MR. WEBSTER AND THE BOSTON COUNCIL.

The Aldermen of Boston have at length become sensible of their improper conduct in refusing to DAN. WEBSTER, the sub of Faneuil Hall, and in backing out with commendable promptitude. On Monday week, they adopted with entire unanimity, a resolution, concurring with the Common Council, in raising a joint committee to tender to the Hon. DAN. WEBSTER, in the name of the City Council, an invitation to meet and address his fellow-citizens at such time as he may select, and to grant the use of Faneuil Hall for the purpose. The Board declared by another resolution, also passed unanimously, that they "do not yield to the other branch in feelings of regard and respect for MILLARD FILLMORE, the President of the United States; and from the moment that his disposition to visit New England was made known to them, they have been, and are, willing and desirous to afford him a proof of their respectful consideration, by uniting with the Common Council in inviting him, in the name of the citizens, to the city of Boston, at such time as may be most agreeable to him.

By another resolution, the Board seek to excuse themselves for their refusal in the first instance, declaring they were actuated by motives growing out of their past action in reference to Faneuil Hall, and of the state of the public mind in relation to exciting political questions, and by no feel of hostility or disrespect toward the applicants or the illustrious individual whom they intended to honor.

All this is very well: It shows that public opinion is not without its influence on the magnates who direct the Municipal affairs of Boston. The latter a tardy repentance than none at all. The lesson they have received will teach them wisdom hereafter.

M'LLE. PARODI.

The last concert of this distinguished vocalist takes place this evening, and as a matter of course will attract a brilliant audience. M'lle PARODI has fully re-established her reputation which had been somewhat damaged by her unfortunate indisposition on the occasion of her first appearance, on Wednesday evening she proved beyond a doubt that she possesses talent enough to delight the New Orleans audience —the most critical in the World.

We have no material alteration to make in our first hasty estimate of PARODI's powers.—Her voice is a fine mezzo Soprano, mellow and round, with more power and force in the lower than the upper notes, but still remarkably even in all the registers. If there is a deficiency any where it is in the medium. Her intonation is perfectly pure, and the quality of her voice melodious and sympathetic. It is defective only in volume, and in metallic power, which imparts so much effectiveness to execution. In all the requisites of artistic excellence, M'lle PARODI furnishes. Style, method, taste, admirable command of voice, precision, musical sensibility, the possesses to a very high degree. If nature had been a little more liberal, or if art could have supplied the clarishmess of nature, PARODI would be now the greatest of living vocalists. As it is, she must be content to be ranked among the greatest.

It is difficult to establish comparisons between PARODI and JENNY LIND. They are unlike each other in every respect—bred in different schools and professing opposite styles. JENNY LIND has not a decent contralto note—PARODI is lavish in the employment of those delicious and heart-stirring sounds. JENNY LIND's execution is incomparably more brilliant than PARODI's, while the latter is full of a fine artistic power of which she is a scientific glitters in the song of the Swedish vocalist. JENNY LIND's voice reveals, amongst the very highest notes that the human throat can utter, PARODI's lingers amongst the low, sweet strains, which evoke the tenderest feelings and suffuse the eyes with tears. Excellence no parallel can be drawn between them. Many—perhaps the mass—would prefer the LIND; though we think that artistic genius would conceive the talent of PARODI more essentially legitimate.

We are surprised the papers have said so little of MLLE HAUSER. He is a violinist of extraordinary merit. His execution is marvellous, and he has a splendid style, and great taste and feeling. We have heard nothing superior to him since the days of VIEUX TEMPS.

NEW ORLEANS, JACKSON AND MADISONVILLE RAIL ROAD.

The subscriptions to this important enterprise are pouring in rapidly, and there is no longer any doubt that the Company will be fully organized in the course of a week. The manifest advantages of this route are beginning to be clearly understood. Its comparative cheapness, the facility with which it can be put into operation; and above all, the economy in time, as the road can be completed in fifteen months, commend the undertaking to the warm support of the capitalist, the merchant, the clerk and the mechanic. Whilst therefore we do not wish to dampen the ardor of the friends of the superb route, but on the contrary, desire most sincerely that it may succeed, we can purify with confidence to the superior advantages of the New Orleans, Jackson and Madisonville Rail Road. From present appearances it would seem that the latter will break ground on the first of June, and the very moment that the first spade is lifted, Mississippi will commence to forming her portion of the work.

