"THE UNION must be preserved," THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 11, 1835.

The democratic meet ng convened according to public me tice at Davis' bellroom, was held last even ing, for the pur pose of confirming the proceedings of the general convention held at Baltimore. The meeting was organized by calling MODESTE LE FEVRE, Esq to the chair; by appointing Messrs BERNARD MARIGNY and WILLIAM CHRISTY BE VICE Mosers Christy, Carter and Mercier of the committee being r squested to draft the resolutions and prepare an address to te previously submitted to an intervening meeting of said committee tomorrow evening.

The City Council held a meeting last evening, at which the Mayor in a message approved the crdinance organizing the department of ward commissation of police, making on ceptions however to some of its provisions and principles, and nominated commissaries, all of whom being of the quondam squad were rejected, except R. Montegut, who was saved by a majority of one in his favor. Mr Atocha having been found efficient as an accessor, was confirmed as commissary of the district hounded by St Louis, Dumsin, Rempart and Leves strests. They will accumulate in wince all they can but they will appear they will improve anot improve not improve the things. They will accumulate in wince all they can but they will appear in during the summer where they may. The insalubrity of New Orleans is assigned as a plausible present for their flight; yes they very magnanimously and musificently deay any sesistance to cradicate the means of that insalubrity. Extract of a letter from Naples of the 2d April:—"Yesuvius which had for the last formight given indications of an approaching oruntion, burst forth last evening in all its fury.—
During the afternoon a worm of hail and rain had detained the crowd of visitors at Resina, who would otherwise have been inevitably sacrificed, as the very ground round the crater, where hundreds had been walking only the evening before, was carried up into the air at the first explosion. The cope's girandola, of a thousand rockets, is a joke to it. At haif past nine (within less than three hours) the detonations ceased, and the fire gradually subsided. This morning there is not even the least smoke."

On motion, of R. M. Carter, Eeq, it was unanimously recolved that a committee of 30 norsons he appointed to draft resolutions in accordance with the object of the assembly, to be presented to an adjourned meeting to be held at the same place on Saturday next at 8 pm precisely.

and, the fully, that full interest must be paid on the money since the treaty was signed.

All things considered, France comes out of the husiness in a most pitful and unenviable manner. It will be a lesson to Louis Philippe for the future. As a salve, however, to the wounded vanity of the nation, the Franch ministers have concented to invert an article in the bill, to the effect that not a single lougs of the debt shall be paid until the government of the United States of America shall spologize to the government of France for the sharp passages in the government of the United States of America shall apologize to the government of France for the sharp passages in the President's increage, respecting the treaty. The American executive apologize to Lonie Philipps and his cabinett. They would as soon eat the treaty as humble themselves in this manner. President Jackson, perhaps, might be inclined to say, "If you ascert that you did not mean to play the rogue, then I did not mean to call you a scoundrel;" but this would be an explanation from only one part of the executive, and consequently incomplete. Such a step as this would require the joint concurrence of the President, the Senate, and the House of Representatives; and, if we know anything of the Americans. and the House of Representatives and, if we know anything of the Americans, they will never make an spology for have ment of a just debt.

What will the spole of the payment of a just debt.

What will be done? Must the matter remain as it is? No such thing. France must yield. The idea of an apology is very good, but that apology will never be made. Mr. Livingston will be recalled, (his time of office being nearly at an end) and the French ministry will pretend that this is a virtual acknowledgement, by the United States, that their ambassador acted injudiciously! The Americans will get their money, and they have asserted their rights. Cloak the matter as you will, America has frightened France into common honesty?

Nothing of the kind, however, was done; and the two innecent sufferer, after fourteen days usingt incarceration in the harrible cells at New Orleans, obtained their liberty through the instrumentality of their friends and the aid of counsel. Good, it appears, came on to New York, and when he met Mr. Wiley, he told him that Mrs. Wiley and booknill were living at New Orleans in a state of adultery. Owing to this, Mr. W received his wife coldly when she degree of indifference. Dockrill left New Orleans in twenty seven days after his arrest, and came on here in search of Good, but did not see him until he arcidentally met him in police office. Mr. and Mrs. Wiley were sent for and examinated the result was, that Good has been committed to prison in them. police office. Mr. Bild mrs. vibry were sent for and examination a proper understanding took place between all parties—and the result was, that Good has been committed to prise to take his trial for the perjury.—N. THE MIDNIGHT SKIES.

The midnight skies—the midnight skies-O what a solemn grandeur lies
Upon their brows eternal height;
And yet around them wreathed, there seems
A halo brighter than the beams Caught from the emiles of life and light.

The midnight skies-the midnight]skies-Millions of ever waking eyes

Look through their silent starry howers,

straining the wizard twin of death,

Sleep—thinly moving as the Sleep-thinly moving on the breath Of mortals-in this sphere of ours.

midnight skies-the midnight skie The midnight actes—the mining as an an in vain the unbeliever tries.

To laugh their shadowy terrors off;
For o'er his soul they cast a spell
Of God-head so incliable
As freezes on his lips the scoff.

The midnight skies-grand toundless The passes of eternity

Regions mysterious and sublime,
Stretched out upon the wings of time
Dominions of a Deity, We know that God is there-We know that God is there—
Bevond the ocean, when with wings of light—
He grie the morning with wings of light—
He spreads upon the sunr. y hour
The dark pavilion of his power,
And then we say, behold 'tis night,

Rut oh 'tis in the skies alone—
The skies of midnight, God hath showl
Perspectives to the deathless mind— Perspectives to the deathless mind ould never to the mind display Afar in distant glory shrin'd.
