RUSHTON & ASPINALL'S COMPOUND TONIC MIXTURE.

A speedy and certain cure for the few-rand ague, or tit-and intermittent fevers; prepared from the original recipe. Used with eminent and universal success since 1822, by proprietors of the highest respectability in the city, as stated in the annexed certificates.

This medicine is highly recommended, and has been extensively used in the above diseases with such distinguished success as to the proprietor of the recipe has been induced to offer it to the public in its present form at the hope that it may be the means of relieving many of those who are suffering under the scourge of the country. For medicine possessing great virtue, and prepared according to the directions has never failed of effecting a cure, even in the most obstinate stage of the disorder. It is not at all disagreeable, and persons of the weakest stomach, and children may take it with safety. It strengthens the digestive organs, restores an appetite and seldom requires more than one, or at most two cures, two bottles to effect a cure. There is neither mercury nor arsenic in the medicine, or any thing injurious to the human constitution.

The proprietor has in his possession many certificates of the most respectable character, some of which have been taken in accordance with the directions given, but have not effected a perfect cure of the fever and ague.

PENMANSHIP.

Practical and Ornamental, Taught at DELBEAR & BROTHERS' Writing Academy, No 5 Bayou Levee—The extensive patronage which has been manifested to their system of writing throughout the United States, and the increasing application from all quarters to become pupils, as well as the numerous testimonials in their favor, as well as the public performances in New York, New Orleans and Mobile, and their attention to individual pupils, are sufficient evidence to the public that they are offering to them a system of writing unsurpassed by any now taught in this country. Persons residing out of the city have the privilege of attending a class here without any exchange. The Ladies' class is under the immediate superintendence of Mrs Delbear, whose experience as a teacher of Ladies writing is sufficient guarantee that every attention will be paid to their improvement. Gentlemen are taught in the most expeditious and fashionable style. A new system of commercial writing is introduced to facilitate business men in the transaction of their affairs, and to render the deciphering the handwriting of a merchant in most distant parts, and important to the clerk or book-keeper who may have to read it. Persons wishing the city will be waited on at their residence. The number of Lessons is not limited, but every one will be taught until a perfect command of the art is obtained. Terms moderate. Specimens of penmanship may be seen at the office of the Bee, and at the Academy. The author is also prepared to execute ornamental writing, executed with skill and neatness.

N B. D'bear's Specimen of Penmanship, containing a practical system of business penmanship, and the most approved forms for personal correspondence, and a variety of other useful and ornamental writing, executed with skill and neatness, and suitable for presentation, for sale at the office of the Bee. Price $1 50 each. Persons residing out of the city can have a copy forwarded to them by the first conveyance, by remitting the amount in a letter, post paid, directed as above.

A BEAUTIFUL HEAD OF HAIR is the gift of nature, and belonging to the human species, and is easily supplied to any young man who is in the bloom of manhood, and to any old man who is declining into the vale of years, by using Bogle's Bear's Grease, which is now universally acknowledged to be the best article ever offered to the public for the growth of the hair, whiskers, eyebrows, &c. Ladies are also highly delighted with it, as it makes the hair curl beautifully. Gentlemen are sought after and appreciated by the ladies in proportion to their luxuriant growth of hair, whiskers, &c
