Extract of a letter, dated Lomon, May 14.

Mr. Jaudan has just concluded a bargain on behalf of the U. S. Bank, which may possibly have some efsect on your exchanges. The conditions of the bargain are these, that the U. S. Bank issue bonds to the extent of one sullion and a half sterling, £100 sterling per bond, redeemable at three periods of 12, 18 and 24 months, in equal proportions, with interest, payable in London at 5 per cent—both the interest and principal to be paid without reference to the exchange between the two countries. It has not yet transpired how the transmission of this sum will be conducted, whether in specie or by the Bank drawing.

Business appears to be going on prosperously in this centry, but money is more in demand, and will we think continue for some time, particularly if the operation above alluded to should be conducted up species.