BENEFIT OF FIREMEN'S CHARITABLE ASSOCIATION.—To-morrow evening there will be a splendid exhibition of Fire Works in Lafayette Square. The proceeds are to be appropriated to the benefit of the Firemen's Charitable Association. The pyrotechnic display will comprise several of Mr. CATOIR's master pieces—such as the Rose of Louisiana; Bombardment of Constantine; the Bouquet of 1000 Rockets &c.

ARRIVAL OF THE ALABAMA.
Later from California.

The steamship Alabama arrived last evening from Chagres, bringing California dates to the 1st of April, per steamer Tennessee at Panama.

We are indebted to Mr. J. B. Moore, of the Alabama, for San Francisco and Panama papers.

The Alabama left Chagres on the 24th ult., bringing 171 passengers. Left in port British steamer Sovereign, Farmers North America, Crescent City and Georgia, bark W. V. Bowen, for New York, brig Josephine, Ducey, for New Orleans, schooner J. F. Lodlard, for Savannah, schr. Wm. Wilson, Gibbs, for Boston, brig Radius, McGilla, Point a Petre.

DIED, at sea, on board schooner J. Custner, March 19th, N. L. GRIFFORD, of New Orleans.

We take the following from the Pacific News:

SHIPMENT OF GOLD DUST.—The aggregate of treasure to go forward by the steamers today is very large—not much less, probably, than two millions of dollars. The Columbus takes over $1000,000, and the Tennessee $800,000. Of these amounts the express companies takes the following:

Adams & Co,	$250,000
Dodge & Co.,	70,000
J. W. Gregory,	$46,000

The remainder is taken by the steamship companies. It is understood that a considerable amount is in the hands of passengers.

THE MURDER OF JARVIS.—The examination of Slater, accused of the murder of Mr. Jarvis, at the Mission, was continued throughout yesterday, without being concluded. It will be seen that the defence is an alibi. The examination will be continued to-day.

In the course of the examination of Mrs. Jarvis, quite a little excitement was created in the court room. The counsel for the accused, Judge McHenry, asked whether she was the wife of Mr. J., which was objected to, and on being asked what he expected it would lead to, said he did not know, but Mrs. Jarvis herself was the guilty person! The court room immediately resounded with hisses of indignation.

Counsel should not forget what is due to courtesy, if he has no regard for the feelings of the wife under such painful circumstances.

ATTEMPTED RESCUE OF SLATER.—Quite an excitement was created last evening, just at dark, at the Exchange, by an attempt to rescue Slater, accused of the murder of Mr. Jarvis, from the hands of the officers. About the hour of the usual adjournment of the court, a body of men, numbering perhaps seventy, assembled around the door of the court-house, and as the accused made his appearance, attempted to seize him. They were resisted, however, by the officers, who finally succeeded in getting him into the station-house. If he had fallen into the hands of the crowd, of course punishment by the most summary process would have been the result.

The Sacramento papers give an account of the shooting of two robbers, who attempted to break into the "Palace," adjoining the Tehama Theatre. From information received, Captain J. H. Ward believed that a band of burglars were making preparations for an attack on some point, and had stationed himself there for the purpose of making the discovery, if possible, and of bringing the villains to justice. The Transcript adds:

"It appears that he had no: been long there, when he found that two men were coming up a ladder on to the roof of a rear building, and after going that point, one of them advanced to the cone of the roof, and with his foot on the window sill of the main house, was raising the window for the purpose of entering. Captain Ward was in the room the fellow was about robbing, and thinking the villain had got far enough, Captain W. discharged one barrel of a shot gun, which took effect, and the fellow rolled down some 8 or 10 feet, on to a flat zinc roof, and did not move. His accomplice attempted to escape, but Capt. W. was too quick, and let him have the contents of the other barrel of the shot gun, and soon after fired his pistol, the latter of which probably did not take effect.

