Gen. Taylor, previous to the attack, is said to have had no idea of the extent and strength of the Mexi-can fortifications. But the valer of this troops faltered at no opposition. Besides the soldiery, he had to hight the whole mass of the Mexican population, who fired from the tops of their houses and did great exe-cution. To particularize the performance of any on-regiment or command, where all did so well, would be an injustice. All have gained imperishable hon-or. Gen. Worth has covered himself with glory. His tactics, as displayed in the capture of three of the most important forts, will vie in brilliancy of execution with those of Wellington or a Ney.

Maj. Ridgely has won new honors. For cool, determined bravity and skillful manosuvring, he receives the highest praise. ceremined brawtry and skillful manosuvring, he receives the highest praise.

Capt C. F. Sinth is also highly spoken of.

The Texan and volunteer troops have gained imperiabable renown. The Texan ridemen, with axes and spades, pieked holes from one house to another, and drove the Mexican initiatity from street to street As they gained the houses, the dread rifle was unself to do its work. The Mexicans were driven from the streets and house-tops. A Mexicans among was borneon the shoulders of our men to the root of a house and made to play upon the enemy.

When the flag of truce was received and the capitation agreed to, the whole Ariny was disappointed It was only then that they were beginning to "tell" upon the Mexicans. Previous to this, they had been fighting them protected by their breastworks, and at every disadvantage. Now they had got amongs them and were giving them a does which was operating effectives.

The immediate consequence is a tremendous war of words between England, France and Spain. The remote consequence will probably be the destruction of the entents covelate which has no long existed between the courts of St. James and St. Cloud.

It is hoped that the sudden extinguishment of the fires on the altars of two young hearts will not prove the means of exciting a general conflagration among the crowned heads and kingdomd of Europe.

The total failure of the potato crop appears to be a sad reality. Every where in Ireland and in the greatest part of the British Island the potato fields are shrouded with the dars manties of the plagae. The vegetable has turned into putrid matter, which even the logs will not devour.

From the pontinent of Europe, including Russia, we have dissual accounts of the progress of the blight. The future use of the potato, as an article of food, is now almost jabandoned.

There can no longer be a question that the refusa of the Mexican Government to accept our popusition for peace instead of relaxing our own measures wit stimulate our Government to a more viscoustic of the Mexican Government to accept our popositions for peace inatead of relaxing our own measures will stimulate our Government to a more vigorous prosestions for peace inatead of relaxing our own measures will stimulate our Government to a more vigorous prosestion of the war. We must bring its pressure home to the people of Mexico. We must nake them feel the evils of the war more strongly, in order that they may appeal to their own Government for peace. It cannot be denied nor concealed that new energy is to be infused into our openions; and the strength of the national arm is to be put forth more efficiently than ever.

When the armay of Occupation became the Army of Invasion, and our victorious banners were planted on the right bank of the Rio Grande, with the view of conciliating the people of Mexico, it was proclaimed by the commanding General, under instruction from his Government, that our armies were to respect their private property; and that they were to take nothing and receive nothing which was not to be paid for. We were anxious to soften the horrors of war in every respect, and to conduct it upon the most liberal and relined principles. We had even determined to dispense with the rights which the laws of mainous taily recognised. Instead of the pillage of the country and deferceless places, a costom has been aubstituted, says. Vatte, more humane and more advantageous to the sovereign making war. I mean that of contributions. Whoever carriers on a just war. Aus a right of making the answip country should be reversed to the support of the army, and towards defraying all the charges of the term. But what has been the result: It is shown in several articles which have appeared in the New Orleans papers, and in letters from the officers of the army. We republished one of them the other day from the columns of the National latelligencer. It seems certain that our forbears her of the productions, they have demanded enorthant prices, whilst their houstify to us has remained unabated. Officers ask, how ca
