A VOICE FROM GEORGIA.

ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS has finally announced himself a candidate for re-election to Congress in the Eighth District of Georgia, and has issued a sort of political manifesto explanatory of his views in relation to Kansas, Gov. WALKER, and the President. Mr. STEPHENS, though by no means consistent in principle, is unquestionably one of the ablest public men of the day, and his utterances touching great national questions deserve serious consideration. His letter is very long, and much of it irrelevant to the issue before the people of Georgia. He enters upon an elaborate investigation of the true meaning and intent of the Kansas act—that unfortunate statute which seems to have been unluckily or designedly framed so as to be susceptible of two distinct constructions. Of course the Southern interpretation is maintained by Mr. STEPHENS, who proves, to his own satisfaction at least, that in securing the success of that measure the South obtained the greatest and most precious boon she could possibly have demanded.

Much the largest portion of Mr. STEPHENS's letter is occupied with this tedious disquisition, and he finally arrives at the conclusion that if the principle of the Kansas act is faithfully carried out, the South will have nothing to fear. This brings him by an easy gradation to the question of the conduct of Gov. J. WALKER, which Mr. STEPHENS condemns without reserve, and on pretty much the grounds assumed by sensible men of the South. We subjoin the annexed passages from his letter as illustrative of the mode in which he treats the subject:

I have said that this will be an important question, probably, before the next Congress. This arises from the declaration and action of Governor Walker in his inaugural and late speeches in that Territory. I have no disposition, it seems to me, to find fault with the plain letter and meaning of the Kansas bill, as well as the resolution quoted from the Cincinnati platform, upon which the present administration was elected to power. The constitution declares it to be the true meaning and intent of the act, to leave it to the people to settle their own institutions in their own way for themselves. His argument against the legislation of Slavery ever going there, was addressed to the people of that Territory, and is the proper tribunal to decide. If Governor Walker had barely suggested, recommended or advised its submission, I should not complain of that part of his address. But he goes much further than this; he does not do it, the new State will not be, and ought not to be admitted. This is virtually saying that to people, voting under the legally and fairly expressed will of the majority, shall not form their constitution on their own way, but in the way, or that which Congress shall see fit to declare. How so sweeping up the whole question in a single clause. It goes further. It purges up the odd Missouri question—that is, the right and power of Congress to impose conditions and restrictions upon the new States in the form of their Constitutions—when, by the plain letter of the Constitution of the United States, Congress can only look into the Constitution of the new State applying for admission to see that it is a republican in form. If it come from legally constituted authorities, Congress has no right or power to inquire into or take jurisdiction over the question as to how it was made—no more in the case of Kansas than in the case of Georgia or Rhode Island. And if Kansas should be rejected on that ground, then an inquiry might be instituted as to how all the other States' Constitutions have been made. The question is one full involving our whole federative system.

How much point it seems to me, is exactly verified by the speech we have referred to in Walker's address. Their minds are directed simply to the propriety of committing the Constitution to the decision. On that point I have nothing to say, because it properly and directly concerns nobody but the people of Kansas. It is the affair of the Territory and their chosen organ, to do it or not to do it, as they please. But suppose they chose not to do it? Was Governor Walker or any body else with authority to say, either that she would not or ought not to be admitted into the Union. Has Mr. WALKER been invested with powers which will warrant him in holding or insinuating such a threat? This may or may not become an important question before the next Congress, according as the Convention then may or may not decide to form a Slave Constitution. But if there do exist any such powers, the question will be differently decided. But if there do not, and they adopt a pro-slavery Constitution without submitting it, and present them to the Union under the law as other States, other States have done, then the question comes up with all its interest and magnitude. Then will Mr. WALKER's broader views of the power of Congress than any one heretofore has set up with Kansas matters. It strikes at the root of the principle of self-government. It is to the people of the States, recognized as State Rights and Democratic principles, that all higher imperial powers are to be confined in the position of mere limited, purely administrative.