It has been ascertained that the robber who was shot, together with his accomplices, came out in the ship Ohio, and were either in the Marine service, or deserted from the ship at Stevenson. The name of the dead man is given as Joe Ogden, and his accomplices as George Morton, alias Smith, &c., son of George S. Morton, of Valley Falls, Rhode Island.

There were found on the body of the fellow who was killed a bowie-knife and a bully, a weapon used in the place of a slung-shot. On his finger was a gold ring, and in his pocket a cigar case, and a quarter. He had on a great coat, under which was a frock coat. Two-barrel shot gun, a pair of boots, and an overcoat, only eight of which took effect in his body.

The proprietor of the Atlantic Eating House on I street, had $400 stolen from under his head on Saturday night.

On Tuesday last the snow at Grass Valley was eight feet deep.

But two deaths occurred in Sacramento during the week ending Saturday last.

The loss by the burning of Nevada City is estimated at $200,000. Previous to the fire there were one hundred and ten monte banks, and thirty-two faro banks. Fitzpatrick, the supposed incendiary, has been examined and released.

A genuine California lion was caught at Brannan's ranch, near Nicolaus, on the night of the 28th ult.

The Panama Herald says: "No surer evidence of the growth and prosperity of our city need be desired, than the high prices of all kinds of labor which now exist. Carpenters' wages are five dollars per day, blacksmith's do; and mule shoers, tin-workers, painters, shoemakers, cabinet makers, turners, and in fact, almost all kinds of trades command about double the rates paid in the United States and in many instances cannot be had at all. This is owing to the new impulses which have been given to business and the natural increase of population attending it.

The professions, too, come in for their share of high prices—prices which in the United States would be considered exorbitant, if not monstrous, yet, which are not here deemed unreasonable. The activity and enterprise manifested by our merchants, auctioneers, tradesmen, hotel-keepers, and in fact, all classes, evince clearly enough, that spirit which is destined to build up the city, not only as a matter of pride to its citizens, but to render it eminent in the estimation of the world."

The Census of the inhabitants of the city, which, we believe, was taken last December and January, exhibits a population within the limits of the parrochial districts of Panama of nearly twenty-two thousand.

It is proper to state that in taking the census all, Americans and other foreigners, who were in the city at the time, were included, numbering perhaps, two thousand.

HEALTH OF PANAMA.—The doctors all agree, so there can be no mistake about it, that this city is in a provokingly healthy condition. Indeed, we do not know of a single case of sickness though there may be some. A more healthy climate is not to be found in any latitude of the globe.—Herald.

SUPPOSED MURDER ON THE RAIL ROAD.—The body of a man supposed to be an Irishman who had been employed on the Rail Road, was found floating in the Chagres River, a few days ago since which we learn that two men have been arrested and charged with the murder. It is stated that the three had been on a 'spree,' got intoxicated, and in all probability had a fight, the result of which was the death of one of them. No positive proofs have yet been found against the two men under arrest, who were taken to Chagres and will probably be tried by the authorities there.

SPECIE TRAIN ROBBED.—The specie train which left here on the 7th instant, under the direction and orders of Henry Tracy, Esq., was robbed somewhere on its way to Chagres. Two small boxes of gold dust, valued at about $9,000 were taken. No clue has been had to the robbers, and Mr. Tracy offers a reward of $3,000 for them.—Herald.

I. O. O. F.—The Odd Fellows of Mobile celebrated on Monday, the anniversary of the introduction of the Order in the United States. The Advertiser says:

The day was fine, and a large number of members turned out. In their splendid regalia they made an attractive as well as an imposing appearance. The procession formed as laid down in the programme, and marched through the principal streets in the city to the St. Francis street Methodist church, where a large audience of ladies awaited its arrival. The address was delivered by Rev. Brother W. H. Milburn, and for depth of thought, appropriateness of subject, aptness of illustration, copiousness of diction, force and felicity of expression, we do not recollect ever to have heard it equalled on a similar occasion. The truths he enunciated and enforced were calculated to make a lodge-meet in every breast.

