The storm of the 28th March has been attended with more diseastrous effects on the Francis Count D'Arsoott.

The storm of the 28th March has been attended with more diseastrous effects on the Francis content of shipwrecks which have ensued. The New York packet ship Francis Depau was off Havre when the storm commenced, and was compelled by its violation of shipwrecks which have ensued. The New York packet ship Francis Depau was off Havre when the storm commenced, and was compelled by its violation of the storm of the port, and was not got off and brought along side the quays till the morning of the storm commenced, and was not got off and brought along side the quays till the morning of the defences of the port, and was not got off and brought along side the quays till the morning of the defences of the port, and was not got off and brought along side the quays till the morning of the defences of the port, and was not got off and brought along side the quays till the morning of the defences of the damage she had experienced. The major part of her cargo had been taken out and placed under tents.

The American ship Harriet & Jesse, from Charleston, followed the Francis Depau, and after striking once or twice succeeded in getting sale into the harbor. The American brig Corinthian came next, unspected to the people of Havre, as, owing to the thick fog, she had not been seen before she was close upon them. She fortunately also succeeded in making the harbor.

The Sables-March Slat.—The brig Arrac of Rochelts coming from New York, with 330 bales cotton, 129 tierces rice and about 25 tons of Campaschy wood, has been shipwrecked on the coast of La Cassase—The craw is assess. It is thought that the Campaschy wood, and the cotton will be got uninjured, but the rice it is feared will be demaged. It is doubtful whether the vased will be got off as abe lies on a spot surrounded by rooks.

Captain Jolly, of the French ship Jeanne d'Are, arrived at Havre, reports that on the 30th March, being in 70 deg. 30 min. legitiate, cast, and 47 deg. min. latitute north, he spoke the American ship Eliza Ann, off Baltimore, lying to, with closed resent top sails, having carried away her jibboon and experienced other damages.

sails, having carried away her jibboon and experienced other damages. On the same day in the same latitude and longitude he saw a ship which he supposed was an American which had carried away her three topments, and was making a port in England.

A perition praying for the repeal of the geoexiption in force against the family of Napoleon, was to have been presented to the Chumberon Saturday, but he report of it was not brought up, and the circumstances excited much disappointment in the public galieries. Amongst the sudience we noticed several personages who figured on the political and military access during the Imperial regime.
