It was considered that Congress hed achieved aomething for the construction of six discamfrigates. This was little enough, add in level the report of Mr. Bocock, the chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs in the of the Committee on Naval Affairs in the House of Representatives, proved indisputably that the exigencies of the country demanded a far greater increase in our awai force. As not atop, however, the air frigate bill is somethick, if it he only the extract of a vigorous and article poincy to be constantly practicab hereafter. We have ministed Mr. Bocock's admirbic report, and can only quote from memory, but while forgetting the exact figures which he gives, we have a lively recollection of the abnorated and disgrangful fact established by his researches, that our navy at the present time is actually smaller in the number of vessells, in the complement of guns, and efficiency for either attack or defence than that spillant little force which more than thirty years ago, won

EF We behold yesterdey se intererant vendor of small wares stationed in from of the Post office, and beaily engaged in elequent arpaination on the merits of the article which he offers for asid. His stock consisted, not of paleat isk-stands, or per holders, or hair dyes, or electro-magnetic machines, or powder puffs, or brans stamps, or shoot ies, or indelible ink, or eavelops, or of any of the ordinary meterials consistent of these ingusions trademns—but in lies of these, he had a tolerably spacious lox swarming with Horned Frogs, all alire and kirking, which he had collected in the prairies and marshes of Taras. He dwale emphatically and with great unction on the manifold virtues of his maphiblous stock. They were quiet animals, they neither believed like the bullfrog, nor spat venom like the sweltening tood,—They lived an indefinite period without food, and cost nothing as keep, for they picked up the scanty supply of noorinhusen necessary for their support. Put them in a chumber, and they well aspeedily free is tfrom every sort of insect and creeping thing. They were in short very valuable creatures, absolutely indispensable to the comfort and clearliness of a house-hold.

We listened for a while to the encomisms bestowed by this dealer in frogs apon his crawling, unsightly and cold blooded collection, but did not perceive that he had much success in disposing of his wares. Some of the spectators laughed while others shuddered as they glanced at the slimy congeries. Had they been gensine greanuile dear to gastronymic reminiscences of Gallican stomacha, they would have doubless goes off the hot cakes, but as it was, horned frogs seemed decidelly a drug in the market, and quite unsaleable.

Senor Calderon's reply was humble and apologotic.

Mr. Clarton, the leading member of the committee on foreign relations, it is said, is of opinion that war with Spain will commence within ninerly days. Our military and naval preparations are not imposing. The war, theretore, will begin, if at all, by the blockade of Cuba, and by letting loose the filibustors on the island. This will cut off the floor trade with Spain, which is very profitable and important, and the sogar, coffee, and fruit trade with our Atlantic coast.
