s but dding justipe on our part to Mr. Bayon, the pro or Ashingapite, to state that the following statement is of that he were maken and the publication of our at ex he is of every thing generally, that appears, which we just may happen: Ed.

MUONE tame an article appeared on the English of my juster, which I find, with the docpost regret, a differe attheir agranut the privile dictavors as cough sings to the offahlishment as I con with, and therefore I have entrusted the editorist department of My paper to gent tenies who have been could! wided by their political opinions and private condies requesting them, at the same time, to write when a shey might deem it proper, against, any abuses that at find their way through the several branches of our and city administrations. But I appeal to those gentlemen, and ask their to sayswhether it ever was mention that The Ben should be the channel through h personal attache should be directed against men in chies, who, in private life, enjoy the esteem and consideraminion I have over entertained of Messys. Paigus and Nature, and it is that opinion only, I admit I entertain of it. It is then with the deepest regret, that I have seen incher expressed in the article alluded to, and inserted in English page of my paper, and which only could have and its way there through misinferpretation of my regists. For that reason I think it my duty to disavow, cities, the article in question, not through any syprelienhave for public opinion, and breader Indeem it my as the editor of a paper.

es criag the soldical conduct of those two candidates, re oven apposed to it, and will oppose it as occasion require, with this assurance on in part, that in no wai any personal allusion be aimed at them, because I believe both of them inexpable of deviating from the path wards persons holding office. Consistency thou art hal the interest of the public would require at my hands to att up one side of the veil which their private life should be named, and then to expose myself fearlessly to the daggers and consequences which a hist may draw upon its ther. But till now, nothing that I know of has called 19 article of last Fullay may be attended, it was a duty zalen I owed to myself and to the public, to make win, that I neither suggested the article, or approved of publication, but that on the contrary, I entertain for deces. As a patriot, a citizen, a merchant, a legislator, in every public employment and all private relations, his long career of life has been without reproach, and dying at a reperable age, his monory will long be kept in affectionate rememberance. Yesterday the flags of the shipping in the part were displayed at half mast, as a tribute of respect to an aged citizen who had served his dometry fait fully and well, in numerous stations of trust, and by elevation and frumers of character and courtesy of manners, won universal regard for his personal virtues. A sketch of Mr. Sterrett's career would be instructive, and very acceptable to the community. We hope some of our elders who knew him intimately, will furnish them in detail.
