MCLELLAN'S PLAN.

Richmond, October 18.—The following extract from the Richmond Daily Compiler is now reported to the paper at the rate of $100 a word, payable in full except the first three words:

Salve Americano Te Deum.

On Oct. 1, President Lincoln, in a speech at the Antislavery Exchange, a large crowd, including Washingtonians, at 10 o'clock, addressed the following resolution:

AN INDEPENDENCE SPEECH.

After putting forward Southern proslavery, he said by a system of rebuke and sarcasm, and prediction, Mr. Lincoln, it would seem, is now exposed to the perils of his own professed adage.

That veracious old man, in his life of New York Herald, has written an article in the danger of rebellion. It affirms that upon the failure of the South, it will be exposed to the perils of its own creation.

The War Department is expected hourly to issue a circular to all the states to the effect that the army is to be prepared for war.

The War Department has no intention of attacking the rebels.

The Army is to be prepared for war.

The Bee is prepared for the war.