This view seems to us eminently just and reasonable, and is not cured with the evidences of a fair statement which Mr. STEPHENS gives of his position. When, however, he comes to discuss Mr. BUCHANAN, he seems disposed to wax somewhat indulgent. "It says he, "is the policy of the President to take sides with G. Vernon WALKER, he and they will share the same fate—and odds immediately. I cannot, however, permit myself to believe for a moment that they will, in that contingency, seek such grounds—and then goes on to say that the course of Mr. BUCHANAN, his predecessor, his Cabinet, the conduct of his administration, and the approval it has received in the South, apart from this Walker business, Mr. STEPHENS strives hard to make a distinction between the President and himself, and to apologize for the President, who, overlooking the creature who is indebted to him for once in his existence, finds in the mass of evidence whatever for his action. Mr. BUCHANAN, I. WALKER has acted improperly, why was he not recalled? If he has exceeded the President's and contravened his instructions, why is he suffered to retain his post? Those who were willing to allow the President time to judge of the infidelity of his agent, cannot deny that ample time has been given. Mr. STEPHENS says he is not in the habit of condemning without a hearing, as if Mr. BUCHANAN may have reasons for his course we know nothing of. How puerile this—if there it be applied as well to Mr. WALKER as to BUCHANAN! It is unmanly in it to be so sweepingly down ferociously on the poor instrument of the Executive, while protecting and sheltering from censure the power that intended that instrument with authority. We should prefer seeing Mr. STEPHENS boldly applaud WALKER, after the fashion of the Washington Union and Richmond Enquirer, rather than behold this shuffling, evasive, and unjust policy by which Mr. BUCHANAN is held innocent of deeds which could only have been committed under his sanction and with his approval.

In various counties of England protective associations have been formed of persons who pledge themselves not to purchase a thimble full of sugar until it has declined four cents per pound.

One of the papers in the Third Congressional District announces the intelligence, by telegraph, of the appointment of T. G. Davidson as Charge d'Affaires to Denmark. This is news to us, but may be true, and would certainly be a capital stroke of the Washington wire-pullers to get rid of old Tom, satisfy his ambition, and restore harmony to the District.

LOUISIANA ITEMS.

The Iberville Sentinel says:

Another week has passed and still have we to record the same old words, "rain, rain, rain." It rains every day—none of your sprinkling showers, but coming down in torrents. On Sunday night last about the severest thunder storm we ever experienced occurred here. It seems to be a change a-foot, even the case, we fear, will it seem as to be injured by it; for such unusual weather cannot tend to the benefit of any kind of product cultivated in this section.

The Coast Journal, on the other hand, says:

The weather has at length, to the great joy of, we believe, all the world in this section, become good, and our roads are assuming a more agreeable aspect than they have presented for a month past. The planters tell us that a spell of a month's dry weather is to mature the cane, which has grown rapidly in consequence of the rains, will make their crops all the more heavy.

We take the following from the De Soto Columbian:

On Saturday last we were shown several stalks of cotton, fully opened, from the field of Judge Overton, which must have been opened more than ten days, if appearance was an indication. At the present date the cotton is differently affected in the parish has commenced opening beautifully.

The Thibodaux Minerva has the following:

ACCIDENT.—A negro belonging to A. V. & J. M. SUTHERLAND, of this parish, was run over, and instantly killed on the night of the 15th inst., on the Opelousas Railroad on Plaquemine.

The Terrebonne Cross speaks as follows of the weather:

During the first part of the week the weather was dry and clear, and the roads were fast drying up, but on Thursday last a change again paid us his accustomed visits; and, judging from appearances, we will have more rain yet.

The Democrats of Plaquemine have nominated E. Laurence for Representative, J. L. Marmary, F. Hebert, V. M. Soliz for Sheriff, J. Dragon for Coroner, and C. Bulot for Assessor. In their Convention they passed a resolution warmly recommending Mr. Charles Duclos to Collector Hatch for an office in the Custom-house.

The Mobile Tribune of Sunday last says: The first bale of the present cotton crop are read at this city by the Mobile and Ohio railroad last evening, from Macon, Mississippi. It was grown by Mr. N. H. Harrison, of Noxubee county, Miss., and is consigned to C. E. Lobman.

DISTRESSING SUICIDE.—On Sunday morning Mr. George Rembold, first teller of the Western Bank, committed suicide at Philadelphia by cutting his throat with a razor. He had been in ill health for some time past, but it was thought that he was gradually recovering. No reason is assigned for this rash act.

The deceased was much esteemed.

THE AMERICAN HORSES IN ENGLAND.—The American horses in England will have an abundant opportunity to wipe away the stigma of defeat that followed the Goodwood races, as they are entered for ten engagements, singly or together, running up to October the 29th. The first is the Champagne stakes, one mile heat, at the Brighton meeting, on the 8th of September, and Prioress are entered with twenty other horses, the flower of the English turf. This race was run on the 5th inst., and we shall hear in a few days how Lecompte behaved. On the 10th inst. Lecompte and Prioress run at Lewes, two mile race; on the 12th Prioress runs alone at York, a single dash of one mile; again the latter at Hereford, on the 27th inst., two miles and a half. Both Pryor and Prioress are entered at the same time and place for the Royal plate; terms, conditions, weights and distance the same exactly as for the Goodwood cup. The next engagement is for Prioress for the Leamington stakes, September 30, two miles, for which the best horses in England are entered. The following day the three American horses run for the Warwick cup, distance three miles. At the Doncaster meeting, Sept. 15th, Mr. Ten Broeck has entered his three year old colt Babylon. At the Houghton meeting, Oct. 26th, Pryor and Lecompte enter for sweepstakes of $100 each, half forfeit, with $500 added, for a race over a track four miles, one furlong and one hundred and seventy-three yards. The last shows the speed and endurance of the horses, and is considered the best for the American racers, which have been trained to run at greater distances than the English horses usually run.

