New Orleans, May 2d, 1845. m3

NOTICE.—The new steamboat MATHILDA JANE makes two trips every Sunday, from the Ferry and ing at the foot of Canal street, to the Cabaret. Parents having children at their establishment, and persons whose business may call them on that part of the city, may profit by a means of transport equally safe and agreeable. At each voyage, the boat will wait one hour at the landing of the Cabaret, and will start from the Canal street ferry-boat each week, and on the succeeding half past eleven. The cost of the Caravan will foil it to their advantage and is a enterprise favorably received by the public, there will be, besides the two trips on Sunday, a similar one every Thursday.

The price of passage is 50 cents. Children and servants, half price. o23

TWO CAPTAINS OF VESSELS.—Masters of vessels will find the Court to take their cases to law their vessels up or down to another, by applying at the First Municipal or Steam Ferry Wharf, opposite the Public Square.

The boat has been built expressly for towing and has as much power in moving the heaviest class of ships. Steam will be constantly kept up so as to give immediate attention to orders. Terms most liberal. o26

TO MERCHANTS AND PLANTERS.—Merchants having machinery, sugar boilers, wishing lumber or any other kind of freight to send to any of the places along the coast. Also, planters wishing to have wood transported to their plantations. Those having lumber or any other articles to move will please call at the Steamboat Agency, where they will always find a spare steam boat to accommodate. The charges will be most reasonable. o26

SEVEN DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE GREAT WESTERN.

The steam ship Great Western arrived at New York on the morning of the 28th ult., having made the passage from Liverpool in sixteen days and a half. The advices by this arrival are to the 11th from Liverpool, and 10th from London. The Great Western brought out 128 passengers.

The news is of some importance, especially in a commercial point of view. The Cotton market was dull—more so than at the sailing of the last steamer There was less business doing, and prices had a drooping tendency. Nothing, says the European Times, is likely to revive the market, but the chance of a short crop. The accounts on this head from the other side are looked for with much avidity.

There is less uncertainty about the harvest than at the dates of our last advices. The crops are short.—owing to this deplorable occurrence to the poor classes of England, more orders have been received by the Western.

The Grain markets are on the rise. The European Times says:—The London market of yesterday advanced considerably—nearly 2s. per quarter. The remarks which we have made on one or two occasions recently, still apply to the Corn market. The present harvest will yield indifferently, and this, combined with the failure of the crop on many parts of the Continent, from which we have, in former years, drawn a large portion of our supplies, cannot fail to send the price of "bread stuffs" upto a higher figure than they have yet seen. The general failure of the potato crop is, as we have before stated, one of the primary elements, in this upward tendency of prices. It may be observed, however, that, as regards England, the disease in the potato, in many districts, has nearly disappeared, leaving only a small prab behind, which will not materially injure the properties of that valuable esculent.

The accounts from the manufacturing districts are upon the whole, encouraging. In the woolen districts of Yorkshire, business is brisk, and the same may be said of business in Manchester and the neighborhood.

The price of iron continues to advance, and on the manufactured article the dealers in Staffordshire have demanded, and obtained, an extra 20s. per ton, and pig 10s. per ton.

The discussion between the Repeal party in Ireland is spreading. "Young" and FOLD" Ireland are at larger heads, and the establishment of a paper under the latter title, which is intended to represent the O'Connell section of the Repealers, will make the breach wider.

O'Connell has been holding forth at Kerry, in a Repeal speech, pregnant with the usual topics.

The railway mania knows no abatement; it appears on the contrary to increase. The daily press are reaping a rich harvest by the prodigal outlay. All the leading organs of opinion are obliged to stint the readers of their customary quantity of intelligence, to make room for the lengthy prospectuses which are daily in temptingly colors how speedily a fortune is to be made by dabbling in their wares. The diurnals give every day a supplement as large as their regular sheet, stuffed with these announcements, and on some occasions a second daily supplement is found insufficient. The proprietors of the daily press are "making hay while the sun shines." Their charges on these announcements would be deemed incredulous in any country but England.—A leading morning paper receives, in the course of one week, as the present time, from the source to which we allude, as much hard cash as the Chief Magistrate of the Union is paid annually for his public services.—How many German princes would gloat over the revenues of a single London newspaper establishment.

The Quarter's Revenue in the Customs shows a decrease of a million sterling and an increase of the Excise of about £500,000. In the Post Office there is also an increase, and the Stamps and Taxes decreased, and the Quarter's Revenue, as compared with the corresponding quarter last year, shows a decrease of about £500,000. This is a large sum; but it is accounted for by the reduction of the duty on sugar, and the small quantity of foreign grain that paid duty this quarter as compared with the same period last year.

FRANCE AND ALGIERS.

Disastrous intelligence had reached France of the destruction of the French force at Djemira Ghezona, amounting to 450 men. The following are the particulars of the affair:—

The French officer commanding at Djemira Ghezona, a port situated on the frontiers of Morocco, was informed by an Arab that Abd-el-Kader was in the neighborhood. The officer, who was a brave and active man, thought took steps to repel the enemy, and placed himself at the head of about 450 men, which was the greater part of the garrison of the place, and went out in search of Abd-el-Kader. He had hardly proceeded two leagues when he found himself all of a sudden in front of a large body of Arabs, who attacked him on all sides. The commanding officer ordered the first bullet. The men defended themselves bravely and made a most desperate resistance, but their ammunition failed them, and they were all cut to pieces. Eighty, however, contrived to take refuge in a marabout, where they endeavored to defend themselves. For two days they kept the enemy at bay, but want of provisions, and especially want of water, drove them to the most desperate and disgusting extremes. Ultimately they were all destroyed, and, with the exception of fourteen soldiers who contrived to escape into the town, the whole of the rest perished. Abd-el-Kader, encouraged by this success, marched immediately on Tlamcen, in the hope of surprising Gen. Cavaignac, who happened at the time Abd-el-Kader came up to be in the field at the head of a considerable number of troops. He was immediately attacked by the Arabs and suffered considerable losses but ultimately the Arabs were repulsed. A colonel was among the killed. General Cavaignac then sent a large bodies of troops to the Morocco frontier, and is to place himself at the head of them; but it is thought that Abd-el-Kader will not meet the reinforcements, but, satisfied with his present success, will take refuge in the desert.

The news of the massacre occasioned great excitement in France. The Government took immediate steps to send 12,000 additional troops to Algiers, and are determined not to let the affair pass unrevenged.

The following persons have been elevated to the dignity of Peers of France: Lieut. Gen. Fabvier; M. Jard Panvilliers, Councillor of the Court of Accounts; M. Laurens Humblot, former Deputy; M. Legrand, former President of the Royal Court of Toulouse; M. Meonard, Judge of the Court of Cassation; M. Panizo d'Ivoy and Baron Ravierer, former Prefects; and M. Rousselin, First President of the Royal Court of Caen.

SPAIN.

The Madrid Gazette publishes the text of a treaty of peace concluded between Spain and the Republic of Chili. A full and complete amnesty is granted to all Spaniards and Chilians who may have taken part in any of the late dissensions between the two countries, and the independence of the Republic of Chili is fully recognized by the Queen of Spain.

Twelve men, who were sentenced to death by a court martial for robbery, have suffered the extreme penalty of the law. On the 26th ult. the execution of a bandit, called Pedro Vinals, took place at Gerona. It appears he had for a long time been the terror of the province, and when he was finally arrested he made no resistance. France, but was delivered up by the authorities in virtue of existing treaties. After his conviction he confessed that during his short career, for he was only thirty-four years of age, he had murdered nine persons and wounded many more. He had joined the Carlists at the age of 14.

ITALY.

Italy has been the scene of another isolated and ill-contrived attempt to bring about a revolution in the state of the Church. It occurred at Rimini, and is of little importance, excepting as indicating the unsettled state of society, and the certainty, at no distant day, of a terrific outburst in the Roman States.

RUSSIA AND CIRCASSIA.

Letters from Odessa confirm the accounts of the reverses experienced by the Russians in the Daghestan. The army of Prince Woronzo had arrived at Gherzai, a fortress on the frontier of the Circassians.
