QUIGG'S PATENT COOKING STOVES & GALLEY.

QUEEN OF THE WEST.

THE undersigned, agent for the sale of this article, for the most extensive and to the notice of the New Orleans public, begs leave respectfully to solicit public attention to it.

He refers to the subjoined flattering testimony as to its economy, neatness and general utility.

We, the undersigned, have long used the common Guild's Patent Cooking Stove, called the Queen of the West, and do hesitate in expressing our unqualified approbation of it, for economy, convenience, neatness and general usefulness. We have used it for the space of 12 months, and have no hesitation in saying that we have not in use, it seems to have completed our great desideratum in a household stove, especially as it is of the same size and style of the old fashioned fireplace, and is in every respect like—and the cooking place over the oven brings the heat immediately in contact with the boilers, so that it can be used for all the different purposes of cooking, viz: boiling, roasting, and heating smoothing irons at the same time, and with the least possible quantity of fuel; and the daylight oven is unsurpassed for evenness of baking; and we have not all from the unanimity in the largest number of testimonials.

LIFE INSURANCE.

OCEAN INSURANCE COMPANY.—The absence of any public information in relation to the solidity and responsibility of insurance companies, has induced the undersigned to offer to the public the services of a company for insuring in Louisiana, one that is interested in the best insurance offered by any company to put into operation. The claims in this respect are based upon the following facts, viz: a capital of one million which will enable every one who wishes to insure at a moderate annual premium—a security for those who are insured—and on them a comfortable provision, in case of their death.

The rates determined on are, as nearly as possible, the average of those adopted by the London offices, and are somewhat lower in England—in addition whatever being made in the interest of the insured, and by this scale an annual premium of $1 50 will secure for a person 25 years old will secure the payment of one thousand dollars, and a premium should he die within the year—an annual premium of one hundred dollars will secure five thousand dollars—rules on this proportion for any sum insured.

The Company will issue policies for any term from one to seven years, on application to the secretary, at the office, No. 43 ☞ camp street, corner of Bienville.

By order of the Board