The exercises were introduced by music sung by a choir of ladies. The anthem "Great is the Lord," the "Chorus from the Creation," and the ode commencing "How beauteous are the feet of the bride," were impressively sung, and seemed to be happily adapted to the occasion. The procession marched to the music of the fine Creole band of the city. The celebration could not have been otherwise than gratifying to those who participated in its ceremonies. We are pleased to learn that the Order is in a prosperous and rapidly growing condition in the city.

THE ASIA'S NEWS.

The steamship Asia, Captain JUDKINS, arrived at her wharf in Jersey City on the morning of the 23d ult., making the passage in about eleven days. She left Liverpool on the 12th of April.

In the House of Commons, the Chancellor of the Exchequer has submitted an Army Estimate for a little more than three and a half millions sterling—for the financial year—for the Land forces in Great Britain and Ireland and foreign states, India excepted. The Navy Estimates form a total of five millions seven hundred and twenty-eight thousand pounds.

England is now engaged upon her fifth Caffrarian war, all within 30 years. The third and fourth cost $12,500,000 and 5,500 men.

Accounts at Constantinople, from Damascus, state that several French travellers of distinction, among them one of the Rothschilds, had been captured by the Bedouin Arabs, and had only been released by the payment of forty thousand piasters ransom.

The cabinet of Berlin, which six or eight months ago most stoutly denied the existence of the old confederation and the authority of the treaties under which Austria had again convoked the Frankfort Diet, is now anxious to procure the restoration of that body with undiminished and unaltered influence.

The French government denies that the internal changes recently effected in the Austrian empire constitute a sufficient ground for exacting the compliance of Germany and Europe to changes calculated to modify the balance of power; and it asserts with truth, that whether these proposed conditions are acceded to or not, nothing can shake the mutual interest which unites the Austrian empire to the rest of the confederation.

The French Department of Foreign Affairs have protested against the Austrian pretensions in regard to the German Confederation. A severe additional law has been passed by the French Legislative Assembly, for the punishment of frauds in the sale of merchandize of whatever description. Adulteration of food is to be likewise, suitably handled.

The Emperor of Austria returned to Vienna, from Trieste, April 4.

The Lloyd, April 3d, has the following upon the state of affairs growing out of the German question:

"Austria is great and powerful enough to seek and find its safety elsewhere than at Frankfort. Austria will be Austria still, even if the great and petty German States choose to consider the worst constitution on the 11 this self deception should lead to bad consequences, we will take care that they shall not reflect on—Austria has not the right to force either the smaller or larger German States to care for their own welfare, neither has she the intention to attempt it."

In Parliament, Mr. D'Israeli attempted to get a resolution through, that, in every relief to be granted by the remission or adjustment of taxation, due regard should be paid to the distressed condition of the owners and occupiers of land in the United Kingdom. After a long discussion, the motion was lost by a majority of ten.

Time has not yet been afforded to the public opinion of different parties to pronounce on this Ministry; yet there is already manifested an opposition, not only on the part of the Republican papers, which is to be looked for as a matter of course, but in the Thiers organe, and in the Assemble Nationale, and in the journal of the Fusionists, is said to be about to pass, if it has not passed, into the hands of Messrs Guizot, Duchatel and Dumon, the new allies of the Marquis de Dalhousie, who manages the political interests of the Duc de Bordeaux.

SWITZERLAND.—Letters from Geneva state that the government of that canton had refused to expel from its territory the seventeen French refugees, as ordered by the Federal Government.

The Ticino Gazette quotes a letter from Lausanne, stating that the French refugees having obtained a respite from their removal to the interior, the Federal Government threatened to proceed to them the measure of expulsion decreed against 17 of their countrymen. This menace produced the desired effect, and the federal order was executed in the cantons of Vaud. The Charge d'Affairs of England in Berne had demanded communication of the passports delivered to emigrants proceeding to England.

SPAIN.—Accounts from Madrid are of the 5th inst.

M. Bravo Murillo announced in a speech in the Cortes on the preceding day that the deficit in the budget of 1852 had been reduced to 50,976 000 reals. There remained, however, a deficit in the budget extraordinary of 151,670,000 reals. M. Bravo Murillo concluded his speech by expressing his confidence that the deficiency might be paid off in the course of four years.

