COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF LEE BEE,
FRIDAY EVENING, Dec. 28, 1860.

With a very extensive money market and great depression in Exchange, the business of the past week in our general market has been of a moderate character. Under the circumstances, however, prices have been pretty well maintained for the staple articles, and in some instances there has been an improvement. In Tobacco there is little doing, and prices have a downward tendency. The Cotton business is in favor of buyers, while most descriptions of Provisions continue firm. Freights have further slightly improved, but the rates of insurance still bear down hard.

We this morning published the Arrivals and Departures of Liverpool dates to the 14th inst. They reported cotton to irregular Cost, a market, without much change in prices, though some circulars reported a decline to 7-16@½d., and quoted Middling Orleans at 7¼d. The sales were stated at 10,000 bales up to Tuesday evening, of which about one-third were Surats. At Havre the market was reported quiet and lower, at 140f less on for two days, and a stock of 36,000 bales.

COTTON.—Arrived since the 23d instant, 64,667 bales. Cleared during same time for Liverpool 58,500 bales. Glasgow 2504, Gaenock 2504, Boston 12,424, Baltimore 1451, Marseilles 41, Bremen 1004, Amsterdam 1002, Genoa 1004, New York 1000, New York Over Land 1200, Boston 504 and Philadelphia 200 bales: together, 82,831 bales, making an addition to the stock of 1860 to that date, and leaving on hand, including all on shipboard not cleared this day, a stock of 455,300 bales.

The week opened with a rather unsettled Cotton market, and the sales on Monday and Tuesday to parties did not exceed 10,000 bales, prices being irregular and generally in favor of buyers, under the 11.0 ooze of Supposed Privateers and advancing Freights. Though the business was quite moderate within the week, it was considerably above the average. On Tuesday 10,000 bales were sold, and Wednesday's report showed 7,000 bales more, and on Thursday 10,000 bales were sold, and Wednesday's report showed 7,000 bales more, and on Thursday 10,000 bales were sold, and to-day 10,000 bales changed hands, making a total for the week of 74,000 bales. We still quote:
