NEW-ORLEANS BEER
OFFICIAL STATE PARKER
BY BULLITT, MAGN & CO.

Henry Johnson
THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 30, 1861

The Hon. P. K. Lowrey, of the United States, District Court, yesterday, after a short and severe illness.

The report of the death of Mr. Lowrey, M. C. of Indiana, has not been confirmed.

The election in Alabama takes place today. The bookeen will probably have all their own way.

The loss sustained by the late fire in New York is over $500,000, four-fifths of which was insured.

From the National Intelligencer.
PRESENTATION OF THE TIPPECANOE FLAG.
INTERESTING CORRESPONDENCE.

To the President of the United States, New-York, May 31, 1861.

In May last, the Tippecanoe battle-ground, in Indiana, was the scene of a great and glorious victory over the British army, and the survivors of that army, and the flag which was captured by the American soldiers, were deposited before our countrymen, as a living monument to the valor of our soldiers, and the success of our arms.

When the battle was over, the British army, which numbered some thirty thousand men, were driven from the field, and the American soldiers, who were victorious, were the victors of the day.

It is now, my dear sir, that the Tippecanoe flag is to be presented to you, and it is my duty to inform you that it is now in the possession of the United States.

The flag is now in the possession of the United States, and it is my duty to inform you that it is now in the possession of the United States.

THE PRESIDENT'S REPLY.
To the Hon. P. K. Lowrey, of the United States, District Court, New-York, May 31, 1861.

The flag which you have presented to me, is a flag which is well known to the people of the United States, and it is my duty to inform you that it is now in the possession of the United States.

The flag is now in the possession of the United States, and it is my duty to inform you that it is now in the possession of the United States.

BROKEN SWORDS—PROSCRIPTION.
From the Washington Globe of January 6, 1860.

It is the duty of the President to enforce the laws of the United States, and it is my duty to inform you that it is now in the possession of the United States.

THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH.
The President's speech, which was delivered on the 1st of March, 1861, is a most interesting and important document. It contains a full and complete statement of the President's views on the current events of the day.
