FURTHER BY THE INDIAN.

By mail from New York we have some additional European news by steamer Indian, arrived at Quebec.

PRUSSIA.—The Times has re-appointed an own correspondent at Berlin. Until some time has elapsed, his assertions must be taken somewhat on trust. The Prussian proposals, he says, are known in the hands of France and England. With England Prussia has been unsuccessful, but she has more hope of Russia; and the writer is of opinion that the Czar is not likely to take any active part against Germany. By the end of next week the Prussian army will be in full march. The officials will be stationed so as to be ready to march at a moment's notice, the whole of the Rhine Provinces on the Lower and Middle Rhine 100,000 will be stationed—80,000 at Brussels, 40,000 at Cologne, and 20,000 at Coblentz. The latter force also progresses in support by the Ninth and Tenth corps of the Federal army. When these preparations are complete, Prussia will probably make her proposals to France. Should she decline, that with most unquestionably be refused, and then Prussia will be compelled either to support her diplomacy by bayonets—or to eat her leek.

The Berlin correspondent of the Times gives an outline of the peace propositions of Prussia, which he says he is enabled to do in France, as the main feature is adverted to by the Paris correspondent of the Advertiser, who says King Leopold is desirous of proposing to the diplomacy of Europe that Venice must be a separate independent state. The erection of Venice into a separate kingdom he deems advisable. He even proposes to effect this settlement with the consent of Austria, which he engages to obtain if the crown be bestowed upon the Austrian Archduke Maximilian, brother to the Emperor of Austria, and the husband of King Leopold's daughter, the Princess Charlotte.

The Times correspondent says of the Prince of Prussia that though he has not given any proof of strategic ability, he is nevertheless impressed with the idea, so prevalent among crowned heads, of being a great captain, and has ultimate ambitions in command as a Generalissimo the army of the Germanic Confederation.

THE PAPAL STATES.—An inquiry into the late disturbances at Perugia has been ordered.

The official condemnation by the French Government of the article which appeared in the Pays a week, affirms that respect for the Papacy forms part of the policy which the Emperor is carrying out in Italy. The responsibility of the conflict at Perugia is cast on those who compelled the Pontifical Government to the use of force which it never made dull use. The following is a portion of the Pays's article:

"There was one child growing up happy among all his mother and sheltered under the invincible protection of his parents' love. One day the representative of a power which pretends to dictate to Italy, to the extract, broke every head and heart how down before it, and to set at naught the holiest instincts of humanity, invaded the maternal home, and the child was carried off. It has been declared in spite of the almost unanimous protests of mankind. This proceeding is known as the Mortara affair. After Mortara, now comes the Perugia affair. We all know the Pontifical power; history tells us what it has done. It is not like any other power, liable to be carried away by passion. It has its reason for all it does, and the exact nature of the scenes at Perugia are easily understood. The emancipation of Italy was proceeding too rapidly. It was necessary to check it by some clever coup. It was accomplished. It possible, the Italian cause with itself. That is why the Swiss were sent to Perugia. That place, treated by the Pontifical troops just as Verona was treated by the Austrians, is neither more nor less than a plot directed against France and Piedmont.

Every one will understand, without any explanation, the object of the project, which is intended to separate Italy into two portions, one emancipated by France, the other mastered by treason. The French and Sardinian forces of one hundred thousand men ought to be maintained and an equal force of disembodied trained militia. He regarded the assertion that France had no wish to invade England as undeserving of consideration. England ought to live in perfect independence of French forbearance, relying alone upon the vigor of her people.

Lord Glanville deprecated the introduction of a topic of so delicate a nature. He thought Lord Lyndhurst's remarks were calculated to annoy and irritate the French. He spoke, however, as did other members, in favor of strengthening military and naval defenses.

In the Commons, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, in answer to Mr. Baxter, said the attention of the Government had been called to the contract to carry mails between Germany and the United States, but had not yet considered whether it would be advisable, in the interest of the public, that the said contract should, under certain conditions, be cancelled; he intended, however, to move for a Select Committee to inquire into the whole system of contracts.