THE PAPAL STATES.—The Roman Journal of the 31st ult. announces that the 2d battalion of French Chasseurs marched the day before to Civita Vecchia, where they were to embark for Algeria.

A French company had obtained a contract from the Pontifical Government for lighting Rome with gas.

ROME.—On the 30th ult. His Holiness the Pope, according to custom, performed the ceremony of the beneficition of the Golden Rose in the chapel of the Vatican. Cardinal Alfieri said mass on the occasion, and Father Priori, Procurator-General of the Carmelites, preached Latin sermon in the presence of the college of Cardinals, the prelates, the Roman Magistracy, and the whole Papal Court.

AUSTRIA.—Our advices from Vienna are of the 7th inst.

A magazine of gunpowder has exploded at Temesbar, in Hungary, and twenty lives were lost.

SAXONY.—On the 6th instant the line of railway from Dresden to Prague, completing the southern line of communication with Vienna, was opened. The railroad runs from Dresden through the finest part of the valley of the Elbe. A train left Prague at 8 in the morning of the above day, and met the train which started from Dresden at half past 10 at Bodenbach. The invited guests were greeted; the tr ins proceeded together to Raihen, where a dinner was given on the Bastelkin.

TURKEY.—We have accounts of the 26th of March from Constantinople. Kiani Pasha, Abbas Pasha's Envoy to the Porte, assures Ministers that his master is a most loyal subject, and hopes that, in consideration of this fact, the Sultan will not insist on reforms which would restrict his authority and resources. It is said that Dschaffer Effendi will convey to the viceroy the final determination of the Porte, which is based on the stipulations made in 1840.

The Austrian Ambassador has received the assurance of the Porte that Kossuth, Bathyani, Perczel, the two Perczels, and Asboth, shall still be detained at Kutayeh. The other fugitives, some 60, will soon be liberated.

GREAT EXCITEMENT IN THE MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE UPON THE ELECTION OF SENATOR. Great excitement prevails here in reference to the Senatorial election. On the 20th ballot the whole number of votes cast was 387—necessary to a choice 194. Sumner received 192, and there was one ballot with his name on, crossed out; Winthrop, 167; scattering 26. The tellers equally divided on the subject of counting the scratched vote. Much debate ensued, but the majority finally concluded to count the vote, and reported Sumner elected. The Speaker announced the result accordingly. A motion was then made to recommit the report to the committee on counting, with instructions to report among the scattering a vote they had thrown out.

After debate this was agreed to, and the committee then reported the whole number of 388, necessary to a choice, 195—Sumner 194, lacking 1 of an election. Another ballot was then ordered amid great confusion. Whole number of votes 386—Sumner 193, Winthrop 166, scattering 29; Sumner still lacking 1. A motion was then made to adjourn, and the House refused to order another ballot. Intense excitement prevails, and the avenues leading to the House and lobbies are filled by a dense crowd.

A British subscriber came on shore at Cape Cod, and it is supposed all on board were lost. A brother of the nine owns some small tenements in East Boston which were overflowed by the recent flood, to the imminent peril of the tenants. Two children (his letter states) were saved, as by a miracle, from drowning.

While the parents were away, the tide entered the basement to the depth of four feet, and they were found floating in a cradle, by the almost distracted mother! No other soul was in the house. Their ages were two and four.

Mr. Dodd, the Theological book-seller, in City Hall Square, has just published Dr. Spring's admirable lectures; on "First Things." A correspondent of mine quotes the following beautiful sentiment from these two very handsome volumes. "There is not an emotion in the human mind, that makes man wiser, better or more happy, and that finds such rich and ever diversified aliment in the contemplation of God and his Truth, but is the "Fruit of his Spirit."

Since the nine days' wonder, the 9 days and 20 hours trip of Collin's steamer Pacific, across the Atlantic, think it tedious if a vessel is more than ten days coming. Hence, impatience is expressed this morning because the "Asia" is now in her eleventh day.

Steamship Ohio which got aground near New Orleans and remained there until the 17th inst., has not yet arrived at this port, and I doubt if she will come to hand before Saturday next, the 26th, which is the day that Stinson & co. have advertised her to sail hence.

