NORTH AMERICAN HOTEL.—THE subscriber has the honor of informing the public, that this establishment, which will soon be completed, will be opened in a few days for the reception of boarders and lodgers. This hotel is situated at the corner of Bienville and Levee streets, in the middle of the crescent, along which New Orleans is built, and commands a beautiful view of both sides of the city and of Mississippi, which during the business season is crowded with masts, and enlivened by the arrival and departure of hundreds of steamboats. No expense will be spared in fitting up the establishment, and rendering it worthy of the public patronage. There are two stair cases, one for the general use, the other for private families. Elegant furniture has been ordered; and every thing necessary to render the hotel convenient and comfortable, will be prepared.

From its central position, it will be desirable for persons engaged in business, and from the prospect it commands, to every one of taste. Travellers and private families will be accommodated with the greatest care. The tables will be furnished in the best style.

The best wines and liquors of every denomination, will always be kept on hand for those who may call for them.

The subscriber assures the public that no pains will be wanting on his part to render the establishment comfortable, and to give satisfaction to all he therefore respectfully solicits a share of their patronage.

ORTHOPEDIA or distortion of the FEET. This important branch of surgery, the object of which is to remedy all deformities of the feet, having latterly become the subject of particular attention in France, and its treatment attended with desired success, the subscriber was induced during his residence in Paris in 1836, to devote much of his time to a thorough investigation of its theory and practice; and under the instruction of one of the most eminent practitioners there, he flatters himself that he has acquired such knowledge of the art as enables him with confidence to offer his services to the public.

All defects of the feet may be divided into two classes: the congenital, or such as take place before the birth, and accidental, or those which occur at different periods after it; and they are produced by a variety of causes, affecting the osseous, muscular or ligamentous system. All these cases may be completely and permanently cured. The time required to accomplish a cure will necessarily depend upon the nature and severity of the deformity, and the age and state of health of the patient; a congenital or very aggravated case of many years standing having been completely remedied. Persons desirous of ocular evidence may call on themselves by application to