The Fourth of July was celebrated in London by a banquet at St. James' Hall. Gen. R. B. Campbell, United States Consul at London, presided. Among the guests were Messrs. Dallas, John Bright, M. P., Cyrus W. Field and others. The usual toasts were given and responded to with much enthusiasm. Mr. Dallas, in a speech, compared the present position of Italy to that of the United States in 1776, in its wish for independence, and, without entering into the merits of the war, expressed a warm sympathy with the spirit of the national independence, let it exist wherever it may, and concluded by proposing a sentiment to that effect. The chairman in proposing a toast of non-intervention, the true policy of a free government, coupled with it in sulogistic terms the name of Mr. Bright. That gentleman responded in a characteristic speech, in which he gave his strongest assent to the toast and reiterated his admiration for American principles.

Sundry other speeches were made and all passed off well.

Charles Villiers has been appointed President of the Poor Law Board, with a seat in the cabinet vice Milner Gibson, who accepted the post declined by Mr. Cobden.

The London Advertiser gives currency to a rumor that Mr. Cobden is likely to be offered the Governor Generalship of Canada.

It is stated that Mr. Disraeli was offered a baronetcy on his retirement from office. He declined.

Mr. Mure, British Consul at New Orleans, sued for and obtained a divorce from his wife in London.

A deputation from the Atlantic Steamship Company (Galway line) had waited on the Chancellor of the Exchequer to urge sundry improvements at Galway harbor.

It was announced that the Atlantic Telegraph Company obtained the co operation of Robert Stephenson, Professors Wheatstone and Thompson, who, with Mr. Varley, consulting electrician of the company, and other scientific individuals, will form a committee to investigate and advise as to the construction of the next cable.

Mr. Seward, Secretary of the Atlantic Telegraph Company, publishes letters contradictory of the absurd rumor that the cable had never been in perfect operation. He shows that there were actually transmitted a total of three hundred and sixty-six messages or thirty-nine hundred and forty words.

Arrival of the City of Washington.

ONE DAY LATER FROM EUROPE.

The Latest from Italy.

A battle was daily expected on the Adige at last accounts.

Ancona has been declared in a state of siege.

Per telegraph from London to Queenstown we have the following:

LONDON, July 7.—The Paris correspondent of the London Times says the Minister of War and Marshal Pelissier have had another conference, for the purpose of concerting measures to complete the organization of the army of the East.

An eighth division is in course of organization at Lyons, to reinforce the army in Italy.

A dispatch from Trieste, dated July 7th, says a steamer from Naples to the 29th ultimo announce that legal proceedings have been taken against a secret political society at Messina, and several arrests have been made. Address had also been received from Ancona to the 30th of June. Garrison and Citizens mutiny had taken command of the town and declared it in a state of siege. A general disarming of the citizens had also been ordered.

An Address from the Sardinian Admiral to the people of Messina had been issued.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times says that letters from the headquarters of Prince Napoleon state that another great battle was expected on the banks of the Mincio. The Austrians are believed to have two hundred thousand men in line.

Fresh battalions are organizing at Paris for Italy.

The London Times also says the French will act only on the offensive.

Reliable information had reached Vienna that Garibaldi's men had violated Tyrol by entering the Tonale pass. Prince Windischgratz has been sent to Berlin to acquaint the Prussian Government with this fact.

A Frankfort letter announces that the Austrian Government is having been compelled by the battle of Solferino to dispatch to the seat of war those troops which it had in reserve in the Tyrol, that province being consequently menaced by the invasion of Garibaldi's corps, it intends to propose to the Diet, in virtue of the treaty of Venice, which authorizes the German States to guarantee each other German territory, to send the German army into the Tyrol.

Kossuth has issued a proclamation calling the Hungarian nation to arms, in defence of liberty, and he announces that he will soon be among them.

