readers may judge of the probable result of the ensuing contest:

Extract of a letter, dated New Alexandria, Westmoreland county, Sept. 22, 1832.

"Huzza for old Westmoreland! Westmoreland is to the State, what Pennsylvania is to the Union, a keystone of Democracy.—The more prudent portion of our friends count on 4800 of a majority for Mr. Wolf in this county, but General——, who knows the county well, says he will bet on 2000 of a majority, and thinks the majority may be 24 or 2500.

"Fayette is now set down at 1500, and Washington at 6 or 800 majority; and Venango almost unanimous for our worthy Governor. So we go, and prospects are daily becoming more bright."

"We have omitted the name.—Am. Sent.

THE TOWN MEETING, last evening, was remarkably well attended. But a small proportion of those who were desirous to participate in the proceedings were so fortunate as to get into the court house, every avenue to which was crowded at an early hour. We understand that animated addresses were delivered by Mr. DALLAS and Col. PAGE.—Spirited resolutions were also adopted.—Ib

THE LATE ELECTIONS.—The opponents of the democratic party, in their extravagant exultation on account of a temporary triumph obtained on Friday last, have fallen into their old error—that of mistaking the city of Philadelphia for the State of Pennsylvania. By unexampled exertions, and the exercise of every species of influence, they brought upwards of four thousand votes, very nearly their whole force to the polls. The democrats, a majority of whom consist of mechanics and artizans, and who can never be brought out on the day of the ward elections, were taken by surprise, and suffered an unexpected defeat in three or four wards where they are ordinarily successful. In the other wards, our opponents generally succeed, or the difference in strength of the two parties, is so trifling as to render them at all times, doubtful.

Beyond the limits of the city and districts, the democrats have lost no ground.

In the city of Lancaster, in Harrisburg, Easton, Carlisle, Norristown, Mauch Chunk, Milton, and Pottsville; the democrats have carried their inspectors. It is reported, that we have lost Reading, but to balance that loss, if it be true, we have succeeded in West Chester.

The returns from Northampton, Wayne and Pike, are all in our favor.

In Milton, Northumberland County, the Jackson candidates for inspectors were elected.—Ib.

GOOD.—In Delaware county, democratic Inspectors were elected in the townships of Chester, Ridley, Lower Chichester, Darby, Upper Darby, Edgemont, Aston and Thornbury, by considerable majorities.

BETTER.—In Chester County, where the anti-masons expected to carry all before them, we have heard of the result in fifteen townships; in nine of which democratic inspectors have been elected, and there is reason to believe, that in a majority of the townships in Chester county, the democrats have been successful.—Ib.

GLORIOUS VICTORY.—The opposition papers in the city are exulting exceedingly at the glorious victory obtained by them in Tinicum Township, Delaware County. The entire vote of this township amounts, we believe to ten or fifteen votes!!!—Ib

Our opponents were boasting on Sunday, that they had carried in the city of Lancaster by a majority of between eight and nine hundred, and they found people credulous enough to believe them. It turns out that the democratic ticket succeeded there by a majority of several hundred! What story will they next raise, in order to excite hopes that can never be realized?—Ib.

From the Albany Argus.

SMALL COMFORT.

The Coalition must have been in great distress for a little comfort, otherwise they would not be so immoderately elated at getting a few votes more this year than they did at the last charter election in this city. They know full well that considerations not all connected with politics, influenced the votes of many of our citizens. After all, what mighty causes have the piebald coalition for triumph? Let us look at them.

MAINE, which at the last presidential election gave a majority of seven thousand for the Adams and Clay electors, has just elected a Jackson governor, by a majority of four thousand, over a Clay candidate: and will, as surely as the polls are open in that state, choose ten Jackson electors.

NEW HAMPSHIRE, which gave three thousand three hundred majority for the Adams and Clay electors, has given this year ten thousand majority for a Jackson governor; and no one is so fool-hardy as to question the choice of seven Jackson Electors by an by an equally large majority.

INDIANA, which has heretofore had a governor and legislature in favor of Mr. Clay, has now a governor and a majority of both branches of the legislature in favor of gen. Jackson.

MISSOURI, which was to be INFLUENCED (we use a mild term) by the Bank to go for Clay, has resisted the assault that was made on her character, and sustains her fidelity, undiminished, to the Hero and Patriot who now occupies the presidential chair.

KENTUCKY, which, just previous to the last presidential election, chose a Clay governor, has recently elected a fast friend of the President, and thereby more than indicated that her electors will be in favor Jackson.

ILLINOIS has proved, by her late election, that she maintains her attachment and will give her support to the present administration.

MISSISSIPPI has recently given renewed and decisive evidence of her abhorrence of Clayism, and her unwavering attachment to the man who has shed his blood in defence of her soil.

Even in CONNECTICUT, Mr. Granger's mission to get up a coalition, wholly failed. The Antimasons there had the sagacity to discover the Ass under the Lion's skin.

Little DELAWARE, which never fails in trying times to be true to federalism, is reported to stand firm for Clay; but RHODE ISLAND is doubtful.

Such is the aspect which the recent elections have put on Mr. Clay's prospects. What mighty causes for triumph!

[From the Angelica Republican.]

It will be seen by a communication from the town of Cuba, that TWENTY TWO of the former adherents of Mr. Clay, have stepped forward simultaneously, and entered their formal protest against the corrupt coalition lately entered into by the Clay and Antimasonic parties. They are, as far as we can learn, all men of unimpeachable character, and devoted friends to their country. They are fully aware of the hostility and persecution to which this step exposes them—but duty to their country seems to be paramount with them, to all other considerations.

RENUNCIATION.

We, the subscribers, having for several years been the friends of HENRY CLAY, and wishing to use all honorable means to elevate him to the Presidency of the United States, have steadily adhered to that purpose.

But we have seen with astonishment and regret, that a recent coalition has been attempted, by which the friends of Henry Clay in this State are made to unite with a party, which has been hitherto and now is inimical to the interest of Mr. Clay, and whose sole object is to elect Francis Granger, an Antimason, as Governor of this State, and to obtain our votes for electors of President, whose attachment to Mr. Clay is not only doubtful, but who have publicly pledge themselves to vote for Mr. Wirt, the Antimasonic candidate for the Presidency. Feeling that this coalition is as unnatural as it is base, and inconsistent in principle, we, as the friends of Liberty and Equal rights, do most solemnly PROTEST against this unholy coalition; and rather than contribute directly or indirectly to this union, we unhesitatingly and publicly avow, that we will give our votes and influence to the support of ANDREW JACKSON, and the candidate for Governor who shall be nominated at the Herkimer Convention.

To the Editor of the New-Orleans Bee.

The Anti-Masonic Clay men have exulted and crowed without bounds on the result of the ward elections in the city of Philadelphia. All the Greeks don't live in Corinth. Philadelphia is not Pennsylvania—and to back this my opinion, I offer to bet SIX HUNDRED DOLLARS that the electoral votes of Pennsylvania will be given to ANDREW JACKSON. The money to be deposited in the hands of any gentleman who is agreeable to both parties.

A YANKEE.

P. S. The money will be forth coming on application at the office of the BEE.
