KENTUCKY—A VILE PLOT.

There is no doubt but aware of the existence of a plot to defraud the Democratic electoral vote of Kentucky. Some of that party are freely speaking of money on the result, and many are willing to give odds in favor of Buchanan. The secret of this unwarranted confidence is not generally known. We have been frequently told that the grounds so staunch and unwavering should be claimed by the Democracy. The reasons are simply these:

A special vote, is certain for Buchanan over last year 4,500 majority [illegible] Fillmore. It is known that the American [illegible] of the State have [illegible] majority with extensive [illegible] which they propose to [illegible] imported fraudulent [illegible] to carry Kentucky for Buchanan. Systematized rascality has been exposed, and the evidences are [illegible] overwhelming and conclusive [illegible] is chiefly, if not entirely [illegible] Ohio, which is about [illegible] to the Buchanan men [illegible] the roads leading from [illegible] Kentucky have been astonished at [illegible] numbers of foreigners continually [illegible] Their questions were they, and so [illegible] from their appearance, that [illegible] could be distinguished by [illegible] carpet bag men, [illegible] particular that [illegible] remarkable an immigration [illegible] the suspicions of the [illegible] plans were devised to [illegible] of the immigrants. It [illegible] some of the citizens, [illegible] Democrats, accosted [illegible] for colonizing the [illegible] with foreign voters was [illegible] partially carried out, [illegible] or six thousand of the [illegible] of the State, [illegible] than themselves in [illegible] ments, as might be [illegible] numbers existent. [illegible] of the State. Some [illegible] have been quietly [illegible] river, with placards [illegible] The Fillmore press [illegible] proofs of this move [illegible] the voices of the [illegible] of the State, and public [illegible] to such a pitch [illegible] is not abandoned, [illegible] with Kentucky on [illegible]

[illegible] the Louisville Journal [illegible] the fraud:

"[illegible] I was at Mrs. Va[illegible]'s. A black carriage [illegible] a black carpet-bag, I [illegible] and saw nine or ten [illegible] afterwards. I took two [illegible] at all. He stood [illegible] the rest having [illegible] over. I heard [illegible] them to vote. [illegible] of them [illegible] to vote. [illegible] who was look[illegible] Hunt, I [illegible] Democrat. Soo[illegible] will we give an increased majority over the last election, which was 58 for Governor. Never did a party work more faithfully than ours, and rest assured that it shall not relax in our exertions until the close of the election.

"I have never beheld more enthusiasm at any election—not even in '40 and '44. Business of every sort is abandoned. The lawyer, planter, merchant, physician, mechanic, all have suspended labor, mounted their horses, loaded wagons with provisions, and forming in procession, headed by music, singers and bangers, traverse the parish, to the delight of the Fillmore men and the consternation of the adversary. This is a new mode of electioneering, and has been attended with great success. It will be kept up to the day of November. Three weeks ago the Locofocos claimed the parish; now they concede it by 50 majority. We intend to carry it by 100.

CONVICTED OF ILLEGAL VOTING.—The Augusta Chronicle says: James Welch, an Irishman, who had never been naturalized, was tried during the past week, in this county, upon the charge of illegal voting at the election in January last, for county officers, and found "guilty." He is, therefore, now awaiting the sentence of the Court—which, under the law, is confinement in the Penitentiary from one to four years. His was a very clear case. He was willing to take a hand in ruling the country, but wholly unwilling to render it any service. Soon after voting he was served by the Sheriff to appear as a juror at the next term of the Superior Court. He appeared, and to avoid jury duty, swore that he was not a citizen of the United States, and was of course discharged as a juror. The Court, however, placed the matter before the Grand Jury, and the result is told above. He is evidently paying pretty dearly for his exercise of suffrage, but it will be a lesson to him for the future, and we trust a warning to all others, to steer clear of a similar fate.

VERMONT.—We are glad to see that the Fillmore men are wide awake in Vermont—all Black Republicans as that State is—and the following extract from the St. Albans Messenger, a rabid Fremont paper, will show how the Blacks feel about it. The assistant editor of the Messenger, who wrote the article, is Mr. Wilbur F. Davis, who was a Know-Nothing until he was expelled from a Council several months since:

The demonstrations in the State of New York, and the actual presence in Burlington, not long since, of Erastus Brooks, who had opened all his batteries about Vermont's Catholicism so often that no doubt he actually believes it, have encouraged the Fillmorites of Vermont that they are determined to show fight.

In this county (Franklin) we are told that men who have until quite recently been called Republicans, and participated in Republican meetings, have declared themselves among the 'conservative men' of the Green Mountain State, who are to vote for Fillmore; and the fact is worth noticing that some who, but no longer ago than last month stood on the Republican ticket as Presidential men, have now shifted their preference for Millard Fillmore and Andrew Jackson Donelson, and are doing all in their power to swell the drooping energies of Fillmore's Know-Nothingism in this county and State.