The Invalide Russe discusses the possible complications of the war. Prussia, it says, has called out an army of three hundred thousand men, which will be reinforced by a federal contingent of one hundred and fifty thousand men, and it is with a view to this enormous display of force that she proposes to offer her mediation to France and to hasten the conclusion of peace. But such an armed mediation constitutes a part of an ultimatum is not France entitled to reply that the conditions of peace ought to be proposed by all the great powers conjointly—not by Prussia alone; and that such an armed mediation made by a single power is equivalent to a declaration of war. But when, to maintain the Austrian possessions in Italy, a German army of one million men shall be put in motion to attack France, can Lord Palmerston's and Russell's administration remain indifferent spectators of a new conflagration? The English ministry will most certainly not allow a new war to begin without first exhausting all her powers of persuasion.

FRANKFORT, July 6.—It is stated that the proposition made by Prussia on the 4th inst., at ordinary sitting of the Federal Diet, on the 5th, were the following:

First—The junction of the Ninth and Tenth corps of the Federal army.

Second—The appointment to the command in chief of the four non-Prussian and non-Austrian corps d'armée.

Third—The placing of all the reserve contingent troops in readiness to march.

BERNE, July 8.—News has been received here from Bormio that a corps of three to five thousand Tyrolese Chasseurs had been threatening the Valtelline, but several columns of Garibaldi's and Cialdini's corps had repulsed them from Bormio and driven them as far as the frog Canton of the Stelvia. The Austrians suffered severely.

It was reported in England that the British mail steamers had been requested to prepare to carry armaments.

The Fire Marshal of New York city reports a decrease of incendiary fires in that city in the last six months. The total loss by fire in six months has been but $200,500, which is $978,840 less than in the previous six months. Among the causes of fire have been: Camphene and fluid lamps 18; carelessness of children in regard to matches and fire, 10; gas lights in windows and leaky gas meters, 14; hot air furnaces, flues and registers, 8; carelessness with lights, 10; sparks on roofs, 8; imperfect stoves and stove pipes, 11; chimney flues and chimneys 24. There were seven women burnt to death from the careless use of fluid and camphene, and four men, six women and one child were badly injured from the same cause; while from other causes there were four women, one man, and three children burnt to death.

Telegraphic Items.

Four attempts at incendiarism were made in the Sixth Ward on Saturday, one proving successful, destroying a barn. The authors are yet undiscovered.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Boston, July 18.—A misplaced switch at South Middleboro', on the Old Colony Railroad, caused a collision on Saturday afternoon between two trains. ANOTHER SUICIDE OF A PROMINENT MAN.—Worcester, Mass., July 18.—John Smith, of Barre, in this county, one of our most extensive manufacturers and wealthiest citizens, committed suicide this morning by hanging himself in the banisters of the stairs in his own house. MARINE DISASTER.—Norfolk, July 18.—The schooner W. H. Eaton, of Staten Island, before reported ashore, has been gotten off and arrived here to-day, leaking.

Judge JOHN GAYLE, late Judge of the U. S. District Court of Alabama, expired at his residence near Mobile on Thursday morning last. The Advertiser says:

Judge Gayle was among the most illustrious citizens of Alabama, having spent the greater part of his life in the public service, and filled nearly every post of distinction in the State. He was twice Governor of the State, and represented this district one term in the Congress of the United States. He was appointed in 1849, by President Taylor, Judge of the United States District Court for the District of Alabama, which position he continued to occupy up to the time of his death. He was universally respected and beloved for his exalted worth and gentleness of nature.

A Strange Affair.

A MAN FALLS IN LOVE WITH HIS OWN DAUGHTER.—A Narrow Escape from Marriage.—Some fifteen years ago a man named George Brittol left this city for the shores of the Pacific. At the time he left he had a wife and one child, the latter only three years old. They resided in the town of Weaver, at that time his wife and child were living with her father. Some two years after, the father and mother of the woman died, their estate was disposed of to satisfy mortgages, and Mrs. Bristol and her child were thrown upon the cold charities of the world for a living. She was very feeble of health, and of course was unable to take care of herself.

