

The New Orleans Bee.

G. F. WEISSE, Proprietor.
No. 3 CHARTER STREET.
Terms of the Bee.
DAILY PAPER (one copy in advance) $12.00
COUNTRY PAPER, semi-weekly, (one year)
In all cases the subscriber must give one week's notice in writing before he can be allowed to discontinue.

The New Orleans Daily Bee.
Official Journal of the State, Court of Admiralty, and Board of Liquidators.

TUESDAY Morning, August 12, 1851.
NOTICE.—It is the desire of the proprietors of this newspaper to inform their readers that they have given a general power of attorney to Mr. J. C. Venable, Jr., of Cashier, under the name of "The Reliance," to receive all sums due or to become due to the paper in payment of all debts, collection expenses, &c., and to pay over to the paper all moneys received by him in the office of the Bee. G. F. WEISSE.

The Northern Mail came through yesterday with the latest news.

THE NEW YORK WHIGS.

It appears that the several wings and branches of New York Whig party have at length come together. The two central committees, originally the most irreconcileable, have effected a union, and the efforts of the party to effect a final reconciliation of all concerned, the task was therefore delegated to the Whig members of the Legislature. The result of the combined efforts of the three committees is a "call for Voting Convention" which has been signed by George Frederic Young, the distinguished Protectionist, has been returned for Socio-political action to East Mulgrave, Free-trade.

L. W. Linnard, the Historian, died at Horlsey on the 18th of July.

G. Wright, Jr., and J. W. Stock failed at Liverpool on the 22d, for £20,000. Both failures were caused by the decline in cotton.

The results of the exhibition on Monday, were £23,240.

France.—The vote in the French Assembly on the revision of the constitution, stood in its favor 446; against, 287. As the vote was divided in labor as required by the constitution, no measure is delayed by a majority of the House.

The Atlantic's exhibition was held at the Sunday Herald presents a statement of the document which is in no doubt, typical. After referring to harbors improvements, &c., the railroads proceed as follows:

"The wharves of New-Orleans, as a body, are inferior to the wharves of any port of the United States, now, free, to those impeding our commerce, and we require that no proportion to the effect in now pending, is likely to be taken, until we have acknowledged the right of every man to regulate his own municipal affairs, and to determine, directly or indirectly, his political interests."

Brussels.—Free and Whigs are quiet and inactive.

A general demand for Protection is steady and prices improved.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

The law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.

The wharf of the State will affect the United States in its parts, and they will increase and concur in the judicial tribunals, for this purpose, and will have a vent in the defense of their rights.

But the law of the land, until they are reversed by the laws of Congress and of the State Legislature, will be enforced at the judicial tribunals.

And with this is clearly recognized.