SHAMAN AND SOUTHERN.

The publishers of the brilliant and enterprising sheet of the Federal camp on Santa Rosa Island by Gen. Armstrong and a thousand Confederates have not succeeded in it, but prove that the Southern cause is spreading rapidly, if not to the extent that it is now being waged, as far as fortifications, the dimensions of Billy Wilson's fortifications and defenses does the destruction of their camp, with all the surrounding buildings, hospitals, provosts, stores, and means of war; the killing of a pretty girl, and the wanton destruction of many of those, especially of their guns, are the visible fruits of their bold and impudent assault. It was skillfully planned in retaliation of the burning of the steamer Judah by the Federals, and in this instance it is thought that, if vengeance were measured, it was signal and complete when wreaked.

The effect of this sudden and striking blow will be overwhelming. It will not only dislodge the enemy by the necessity of its own retreat, but will also be the means of its destruction. Our cause will be greatly strengthened by the appearance of a man, who has been employed for months to subdue us, as he has been to subdue them. His name is Wilson, and he is the most skilful and bold general we have ever had.

He has been employed to subdue us,

and he has been successful.

He has been employed to subdue them,

and he has been successful.
