Conducted by

G. J. FORD.

THIS establishment, founded in 1859, has long held its high position in the first city in the United States. The plan of instruction is the most complete system of education. Pupils are admitted at six or seven years of age, and continue till they are prepared for the college or practicable life. They are distributed into classes, according to their acquirements and proficiency.

The greatest attention is paid to be found in the city, with ample space for exercise and recreation, and every precaution for the comfort and health of the pupils.

The Professors are gentlemen of talent, chosen with care. Good order reigns in the establishment, and strict attention is paid to the moral and intellectual improvement of the pupils.