The mother and child came to this city, where they lived for some five years, at the expiration of which time the mother died, and the girl was left alone in the world to do as best she could. Being now about ten years old, and a smart, active, good-looking girl, she soon found a situation in a respectable family. Here she remained till she was fifteen years old, when she bound herself out to a milliner. She served three years at that business, and then left the employ of her former employer. Now, the strangest portion of this revelation is to be told. The girl is now over eighteen years old, and a perfect model of her sex.

During this long interval it must be remembered that the girl lost all track of her father. Her beauty attracted the attention and admiration of a gentleman boarder—a man who met her on Broadway. He was a man of about forty years, but his appearance did not indicate that he had ever seen over twenty-five summers. An acquaintance was made between her and the gentleman above alluded to, and a final engagement entered into for marriage. The day was set and all the necessary arrangements made for the ceremony.

On the appointed day the pair, accompanied by their respective friends, met for the purpose of having the plighted ones joined in wedlock. Just before the minister commenced the marriage rites an old couple entered. They were parents by birth of the bridegroom, had watched the girl grow up from infancy, and were now anxious to see the choice she had made in a partner for life. Imagine the surprise of all when it was the old couple above referred recognized in the "man of the girl's heart" her own legitimate father!

For a moment all was amazement and sadness, but on the state of things being fully realized, the scene turned to one of joy. An absent father had recovered a lost daughter, and the assembled friends of both were highly delighted that the affair had resulted as it did. The love that had before burned so brightly between the twain had now become a flame as inextinguishable as the fires of Œsuvius. A queer world, this.—Albany (New York) Standard, of the 14th.

RESUSCITATION AFTER AN APPARENT DEATH FROM CHLOROFORM.—A case is reported in the London Medical Times of recovery after apparent death from chloroform, in which artificial respiration was kept up for half an hour before any voluntary respiratory action was perceived. During the latter portion of this time the pulse could be felt at the wrist, but previously there had not been the slightest sign of life. Ordinary means of restoration used except the enema of brandy.

This is a very interesting case on account of the length of time which elapsed before any action of the heart or lungs was observed, and it shows plainly the importance of perseverance in efforts to reanimate even after life seems to have completely departed.

Artificial respiration was produced in this case by pressure on the chest, and not by the pocket, or Marshall Hall method, which would probably not have proved effectual in this instance, as the patient, a little girl six years old, was much emaciated, and the weight of the body of one was sufficient to have compressed the chest effectually.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT FROM BURNING FLUID.—One Woman Burnt to Death and two others Injured.—A shocking accident from burning fluid occ rred on Wednesday night, in Mr. Faulkner street, running North from Carpenter, above Third, by which one woman was so severely burned that she died at one o'clock yesterday morning, and two others injured, one believed to be fatally so. The facts were these: A lad who was engaged, as we suppose, as a substitute in lighting the public lamps, being unable, owing to the high wind, to light one with matches, in front of the dwelling referred to, took the lamp, filled with burning fluid from the house, and attempted to light it by another lamp; the fluid was spilled upon the flame and ignited in his alarm he threw the lamp from him, and it fell into the lap of Mrs. Hagan, one of the inhabitants, enveloping her in flames in a moment. In an attempt to render assistance, the dress of Mrs. Sarah Wingate was set on fire, and she was terribly burnt before the flames were extinguished. Miss Eveline Hayward was also burnt, but not so severely. As soon as he had discovered the mischief he had done, the lad left the house quickly, and did not return. Medical aid was at once procured, but no hope was entertained from the first of the recovery of Mrs. Ward. She lingered until one o'clock yesterday morning, when death relieved her of her sufferings. The injuries of Mrs. Wingate, who is advanced in age, it is believed will terminate fatally. The terrible casualty resulted from entrusting the lighting of the street lamps to a boy, by the man whose duty it was to perform the task. Lamplighters, as a common practice, and to which is to be attributed the frequent complaints of the lamps not being lighted. If men are employed for the purpose, and regularly for the service, they should be required to do it, and not be allowed to entrust it to boys.—Philadelphia Ledger.

