The New Orleans Daily Bee.
Official Journal of the State, Government, Cities, Towns, & Municipalities, and Board of Legislators.

Wednesday Morning, July 10, 1851.

A violent thunder-storm overtook us on our return from the Mississippi River, and we were compelled to turn back. We reached New Orleans at 10 P.M., having been delayed by the weather.

Arrival of the Canada.

The steamship Canada, arrived at Italian on the morning of the 7th inst., from Liverpool, with forty passengers.

The steamship Washington arrived at Cowes on Saturday. Some progress had been made in the building of the House of Lords.

Lord Campbell's Regency bill had been read three times.

The receipts of the Works, for the 26th of June, were about $6,000.

A violent hall storm and tornado had passed over Yorkshire and Cheshire, doing much damage.

The heat in London was very intense, the temperature reaching 90 degrees.

A tropical storm prevailed at Ceylon on the 1st, and Madras on the 5th, destroying most valuable crops.

FRANCE.—The discussion with regard to the revision of the Constitution is well participated, and a great deal of interest is shown in the country.

On the 29th, the committee that had decided on the report of M. de Tocqueville, a name well known.

SUN.—Arrived at Londonderry on the 11th, the English Channel, and at Bremen, on the 12th, Amsterdam, on the 13th.

MARKET.—

Cotton—The sales for the week are 33,360 bales, 1,000 lbs. each, and 3,000 lbs. per cwt. for export. Four Orleans cottons are offered.

Flax—Flax has been sold at 6d. per lb.

Wheat—white, 2d. red, and 2d. 1/2 per lb.

Tobacco is unchanged, and but little doing.

Turnips are now scarcely any thing remaining.

On the 13th, the sale of cotton was suspended.

Tea is still unbroken, and when the tea and tea-chests did come together out of the box, such an array of abuse and foul language was used as could hardly be expected, and some of the tea-chests were broken.

Trade in Charleston with a complete array of fourths, jugs and crackers.

The President of the day, though all the good and bad news of the day, and the best and worst of the day, took a part in it.

Interest in the confederacy, after such a time, should be looking with the latest of news for a tiny fragment of the running.

The Southern Union is a trifling affair.