This is good news, says the Mobile Advertiser, and shows how exactly how things are tending since the death of Fremontism. The prospect now is that Fremont will be finally dropped, which will change the aspect of political affairs very materially. It would not surprise us in the least if Fremont should fail to carry a single State. The only fear we now have is that his supporters will "fuse" with the Buchaneers. This is Bank's only chance, and he will not hesitate to win them over. By giving Seward or Wright of Chase, or John Van Buren a position in the Cabinet, would doubtless accomplish the object.

In the meantime, let the conservative friends of Fillmore in the South stand firm by their principles and their candidates, and all will be right. Bear in mind that the only chance for the election of Buchanan is for his party to buy up and fuse with the Abolitionists and Black Republicans, and rally with all your energies for the only true, conservative Southern ticket—FILLMORE and DONELSON. Let the South stand up to this ticket, and the "Buchaneers" are defeated.

A few weeks ago the election of Fremont was considered an immoral possibility. It is now considered a moral impossibility.

SERIOUS STEAMBOAT ACCIDENT.—Passengers by the Texas Packet steamer Caspar, two white men and a colored man, were in the yawl of the Caspar last night, when she was backing out from the Portland wharf. This steamer was in motion, and the yawl had come up to the wheel, when the engines were put in motion, and the wheel struck the yawl. An Irishman named Cleo [illegible] his breast bone, &c. He was got on shore [illegible] to the city in a hack, but on the way [illegible] Portland, he died. Mr. J. W. Thompson, [illegible] on board the yawl, had his leg fractured [illegible] removed to the hospital, and Coroner [illegible] will hold an inquest this morning.

The two men who were with Smith in the yawl had not been heard of when the boat from left Portland, and it was feared that both were drowned.—Louis. Journal, 30th inst.

THE LAST GRAND PROCESSION.

The Fillmore Rangers will turn out to-night in full force for their last grand procession, and from all geologic the display promises to surpass, in numbers and in brilliancy, anything yet witnessed. The most striking and beautiful feature in the procession will be a large triumphal car, splendidly decorated and illuminated, and freighted with thirty-one young ladies, each representing one of the States of the Union. We presume the beauty will be put to witness this novel and impressive spectacle.

CLOSING OF HOOK BANKING HOUSE.—The affairs of this distinguished gentleman at the Hooker Hall last night was one of management and superhuman arguments. He certainly surpassed himself on the occasion, speaking for two hours and twenty minutes, and concluding at so late an hour that we are precluded from giving anything but a very brief notice of the address. No report of ours, in fact, could do the speaker justice.

Not a man of the vast audience assembled in the spacious apartment of the hall but was excited to the utmost and inspired to do his duty at the polls, regardless of success or defeat. "Let us but do what is right," said Mr. Hunt, "and there can be no omen but tells us of the triumphant election of Millard Fillmore." As the speaker commenced by expressing his regret that Solomon had prevented him from appearing at an earlier day, before his fellow-citizens, to address them and introduce illegal ones. The time has passed, we trust never to return, when this Knavish game can be played, in New Orleans at least.

THE CANVASS IN THE STATE.

The Presidential election is so near that it is hardly worth while speculating upon the chances in Louisiana. Nevertheless, we subjoin passages from various letters received yesterday as evidences of the determined spirit and enthusiasm which animate our friends in all directions:

MONROE, Oct. 2d, 1856.

Mr. Benjamin has filled his appointments through this part of the State, and with success fill all of them, except in Winnsboro', for the 27th inst. The friends of Fillmore sought discussion in Union parish, but were refused, save upon the most unequal and unacceptable terms. Through the Democrats had previously free debate. Consequently by the good will and the field to himself. Of one thing you may be certain, viz: that his figures was not satisfactory to the Democrats, and did them no good. On the contrary, I believe it gained votes for the American party. At Monroe Mr. Benjamin spoke, no reply being permitted. At Bastrop, on the 23d, he spoke again. Learning that Captain Dreux, of your city, would be present, we endeavored to obtain discussion, which was granted reluctantly, and with a provision that the Fillmore speaker should only be allowed to close the same after dinner with Mr. Gray, the Democratic candidate for elector. Accordingly, Benjamin made a two hours' speech; then came the repast, after which Capt. Dreux followed in one of the most convincing answers to Benjamin I have ever heard. Benjamin did not stay to listen to Capt. D., but went off immediately, leaving Mr. Gray as his forum tenens, who endeavored to vindicate the political course of Benjamin, but with very indifferent success.

Benjamin's work for his party does not tell in this quarter of the State. His efforts are charged and unworthy of himself. His speeches are absolute rehashes of that delivered at Odd Fellow's Hall. As a proof of the little effect produced in Ouachita parish, I may add that they held a very large meeting the same evening, which was addressed by dozens of burning eloquence by Messrs. Dirks and Col. Sparks. The meeting adjourned with a torchlight procession—the first I have seen here.

Captain Dreux goes to Warsaw in Texas, where a grand Fillmore rally is to take place. The prospect is brightening throughout this section of the State, and I am confident we shall gain upon the vote of last year. Do your duty in the city, and we shall rescue Louisiana from the grasp of the speculator.

S.