EUROPE.

FURTHER BY THE COLUMBIA.

The mails by the Columbia were received yesterday. They do not add much to previous advices.

The English papers were mainly occupied with rumors and speculations, in the absence of further advices, upon the affairs of India.

Rumors are again current that the Persian government do not intend to evacuate Herat, the news of the revolt in India having prompted them to such a course. The London Globe, however, says that nothing authentic has been received upon the subject.

An explosion occurred in a coal mine at Ashton-under-Lyne on the 31st July, and about forty of the miners were killed.

"Christy's Minstrels" made their first appearance at the St. James Theatre, London, on the 3d, and met with great success.

The clipper ships James Baines and Champion of the Seas (both of American build) were at Portsmouth, taking in troops for India. Their splendid proportions attracted great attention, and the Queen herself had inspected them.

True bills have been found against Spollen, the alleged murderer of Mr. Little, in Dublin.

The Queen of the Netherlands was on a visit to Liverpool.

The four vessels comprising the Atlantic Telegraph Expedition left Queenstown at six o'clock on the evening of Monday, the 3d of August, and were expected to reach Valentia Bay in season to commence operations on the following morning. Lord Lieutenant of Ireland had arrived at the starting point of the telegraph in order to witness the proceedings.

The departure of the Emperor and Empress of France for Osborne had been fixed for the 5th of August. It was said that they would only be accompanied by Count Walewski, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, and General Rollin.

Letters from France say that the silk harvest there is from one-third to one-fourth under a fair ordinary crop. The new wheat was proving of excellent quality and bulk, and realized one to two francs per hectolitre upon old. A good and early vintage is expected.

It is intimated that the Pope is determined to extend his journey to Turkey, where, it is predicted, an unpleasant reception awaits him.

The Emperor of Austria had officiated at the inauguration of the Trieste railway, which unites the Adriatic to the North Sea. Baron Bruck, the Austrian Minister of Finance, in a speech upon the occasion, expressed the cordial wishes of the government for the realization of the Suez Canal, and declared that the opposition of a single government (England) would not check that grand conception.

The Paris Pays says:

The English government have decided that the fortifications of Malta shall be immediately strengthened; £10,000 have been voted for that purpose, and a Colonel of Engineers has been appointed to proceed to the Ionian Islands. The measure is significant in the presence of the warm contest between the Ionian Parliament and the British authorities.

GREAT BRITAIN.—In the House of Lords, on Monday, Lord Palmure introduced a bill empowering government to embody and call out the militia for any time before the 25th of March next, without the consent of Parliament being first had. He said that a state of things existed in India which caused as great a drain upon the army's resources as if a country was engaged in a foreign war, and to meet this drain ten new battalions were to be raised. The establishment was to be increased from 500 to 1000 rank and file, and the force serving in India from 1000 to 1200. All this could be done without going beyond existing acts, and the charge would merely fall upon the East India Company; but as time would be necessary to provide this increase in the army, and the country would not like the interim to be drained of troops, the embodiment of the militia might become necessary. After some remarks from the opposition that the measure ought to have been brought forward earlier, the bill was read a first time.

FRANCE.—Another comet was discovered at the Paris Imperial Observatory, by M. Petersen, on the 24th of July, and independently on the 30th of July by Professor Rabichi, of Milan.

THE ITALIAN CONSPIRATORS.—In consequence of information derived from the individuals ordered for trial on a charge of having conspired to assassinate the Emperor, eight Italian refugees left Paris on a charge given, even the case, we fear, will in some way be injured by it; for such unusual weather cannot tend to the benefit of any kind of product cultivated in this section.

The Court Journal, on the other hand, says:

The weather has at length, to the great joy of, we believe, all the world in this section, become good, and our roads are assuming a more agreeable aspect than they have presented for a month past. The planters tell us that a spell of a month's dry weather is to mature the cane, which has grown rapidly in consequence of the rains, will make their crops all the more heavy.
