The Royal marriage in Npain forms the most prominent point of discussion in the European journals.—The London Times and the Morning Chronicle protest in strong terms against the Montpenser union with the Infanti of Spain. The European Times says that the English Government seems disposed to do all that it can to avert this end.

The news by the extraordinary Express, in anticipation of the Overland Mail, was published by the morning papers on Twesday. The intelligence is dittle importance. A variety of reports are in circulation respecting the unsettled state of affairs on the Northwest frontier. The Siekha, it is said, are determined to reorganize their Army, but several of the Hill timbes are sirredly so dissuissfied that it is expected that they will refuse to submit. Under these circumstances, Manar Rejah's Government has remained aiready at Lahore for a longer period than that originally fixed by the Governor General. Our intelligence from China speaks of the preparations making for the evacuation of Chusan.

Committee on Improvementa, who promised the induigence of the Council to Mr Cronan, for any delay in the performance of the original contract which mush the occasioned by this increase of his work.

But let in return to the contract uself relating to the paying bearing date the 25th August, 1845. The contract we have before us, and trom it we learn that Mr. Dennial Cronan had abligated himself to pave the North Bast ande of Cainal street, from Rammart to Clairborne street, the South East side of Clairborne street, from Caintonhouse to Canal streets, and Robertson street from Canal to Customhouse street, not one solitary clause of the contract fixes any species period for the completion of the contract, save and except that which provides that Costomhouse street, after the execution of the contract. 1846 under petualty of directure of $500 per day, for every day's delay after the execution of the constitue of improvements from fall responsibility towards this Corporation councied with the paying of this street. For all know that he has received, and continues, at intervals to receive, from the North, and continues, at intervals to receive, from the North, such materials as are necessary to the work. Prior to that date, the Council had authorized the Committee on Improvements to receive proposals for the paying of Canal and Costom House street, from Rimpart to Enhance arrest, and of the latter, as well as of Robertson arrest, from Costom House to Canal streets. Mr J S Wood was as that time busing the costom premistrated in that section of the entry and the Council, in order to lurther the success of the establishment, had agreed with the proprietors, to cause these streets to be paved within the least possible delay. Only one proposal was presented, that of Mr S L Forgal, who offered to accept the contract at the rate of $2.30-100 per yard square. This exhorbitant offer was rejected; the Committee on Improvements then applied to Mr Dennis Cronan, who, in consequence of his previous engagements with the Municipality, desiuned contracting for the work; but the Committee dating into consideration the obligations saved; and therefore, Mr Dennis Cronan offered, but reluctantly to do the away on measurem as 128 Julie reluctantly the date having on measurements and therefore, Mr Dennis Cronan offered, but reluctantly the date having on measurements as $2.30-100. Committee taking into consideration the obligation entered into between the Council and My Wood, jer-sared; and therefore, Mr Dennis Cronan offered, but rejuctantly, to do the paving in question, at $2.30. for per yard square, which offer was accepted by the Committee for Improvements, who promised the indulgence of the Council to Mr Crossan, for any delay to the country of the Council to Mr Crossan, for any delay the country of the Council to Mr Crossan, for any delay the country of the Council to Mr Crossan, for any delay the country of the Council to Mr Crossan, for any delay the country of the Council to Mr Crossan, for any delay the country of the Council to Mr Crossan, for any delay the country of the Council to Mr Crossan, for any delay the country of the Council to Mr Crossan, for any delay the country of the Council to Mr Crossan, for any delay the country of the Council to the Counci one year, so as to conform with the spirit of the understanding governing the conditions of the original contract, marph have thought for a long time past, that by this course of action, the Council conferred a favor on Mr Cronan. They were in error. The Council only fild what was just.

But while they grainted as extension of time to Mr Cronan, the Council, at the same time, imposed upon him the fobligation to pave seven spaares per mouth. A cyndition, of a character so strict, could only be rigorously enforced in cases of evident negliging enter on the part of the councier, but up to this time, there has been nothing of the kind proven. It appears on the countrary, from characteristic of the weather stated below, and made by James Lilly, of this city, from 37th April to 12th October, a term of 186 days, that there has been had not be considered fair day, from which again must be deducted such times as was necessary for the draining or evaporation of waiter from rains, so that the earth should acquire the solidity required to ensure a good and substantial paying of the streets.

These simple facts are, in our opinion, safficient to so waster Mr Cronan from any charge of negligence, or or waste O canait, and on the other hand, seem to demand the kind consideration of the Council confideration.

Be it further resolved. That in case the paving above mentioned land detailed, shall not be competed within the period allowed in the foregoing resolution, the said couract shall be considered as nuit and the Council after the expiration of and delay shall be at liberty to advertise for seared proposals for the competence to the expiration of and delay shall be at liberty to advertise for seared proposals for the competence to the original contractor.