We have another letter from Monroe, descriptive of the events narrated in the preceding. The writer closes by saying: "The best feeling prevails here. No Democratic gains have been made, and I am informed that in some parishes there will be a great falling off from the vote of last year. In Franklin, which gave 60 for Wickliffe, our friends are sanguine of carrying the day. We anticipate also gains in Union, Morehouse, Claiborne, Winn and Jackson."

The following is from one of the most prominent and active Fillmore men in the parish of Madison:

DELTA, Madison Pa., Oct. 21st, 1856.

Old Madison is awake and hard at work. I have just returned from a thorough canvass of the whole parish, and feel confident we will give an increased majority over the last election, which was 58 for Governor. Never did a party work more faithfully than ours, and rest assured that it shall not relax in our exertions until the close of the election.

I have never beheld more enthusiasm at any election—not even in '40 and '44. Business of every sort is abandoned. The lawyer, planter, merchant, physician, mechanic, all have suspended labor, mounted their horses, loaded wagons with provisions, and forming in procession, headed by music, singers and bangers, traverse the parish, to the delight of the Fillmore men and the consternation of the adversary. RIVER INTELLIGENCE.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 31.—The river is falling slowly, with 13 inches on the falls.

We find the following dispatch in the Buffalo Express:

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—There was a large Fillmore meeting to-night, which was addressed by several speakers. All seemingly favoring a fusion were hooted down. Mr. Judge Read, a speaker, in favor of no alliance was made to the proposed fusion, and he was loudly cheered. W. G. Read attempted to speak, but was greeted with hisses and groans, and cries of traitor. He made his escape by the back door.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

NATURALIZATION.—There were four persons naturalized before Judge Robertson's court yesterday, among whom was Mr. Conrow, formerly connected for several years with the New Orleans Delta, as editor or proprietor, and at one time a member of city and State Legislature. Mr. Conrow's preliminary declaration to early as 1846. He had his name recognized as a voter yesterday.

SPRINKLING OR "CASE'S GAIETY."—It will be seen by reference to the advertisement that this extensive theatre will be opened on Thursday evening next, the 6th inst. The establishment has been done up and fresh[illegible] considerable expense, and during it one of the most superb and comfortable places of amusement possible.

From what we have learned of the dramatic corps engaged by Messrs. Case, we assume, that from[illegible] the country as well as the New Orleans during the winter months, may reasonably calculate upon having a rare feast of entertainment every night at the Gaiety. As to the operatic company, with which Mr. Chapman will be associated, it has the reputation of several of the character's engaged, pre-eminent favorably of seasons. Our readers have already been furnished with their names.

In order more readily to accommodate the company of a card from Mr. Chapman, one of the principal singers and actresses of the company, who, we notice by the New York papers, has gained considerable celebrity in an original character at Niblo's Theatre. If the characteristics her temporaneous performance with her of the grace and precision which she beautifully exhibits on the stage, would indicate, we feel that we could not be disappointed.

THE PELICAN THEATRE.—We notice that this establishment, which has for some time presented a very unsightly appearance, has undergone a thorough renovation, and is now one of the most tasteful and elegant of the kind in the city. The interior has been thoroughly changed in its construction as well as appearance. The first performance for the season will be opened early next week by the Carreno Minstrels.

ATTRACTIONS AT VARIETY'S MUSEUM.—We are pleased to announce, according to an advertisement in another column, that our old friends, Vannuchi, opens his excellent establishment this morning, at the same stand, No. 107 Chartres street.

The [illegible] hundreds of new [illegible] exhibition for the gratification [illegible] citizens and country visitors [illegible] to be found in the Museum, such as [illegible] portraits of The Last Supper and The Trial of Christ, cannot fail to attract the highest commendation of all, and especially of those religiously inclined. VIOLENT ASSAULT BY A NEGRO.—The slave Sam, belonging to Mrs. Lefevre, of Prieur's [illegible] was arrested yesterday on the charge of Capt. McCarthy, of the steamer Natchez, with [illegible] charges the said slave with having assaulted two of the crew on the morning of the 29th, which occurred on board his boat during her last trip. He was sent to prison for examination before Recorder Peters.

SHOT BEFORE THE CRIMINAL COURT.—Pat. Flanagan was yesterday committed to the Parish prison by the First Judicial Court for trial, on charges of larceny and burglary. He is said to be a notorious burglar.

Patrick Cody was committed by Recorder Steiner, yesterday, to await a charge of murder, in having caused the death of John Feeny, by striking him on the head with a [illegible] on Saturday night, on Girod street, Levee.

MAYHEM.—Alonzo Shropshire was arraigned before Recorder Steiner, yesterday, on the charge of mayhem, the charge being in connection with the affair of Saturday night, in which Shropshire is said to have bitten off the ear of Mr. Bowen, and also to have struck him with a knife. The accused was sent to prison for further examination to-day.

ASSESSED POSITIVE FOR MYSELF.—Wm. D. Mitchell was yesterday before Recorder Bush [illegible] charge of assault and battery, with intent to kill, preferred against him by Joseph Hart. The evidence showed that the defendant had struck the complainant with a knife, inflicting a severe wound in the abdomen, from which it was supposed Hart would die. The accused was sent to prison for further examination to-day.
