Seraphin Brou of St. Charles is a staunch whig whose personal acquaintence we have emjoyed for years.—
The Inferroates makes him figure as a locofoco. Mr. Burton of St. Heieva is a whig. Our contemporary claims him as a loco. It is chrouse enough that mall this the Inferroates never places a mistake to the profit of the whigs. The locofocos are the sele gainers by its errors.

Caula: Adams.—Punch's Almanac for 1846, which forms a number of this inimitable periodical, contains some more of the adventures in life of the widowed Caulle. He marries Miss Prettyman, as poor old Mrs. C. always prophesied he would do; and straight way—even before the honey-moon is over—tegins to show No. 2, that she is to be Caulded, and not containing about 825 barries of flour and as multimount of shorts, shipped from Quincy, [1] roos, and contagned to Hullen & Woodruff, of New Orleans, was such acar Ratte Springs, to Caulder, and in the course of these twelve chapters, furnishes forth abundant proof that his No. I had set him an example which he means to follow by turning the tables on No. 2. 8 F The Jefersoman publishes a complete list of the Senators and Representatives elected under the New Constitution, and asks to be corrected if the committed any errors. Several gross gaigatakes occur in the political classification of the newphare for instance, Mr. Dial the Senator from Bossife and Claiborne is set down as a democrat. He is a whigh elected in consequence of the locofocos running two candidates in that senatorial district.

In this city Mr. Cassard and Mr. Beauregard are put down as locofocos. Sketches from Life by Lamin Blanchard.—The volumes forming Nos. 50 and 31 of Wiley & Puman's Library of Choice Reading, contain a number of Blanchard's choicest fugitive pieces, and are prefaced by a memoir of his life by 3ir Edward Lyton Bulwer. The melancholy fate of the author is well known, but his productions which exhibit rase humor, pathos, wit and brilliancy, are not familiar to readers on this side of the authon. Messre, W. & P. have added something truly valuable to our stock of literature in the complation of these volumes.

If we are to have peace with Mexico, as we hope that dare not believe, it should be known and guaratited. If we are to have sear, we cannot see about it too soon. It is absolutely precessiny for our own interest that some befinite and well-understood relation should be established. There is reason to believe, or at least to suspect, that negotiations, which may result in measures of the utmost importance to the country, are now on foot between Mexico and European governments. Now whatever polary our government may see fit to paraste in regard to Mexican boundaries, Mexican claims or any thing else, it certainly is important that they should be in a position to understand, and if necessary to counteract, any incovernment that may be on foot houstle to the anterests of the United States.
