FOR GOVERNOR: J. B. DAWSON. JOHN H. HOLLAND. FOR ALDERMAN-5th Ward,

candidate for the office of Governor.

Our most worthy mayor, we question not, anticipates the most flattering results from his projected tour. The country people he no doubt expects to carry at first eight, wire rue, uch in the vanity with which he has been suffed up by some that have endeavored, with but too much success, to instil into his mind that he is incomparably superior to any other man in the state, both in his address and conversation. We have, for ourselves, no fears that he will "steal away men's bearts," and we feel almost certain that his visit of "instruction and review." will be to him a source of pain and mortification He will observe, to his sorrow, that our yeomanry are ready and quick in discerning a man's true merits, and that they are not to be deceived by false show or false pretensions .-When his partizans anticipated upon carrying the country people, by so shallow a device, they calculated without their The unsophisticated Planter is not to be whadled nor tricked by any such pageant, as an electioneering tour, into

It is known that those who have gone by Frankfort have been stopped in that city, in consequence of the refusal of the Austrian Minister, resident there, to put on their passport the vise or endersement, without which no foreigness are admitted into the Austrian States. As the refusal is avowedly founded on the knowledge of the object of their journey, it will be quite impossible for thour to proceed my further, the only assurance which he offered to them, as Frenchmen—viz: the interference of the French Minister at Frankfort, being necessarily withheld for the same real son that the refusal was made. Those who have chosen another road to Prague are likely to meet with obstacles equally detrimental to their progress.

The policy of this proceeding on behalf of the Austrian Government is scarcely to be reconciled with the austement which appears in same of the Darie and the control of their plans of the static manner and the control of their plans of the static manner and the control of the principal builtings of Paris are seen to fine effect, and while admiring it, we were teld that in the revolution of July 1830, Charles the control of the principal builtings of Paris are seen to fine effect, and while admiring it, we were teld that in the revolution of July 1830, Charles the control of the principal to the static manner and the provent of the principal to the static manner and the provent of the principal to the static manner and the provent of the principal to the static manner and the provent of the principal to the static manner and the provent of the principal to the static manner and the provent of the principal to the static manner and the principal to the static manner and the principal to the static manner and the principal to the prin

CHARLESTON, Nov 13.
SINGULAR PHENOMENON.—We learn that at 4 o'clock this morning, a most extraordinary appearance was exhibited in the heavens. It was that of myriads of stars shoot ited in the heavens. It was that of myrinds of stars shooting modify from their spheres, some a little obliquely, but the greater portion vertically, each, after a descent of a certain distance, exploding like a rocket, and disappearing.—This display continued from four until a quarter of six, when the increase of light rendered it no longer visible.—The appearance is described, by those who witnessed it, as having been at once grand and terrific. The learned in such matters will probably give us some explanation of this strange phenomenon.—Post.

In a few moments afterwards, the Queen entered from the same direction, accompanied by the Marchioness of Chanteret, the principal lady of the Court, followed at a short distance by the eldest daughter the Princess Mary, and Madane Malet, a Maid of honor—while the youngest daughter, the Princess Clementins, entered from the openite door, attended by the lady of the household, who is her governess and guardian, and followed by the third son of the King, the Prince Joinville, a midshipman in the nave of sixteen or seventeen.
