"But one curious incident I may perhaps be permitted to state, which must be entirely new to you." I was at Kutshia, a prisoner, when several weeks before the silkeded to article appeared printed here. I tee, by the kindness of some brave friends from Vicina, via Constantinople, omark well, rentlemen—from Vicinas, a mann script with the infinition that it was a copy of the article which would soon appear in an American newspaper, the copy taken for my use by an house trans in the very bureous of the Austrea Ministry. I have shown the mann-script to my associates, several of whom being here can remember and testify to the curious fact; and indeed some weeks later the very article appeared in an American newspaper, and it is that very compound of misrepresentations and calomy to which I was allouing to. Now it is not mine to investigate this stronge affinity between an "independent" American journal, and the secret Cabinet of Austria, it may be quote an innecent accident.