The new steamship Winfield Scott will make the run down to New Orleans the first week in May.

The city papers are still expatiating upon the merits of the Hungarian revolution and Kossuth. It amazes me to see seven or eight mortal columns of a large and respectable newspaper occupied with elaborate efforts to prove Kossuth and the Magyars tyrants and assassins, and the Austrian government "all right." What can be more absurd? But what in the world can induce these laborious attempts to defame and backen the character of the unfortunate Kossuth. Is it in view of any advantage to be obtained by two or three Americans upon the occasion of the expected visit of the Austrian Archduke's brother to this country?

The Hutchinson family will give a concert in New York to-night—the last for the present. A few evenings since I went to hear them sing. I had not heard them since their return from England, where they were so petted by the Howitts; nor had I any disposition to do so, for their ultraisms spoilt their really very good music.

Abbey—the charming Abby—was not with them, and the five brothers came on without this beautiful amelioration of their outer appearance.

The collars of the Hutchinsons always excite special attention, and therefore deserve special mention. They are of the old-fashioned schoolboy kind, and, turned over their coats, reach to their shoulders. Now these young ultraists, with their Fourier principles, can monopolise so much linen for their exterior adornment while many of their brethren have none, has yet to be explained. The two most prominent wore long beards, hair and mustaches. They sung several songs very finely, but the performance was very much marred by occasional and incongruous outbursts of remark and humor that fastened upon the ear like the pain from "brother Judson." He would jump up from his seat so suddenly as to give the people start; then some phillipic or other, utterly incongruous with the character of the song, or these was a denunciation of lunatic asylums, in which I had in his time, he said, been badly used—his brother was some gratuitous opinions about slavery. In the humorous song of "Eight Dollars a Day" he acquitted himself to the delight of the audience, until he came to some allusion to the pay of females, when he hit it rather too short for a New Yorker, and became unintelligible trade about Woman's Rights. After another song, he let the people know he was dead set against tobacco.

As I write this sentence, the newsboys are crying the "arrival of the ASIA."

KEY WEST AND HAVANA.—By the Steamship Isabel, intelligence from Key West to the 22nd and Havana to the 23d, has been received. The Havana papers say little about the reported invasion. Much sickness has recently prevailed at the Isle of Pines. A Court Martial, wh se proceedings are to be made public, was to sit on the 9th inst., upon the case of Don Gracias no Montes de Oca, charged with being the "agent of the vagabond adventurers who seek to gratify their own vices by revolutions," &c.

(Correspondence of Savannah Republican.)

From the Key West, April 22, 1851.

The brig Chinchilla, Haskell, master, loaded with sugar, and bound from Cienfuegos for Baltimore, arrived here on the 16th ult., in distress, leaking two thousand strokes per hour. She sailed from Cienfuegos on the 10th, and the same day commenced leaking, and made for this port as speedily as possible. Consigned to James Elliot, and discharging.

The steamer propeller J. W. Nelson, Dennison, master, got ashore on the 11th inst., on Big Conch reef, and, after staying there several days, got off, and proceeding down, collided with a vessel, which provided two men severely injured. The vessel was then abandoned, and was gotten off by the wreckers, and towed into this place, where she arrived on the 19th, consigned to Elliot & Son, and libelled for salvage. She was bound from Savannah to Mobile; mostly loaded with rosin.

Arrived—April 12—Schooner Gov. Anderson, Sawyer, New York, sundries. 24—Schr. Lizzy Hall, Lowe, Reef, sundries; schooner Charles C. WASHINGTON, April 22.

THE STANLY COURT MARTIAL.—The Court martial in the Stanly affair, whose verdict was returned to them a few days since, have again returned the case to the Navy Department with their former decision. The Secretary has quashed further proceedings.

[By the verdict previously returned the court found Stanly guilty on a charge of sending a challenge to a superior officer, and also guilty of uttering a falsehood in saying that he had sent such a challenge. The verdict was so manifestly wrong. That the Secretary has quashed the result of his effort to gain a rational verdict is given above.
