TO DR. MANNIX, inventor of the "Lucina cordial, or Elixir of love":

Sir,—Your cordial has surprised me. We have all in a variety of cases, tested the remarkable effect of your great discovery, and have appointed for the purpose of bearing evidence to the facts, and tendering you the honor which is your due. The "Lucina cordial" is, in my opinion, an invaluable remedy for the production of the proper functions, and artificial stimulation, and therefore must prove a blessing to the human race. We can also bear evidence that there is nothing in it also fortunate, or deleterious output, and, in short, that it is one of the noblest medicinal discoveries of my life.

With feelings of admiration and respect, we remain, dear sir, your obedient servants,

JOSSELIN BOESUIT,
SIGISMOND DE LA MARTINE,
ADRIEN DECOUD,
OCTAVE MOODS,
JEAN BLANC,
ROBERT STEVENSON,
LOUIS OUTREAU,
PIERRE RIPPON.

"LE CORDIAL DE LUCINE," or, in English, "the Lucina cordial," is a powerful invigorator of the human frame. In all the various cases of languor, lassitude, and debilitation, it is an unfailing remedy; as it is equally its province to impart the vigorous and elastic energy to the aged, as health and vigor to the body. But the peculiar virtue on which it is especially celebrated is the fertility and certainty with which it restores the virile powers, which they have been destroyed by debauch, time, recklessness, or any of the numerous causes which terminate in the prostration of those functions.

In common with the generality of really good medicines, this cordial contains nothing of a mercurial or deleterious nature, among the many ingredients which compose it, but is, at the shortest time, so simple, yet so effectual, that it will in a few days restore the primitive energies of a giant, an infant may use it, not only with impunity, but with advantage.

The usages of society are unfortunately such, that notwithstanding the benefits which would be sure to result from it, we cannot enter into an analysis of this inestimable cordial, as we publish the certificates of testimonials which have been received as vouchers of the blessings it has conferred on numbers of despairing individuals. But this we can set down as a remarkable fact, demonstrated that there is scarcely a year, if any, in which the trial, on mechanical reasons, or on natural inferiority of the sexual functions, fails to be made, and therefore, that those evils are the effects of artificial causes, and may be speedily subdued and removed by the use of "Le Cordial de Lucine."

The "Lucina cordial" is also an invaluable cure for the gleet, and for those fluids, distracted, difficult, or painful menstruation; also for the incontinence of urine, or the involuntary discharge thereof. It is likewise an invaluable and unfailing medicine in cases of chronic eruptions of the skin, and in the despondent affections of the mind.

For sale wholesale or retail, at 65 Poydras street. Price $4 per bottle. mh14 tm
