ODD FELLOW'S ORDER We are indebted to T. H. Shirkins, Esq., for group of the report of the Right Worthy Grand Ladge of the State of Louisana from Augus lst 1849, to May 1st, 1850, embracing the procredings of the Grand Lodge during the period specified, and containing a tabular statements of the condition of the various Lodges in the Stat at the close of the term ending on the 31st December, 1849. This publication possesses great interest for the brethren of the order. As oustruites a full and comprehensive exposition the progress of Odd-Fellowship in Louisian: The members of that fraterning will be gratifi other learning that the order is marching stea-dily onwards, although the reports of the various subordinate. Lodges are confined to the six months of the year, during a large portion which our city is comparatively depopulated they exhibit in the aggregate unmistakeable evidence of healthy and continued progress.— We find on consulting the tableaugappended to the report that at the beginning of the present year there were 29 Lodges in operation throughout the State, of which we believe 20 are ea crobshed either in New Orleans or its immed sic vicinity. During the period referred to there were 359 admissions and 37 rejections; the entire number of contributing members was The receipts during the term amounted to $17.158 13. Within the past six months the morease of the order has been far more rapid, othough the departures for California and else where have doubtless withdrawn a considera-ble proportion of members. JOHN MONROE,

Military and Civil Gov. New Mexico. A brig was sunk about 15 miles east of Galreston. Nothing but her topmasts were visi-ile. The name of the brig, and the particulars of the disaster, are unknown. Several skirmishes have recently occurred beween the Indians near the frontier and the rangers. In one near the Rio Frio two of the another, torty mues above Laredo, four Indiana were killed and several wounded. Only one o the Rangers was wounded. The Camanche are, from all accounts, exceedingly trouble ome-committing continual depradations, and mustering the unarmed inhabitants whenever they can do so with impunity.

GENTLEMEN: For the last few days our Disrict Court of the United States, in Chamber has been engaged in examining witnesses in and against Captain Lewis, master of steams Creole, charged by the United States, throug their attorney, W. R. Hadley, Eac., for in-fringement of the Revenue Laws, to wit:— "Leaving the port of New Orleans, Louisiana, with more passengers than the tonnage of said steamer, by law, allowed; and coming from foreign port, to say, Cardenas, (Cuba) with 600 passengers."

The above case has been ably argued by the United States Attorney, assisted by Collector Douglass, and as well conducted by S. R. Mallory, Esq., assisted by Hon. Jos. B. Lancaster. From the evidence adduced there is no proof that Captain Lewis, as the time of his departure from the port of New Orleans, knew of this expedition—it is only supposed. There is no proof that the said steamer left said port with more passengers than the law permitted. She cleared for Chagres. The United States also charges and Lewis with leaving the port of Cardenas, with the intention of coming to the United States; which is not in evidence, but proven to the contrary—as he was compelled and forced by orders, being out of water, therefore, corrots was used. Captain Lewis required of the court, after hearing lestimony on both sides, adjourned, and will deliver its opinion, &c., in a few days.

That on the following day, in the morting, Lewis returned and ethibited to the affant a package of bank bither amongst which he saw a bill of $2100, one of $250, and surpressed of the fifty deliver. Four days afterwards he was informed that the same colored boy had been apprehended not increasy.

To connect the chaim of evidence, it must be borne in united that J. Martin in his affidant decirated that his $1400 had been taken a wax on the 12th. Now it appears that Lewis connected this story about the lottery ticket on the 10th, and actually aghibited some $2400 in Artiga on the following day. This digerpancy is difficult to account for.
