Vienna, Feb. 20.—By an extraordinary conveyance we have received news from Constantinople that litrahim Pacha is continuing his march, and that the main body of his army has arrived at Akschebir, and his advanced guard to Kulahia. He declined entering into any negociation, and would not suspend his military operations except on positive orders from his father. Under these circumstances the Sultan had recourse to the Russian ambas addr, who immidiately sent orders to Schasiopol, for a Russian squadron to join the Turkish fleet in the Bosphorus. The Sultan likewise asked asked for a body of Russian soldiery, which had arrived at the Danube, but this aid the ambassador refused. PARS, Feb. 22.

The Augshourg Gazette of the 18th inst. brings us intelligence of the 18th from Vienna. Accounts had been evived there by express fism Constantinople, to January 3f, from which it appears that the agents dispatched by the Russian General Murawieff, to the head quarters of Ibrahim Pacha, to open negotiations, have returned to Constantinople without accomplishing the object of their mission. A kind of armistice, had it is true, been concluded but the term had mearly expired at the departure of the course from Constantinople. The representatives of the European powers are said to be highly dissestisfied with the state of affairs, as they expected a more favorable result from their proposals to Ibrahim Pacha. It was thought at Co stantinople that if an arrangement between Turkey and Egypt should not be effected soon, France would take an active part in the affairs of the East. The above accounts add that the army of Ibrahim Pacha is suffering from want of provisions, and regular pay. The disconented soldiers receive nothing but promises.

Panther turned Shop-keeper The last week in the Bow-ery, closed with an adventure which threw the street into panic, and will serve a turn for a paragraph. Owing to the negligence of the keeper, or to some other cause—no natter what—a large Puna or Painther, belonging among other untomosable creatures to the Menagerie, in the Bowery, escaped from his cage and sprang into the street—no person in the passage-way feeling disposed at the moment ether to obstruct his progress, or to seize him by the tait.

Being thus freed from bolts and bars, the pauther felt disposed to make the best use of his liberty. The people screamed and scattered in all directions, so that he had the side walk to himself, and he bounded along up the street in a swift and interesting mapner. But although he dove every thing from his path, scattering the people before him as a wolf would a flock of isheep, yet he did not find the travelling so pleasant on the pavenent, as the paths he had c, and will serve a turn for a paragraph.