NAPOLEON III THE RESULT OF A SINGULAR PROVIDENCE.—To the Editor of the New York Times: I desire to call the attention of your numerous readers to a fact which has never been alluded to, and to which, in the present position of the Emperor of the French, is worthy of notice. It is generally admitted that Napoleon I commenced his downward course by the divorcement of Josephine, and we have sermons and homilies without end to this effect. That he was punished by God for the accomplishment of some great purpose, which was never fully completed, is now allowed by all parties. That he was to be the instrument which favored the work for the cure of Liver and Bilious complaints, notwithstanding the great prevalence of those diseases in the United States. This mediate is supplied by Dr. M'Lane's Liver Pills, as has been proved in every instance in which it has had a trial. Always beneficial, not a solitary instance has ever occurred in which its effects have been injurious. The invention of an educated and distinguished physician, it has nothing in common with the quack nostrums imposed upon the public by shallow pretenders to the medical art. Experience has now proved, beyond a doubt, that Dr. M'Lane's Pill is the best remedy ever proposed for the Liver Complaints.

☞ Purchasers will be careful to ask for Dr. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS, manufactured by FLEMING BROS., of Pittsburgh, Pa. There are other Pills purporting to be Liver Pills, now before the public. Dr. M'Lane's genuine Liver Pills, also his celebrated Vermifuge, can now be had at all respectable drug stores. None genuine without the signature of FLEMING BROS.

Dr. M'Lane's Liver Pills.

When the proprietors, Fleming Bros., of Pittsburg, Pa., of the invaluable remedy purchased it of the heirs of the late Dr. M'Lane, they found in the hands for the cure of Liver and Bilious complaints, notwithstanding the great prevalence of those diseases in the United States. This mediate is supplied by Dr. M'Lane's Liver Pills, as has been proved in every instance in which it has had a trial. Always beneficial, not a solitary instance has ever occurred in which its effects have been injurious. The invention of an educated and distinguished physician, it has nothing in common with the quack nostrums imposed upon the public by shallow pretenders to the medical art. Experience has now proved, beyond a doubt, that Dr. M'Lane's Pill is the best remedy ever proposed for the Liver Complaints.

☞ Purchasers will be careful to ask for Dr. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS, manufactured by FLEMING BROS., of Pittsburgh, Pa. There are other Pills purporting to be Liver Pills, now before the public. Dr. M'Lane's genuine Liver Pills, also his celebrated Vermifuge, can now be had at all respectable drug stores. None genuine without the signature of FLEMING BROS.

Mattewap's Ointment and Pills.—Even if the whole surface of the body is absolutely boiled over with disease, the Ointment and Pills will cure it, may be healed and purified by the Ointment, assisted internally by the Pills.

A Word to the Ladies.

In recommending to you to use Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters it is but just to say that the manufacturers have been at great pains and expense to obtain certain peculiar vegetables which are obtained abroad with much pain and trouble, we know of no preparation more highly adapted to all affections connected upon the organs, and for a mother nursing a babe the Bitters cannot be dispensed with, especially where the mother's nourishment is inadequate to the demands of the child. Frequently her strength is soon stopped in the hands of the druggists and endorsers. G. DUPLANTIER,
Attorney for Holder.

DIED, yesterday, at 3 o'clock, A. M., HENRY FORSTNER, aged 34 years, a native of Germany, and a member of the New Lusitanea Benevolent Association.

The members are requested to meet at their Hall, No. 166 Old Levee street, THIS AFTERNOON, at 4 o'clock precisely, to bury their deceased brother.

By order of the President.
ANTHONY SAMBOLA, Secretary.

Dr. M'Lane's Vermifuge.

ANOTHER MEDICAL WITNESS.

Read the following:

HARRODSVILLE, Shelby co., Ky., April 9, 1849.

Messrs. FLEMING BROS.: I am a practicing physician, residing permanently in this place. In the year 1843, when a resident of the State of Missouri, I became acquainted with the superior virtues of Dr. M'Lane's Vermifuge prepared by you. At some more remote moment I will send you the result of my experience in its administration. Suffice it to say, in general, that I have, in the course of a long and extensive practice, used it in hundreds of cases, and a more successful remedy for worms I have never known.

L. CARTER, M. D.
