

THE BEE.

THURSDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 10, 1832.

BDAWSON.

Among the various establishments in this city, during the fall of this year, the general aspect of the business is not so bright as it was some months since.

Mr. Speaker Starnes arrived in Washington on the 28th. He was accompanied by several gentlemen, and on the 29th he was introduced to the members of the House.

By doing so, he has done a great deal of good. It is necessary that our measures should be adapted to the necessities of our country, and that they should be such as to secure the most beneficial results.

The French army is now in possession of the city of Algiers. The Duke of Orleans, who has been appointed governor of the city, has taken the most effectual measures to secure the tranquillity and safety of the inhabitants.

As the result of emerging from the darkness of a dense and impenetrable forest, the high, stony walls of the city of Algiers, which were formerly the seat of the Turkish government, now stand as a monument to the power of France.
